Wheat Quotas to Be Voted on Friday, Aug. 14

PMA Chairman Houske Says Four Voting Places to Be Set up in County

The wheat marketing quota referendum to be held August 14 will be conducted at four voting places in Pennington county, advises chairman Oscar J. Houske of the county Production and Marketing Administration committee. Polling places will be open from 9:00 a. m. to 5:00 p. m., and each will be in a local referendum committee of wheat growers appointed by the county PMA committee.

Chairman Houske urges every eligible wheat grower to vote, since the outcome of the referendum will materially affect the price farmers recieve for their 1954 wheat. He points out that if two-thirds or more of those voting favor marketing quotas, wheat loans at 90 percent of parity will be available to those who plant within their wheat acreage allotment.

If marketing quotas are rejected by the growers quotas will not be in effect, and the support rate on 1954 wheat crop will drop to 50 percent of parity for cooperators.

Acreage allotments will be in effect for the 1954 wheat crop regardless of the outcome of the referendum, he explains. If marketing quotas are in effect, those who exceed their allotments must store or dispose of their wheat as directed by the secretary of agriculture, or pay the marketing penalty on the excess wheat. The marketing penalty is 45 percent of wheat parity as of May 1, 1954.

The officially designated polling places for the August 14 referendum in Pennington county are: (1) City View School in Norden twp. for Bray Sanders, Norden and Numedal townships; (2) St. Hillare for Rocksbury, River Falls, [illegible] River, and Polk Centre townships; (3) Highlanding Hall for Cloverleaf, Goodridge, Highlanding, Reiner, Star, Kratka, Deer Park, Hickory, and Mayfield townships; and (4) PMA office in Thief River Falls for North, Silverton, Smiley and Wyandotte townships.

Acreage allotments are the backbone of the marketing quotas to be voted on by eligible Pennington county wheat growers in the August 14 referendum, chairman Houske said.

In general, Mr. Houske explains, all Pennington county farms on which wheat was grown in 1951, 1952, or 1953 will be assigned an acreage allotment. In making these allotments, consideration is given to the number of tillable acres on the farm, the crop rotation practices followed (including acreage planted to wheat), type of soil and slope and lay of the land.

The allotment for Pennington county farmers is worked out from the basis of the national allotment. The national acreage allotment, plus carry-over, will provide more than enough wheat in 1954, together with the estimated imports, to meet domestic and export needs plus the 30 per cent required by law. The national acreage allotment is 62 million acres. This is apportioned among states and counties according to acreage seeded to wheat during the latest 10-year average, adjusted for trends and other factors.

Chairman Houske advised that any farmer who believes his wheat acreage allotment is not accurate may appeal to the county committee. If he is not satisfied with the county committee's action, he may appeal to a review committee of three farmers appointed by the Secretary of Agriculture which will consider the evidence and make a decision. If not satisfied with this decision the farmer may, within 15 days, initiate proceedings for a review of the case by a court.

Schedule, Aug. 16th: Crookston at Nielsville.

The championship of the Red River Valley league was decided on Sunday night at Red Lake Falls when, in the replay of a protested game, the Thief River Falls Thieves defeated the Crookston Pirates, 6 to 5.

The results of the week's games clarified the league standings and clinched playoff positions for Thief River Falls, Crookston, Alvarado, and Nielsville.

According to present plans, the league playoffs will be determined by a double-elimination process. It is expected that a league meeting will be held this week to set the playoff dates and the sites for the games.

The week's play was marred by the injury of Viking's Paul Erickson. Erickson, playing at first base for Chuck Barr's team against Crookston at Crookston, suffered internal injuries when, in a close play at first base, he and the baserunner collided. Latest reports are that Erickson is on the mend, but that he will be hospitalized for a week or more.

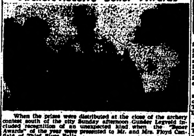
Northern State Adds New, Faster Check Recorder

The Northern State bank recently added to its equipment a Bell and Howell 16-millimeter recorder which photographs both sides of checks on microfilm at the rate of up to 400 per minute. All checks passing thru the bank are photographed in this manner, thus assuring a complete and permanent record. The new equipment replaces a recorder that took photographs of the checks at the rate of only 30 per minute.

Archers Receive "Boner" Awards



When the prizes were distributed at the close of the archery contest south of the city Sunday afternoon Gunder Legvold included recognition of an unexpected kind when the "Boner Awards" of the year were presented to Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Canfield of Thief River Falls.

Floyd won the distinction by failing to remove the protective cover from an arrowhead in shooting at a deer last fall. It was a good hit but the rebound was as long as the shot. Mrs. Canfield was awarded the high honor for shooting at a partridge through the window of her car. Standing behind the open door she took careful aim and — wham — registered a direct hit on the window which she had forgotten to lower.

'53 Duck Season to Be Same Length as in '52

Upper Midwest duck and goose hunters will have the same length seasons and same daily and possession limits this fall as last, secretary of the interior McKay announced Monday in Washington.

Minnesota and Wisconsin gunners will have 55 consecutive days, starting after Oct. 1. Daily and possession duck limits are four and eight, geese five and five. The exact dates will be set by the states later.

Hunters throughout the United States will have one hour longer to hunt each day—from half an hour before sunrise to sunset, instead of one hour before sunset as in the past.

However, hunting won't start on opening day until noon.

Secretary McKay sees less ducks than last year due to decreased hatch in the western Canadian Provinces.

"With the breeding populations about the same and production slightly decreased," said McKay, "the forecast is for a reduced fall flight compared to 1952, but still well above the five year average."

Rotarians Told of Scout Jamboree

Morris Owen, local scoutmaster who accompanied 32 Boy Scouts from the Lake Agassiz council district to the recent scout jamboree held near Santa Ana, California, discussed highlights of the trip at the Rotary club meeting Monday noon in the Elks club rooms. Gene Bratach, one of the three Thief River Falls scouts who made the trip also spoke briefly.

Gospel Mission Ended on Sunday

Final Service Held in Municipal Auditorium

Union Gospel Tent Mission services, which began July 19, closed with record attendance Sunday night in the municipal Auditorium where three of the four Sunday night meetings of this season were held because the tent at 4th and LaBree could not have accomodated the audiences.

Everett F. Swanson, Chicago, Baptist General Conference, who has travelled extensively, was the evangelist. Jesse K. Leise, Bremerton, Wash., was singer and song leader.

The tent which was pitched for the sixth summer on 4th and LaBree was taken down Tuesday and brought to Karlstad where it will serve as the meeting place for services under auspices of Christian Fellowship Union with Evangelist A. B. Ost, McAllen, Texas, mission director, in charge.

Tent committee tentatively is scheduled to meet Monday night, Aug. 24, at Mission Covenant church, said L. W. Lindholm, committee chairman.

Bonnie, the airport dog, may not be as young as she used to be, but she still has a good nose. When Father O'Toole was here Saturday morning, she started running excitedly round and round his plane, sniffing and whining. To the casual observer that could mean anything, but to those who knew Bonnie, it could mean just one thing — MOUSE. Sure enough, while every one stood quietly watching, a mouse scurried from the airplane and into a hangar, where Bonnie quickly cornered it and carried it triumphantly to Chris.

Construction at Low Ebb in City in Month of July

With 2,618 persons employed in Thief River Falls in July, little change was recorded from the total of 2,632 in June, R. B. Eldevik, manager of the state employment service office here revealed in his monthly report.

Eldevik added, however, that employment in the construction industry last month was the lowest of any midsummer month at least as far back as 1948, when the bulletin was first published.

The situation, he added, will improve now that workers are being recruited for the new hospital addition project.

A blaze also developed Thursday in an automobile parked on LaBree av. N., whose owner was not identified. The wiring in the car was damaged.

Locals Take Pirates, Win RRV League Title

Swede Lund's on-the-bag throw to third, baseman Gene Leslie, with Gene making the tag on the pilfering Glen Gumila for the game-ending out in the top of the 9th inning, gave lefty LeRoy Aasland a 6 to 5 win over the Crookston Pirates in the playoff of a protested game at Red Lake Falls on Sunday night.

By their victory, the Thieves won the Red River Valley league championship, marking up a record of eleven wins and one loss. The local club will now make preparations for entering the league's playoff to determine the loop's entrant in the Class B regional tourney. According to present plans, the league playoffs will be conducted on a double-elimination basis, with the circuit's top four teams participating.

For six innings Sunday night, the Crookston Pirates appeared to have the winning combination on the field, building up a 5 to 0 lead. But in the last half of the 7th inning, with the walking Joey Poole on first base, Gene Leslie blasted a Toddy Johnson pitch over the scoreboard in left field. That tremendous clout proved to be the spark that lit the fuse on a Thieves' rally, for the locals marked up four more runs to take a 6 to 5 lead, a margin to which they clung during the 8th and 9th innings.

Lefty Aasland, a graduate from this year's Prowler high school team, turned in a courageous pitching performance for the Thieves, giving up but six hits to the heavy-hitting Pirates. In the 9th inning, after Glen Gumila had been given a walk and advanced to second base on a bad throw, Aasland whiffed the dangerous Johnny Merril. Joe Rerick drew a walk; Aasland struck out pinch-hitter Loren Heglan, and then Lund made the throw to third base to erase Gumila.

In addition to Leslie's homerun, the game was highlighted by several fielding gems. In the Crookston half of the 8th inning, with Pirates on first and third and one out, Bud Schroeder, a left-handed swinger, looped a fly ball into right field that was taken for an important out by Jerry Stevens on a diving catch. The Pirates were retired scoreless in the inning when Sid Vraa gathered in Bun Holtz bid for a hit and made a fine throw to first base for the third out.

Crookston's starting hurler, southpaw Ken Dupuis, pitched three innings of no-hit and no-run ball, but left the game in the 4th inning, having a sore shoulder. Toddy Johnson, a righthander, replaced Dupuis, and Johnson pitched one-hit ball, giving up a single to Swede Lund in the 5th inning, until Gene Leslie's score-board clearing homerun in the 7th. Johnson never did complete the 7th frame or get a man out in the inning. Johnson gave a walk to Lund; Hoppe singled to centerfield; Stevens bounced a single past second base; Cal Vraa walked; and Aasland punched a ground single to right field. Aasland's blow drove Johnson off the mound, bringing southpaw Gumila in from first base to take up the Pirate pitching duties.

Thieves Defeat Warren-Argyle Twins 4-1 Friday

Locals Pile up Three Runs in 8th Inning of Game at Red Lake Falls

Playing off a postponed game with the Warren-Argyle Twins at Red Lake Falls on Friday night, the Thieves, trailing by a score of 1 to 0 after six innings of play, took advantage of four Twins errors in the 7th inning to deadlock the game at 1-all, and then rack up three runs in the 8th frame to record a 4 to 1 victory.

Righthander Gene Leslie, on the mound for the Thieves, held the Twins to three hits in scoring his second win of the year over the Warren-Argyle club. Bill Beck, also a righthander, allowed the locals but three hits in the seven innings that he toiled, with the Thieves getting their fourth hit off veteran Scott Matthews who replaced Beck in the 8th inning.

The game was a scoreless righthanded duel for five innings, with Joey Poole getting a single in the 1st inning for the only hit off Beck and Beck beating out a bunt in the 2nd inning for the Twins only safety.

Gordy Olson's single to lead-off the 6th inning, a stolen base, a sacrifice and Chuck Stewart's single off Shorty Perkins' glove, gave the Twins a 1 to 0 lead. Some erratic defensive-play by the Twins infield, combined with alert base-running by the Thieves, gave the locals a run in the 7th inning, tying the score at 1-all.

In the game-winning 8th inning, Lund was safe on an error; Leslie, on a sacrifice, was safe when Beck made a high throw to first base, with Lund moving around to third base. Matthews came in to pitch for the Twins, and on a wild pitch Lund scored the tie-breaking run. Hoppe struck out; Perkins drew a walk; Stevens grounded out, pitch to first, with Leslie holding third and Perkins on second. Cal Vraa lined a single into right field, plating Leslie and Perkins.

Gene Leslie retired the side in order in the 9th inning to gain a well-earned 4 to 1 triumph.

League Champions

The Thieves produced the season's most noteworthy athletic feat when, in the replay of a protested game, they defeated the Crookston Pirates, 6 to 5, at Red Lake Falls on Sunday night. By that triumph, the locals won the Red River Valley league championship, surprising even their most ardent supporters.

The Thieves' management protested the game that they lost to the Pirates on July 26th, claiming that Crookston had an ineligible player in their lineup. At a meeting held at Crookston on Tuesday evening of last week, the Pirate manager admitted that the player whose eligibility had been questioned and who had played against the Thieves as Larry Anderson, was in reality a Larry Doughty, and had not been on the roster of the Pirates by deadline time.

The Crookston management proposed that if the Thieves would withdraw the protest, they, the Pirates would replay the game. And further, that Anderson, or Doughty, would not be permitted to play against the Thieves in that game or in the playoffs. On that basis, Swede Lund, the Thieves' acting manager in the absence of the vacationing Phil LeGault, accepted the offer.

The result was that the Thieves, exhibiting a fine spirit and giving their young southpaw hurler LeRoy Aasland fine support, defeated the confident Pirates 6 to 5 in the replay and thus won the league championship.

Not a Healthful Solution

As far as the local club was concerned, the outcome of the protest was a success and very fortunate; but from the viewpoint of the league, it wasn't a healthful solution. It is strange that the officials of two clubs can, in an informal meeting, decide to "throw out" a game that was scheduled and played as an official league contest. Our belief is that the other six teams had a "stake" in that game, as they have in every league game, and that they should have been consulted on the protest.

Perhaps it is for the best to leave the protest as it was solved, with the Thieves winning the league championship.

The only unsatisfactory condition with regard to the Thieves' baseball is the fact that the boys, because of an inadequate playing field, have been forced to play their "home" games at Red Lake Falls. The boys, and it is doubtful if the Thieves' lineup would average at twenty years, feel that they are playing under a handicap when they use the pebbly Fair Grounds diamond. And they have a grievance, for there is the possibility that a young infielder may become "gun shy" after experiencing the weird hops that a ball will take on that diamond. It is embarrassing, too, to ask the other league teams to play on that diamond.

Nothing Succeeds Like Success

"Perhaps I don't dare to come over anymore." That was the statement expressed by Grand Forks' Ken Adams as he received the championship flight award from Bob Bredeson at the conclusion of the midsummer tournament played here on Sunday. The local club has held three tournaments this season, and Adams, with a 1.000 per cent average, has won all three. If last year's "Snowball Special" is included, Adams has a string of four consecutive tournament titles on the local course.

While Adams' victory was the tournament highlight, a feature of the short-stop was the first flight triumph of veteran Hans Chommie. We knew that Hans wasn't up to anything "good" when, as he has been doing the past couple of weeks, took a sack of golf balls and began practicing his "short" game on the old number one green. The result was that Sunday's first flight championship was won by Chommie.

There is an object lesson in Hans' play, too, for on Monday evening he was out on old number one again practicing his "short" game. Hans, although he won his flight championship wasn't satisfied with his approach play, being particularly critical of his "line."

The Thieves and the Saints

An age-old rivalry will be resumed at Red Lake Falls on Friday night when, at 8:30 p. m., the St. Hilaire Saints of the Northern Minny league and the Thieves of the Red River Valley league meet in an exhibition tilt.

With St. Hilaire slated to enter the Northern Minny League playoff finals on Sunday, against the winner of the Fosston vs. Erskine series, it is probable that the Saints will use Plummer's Jesse DuChamp on the mound against the Thieves, saving their regular hurler, Woody Almquist, for the important playoff opener.

The Thieves' manager, Swede Lund, will have a choice of pitchers, with righthander Gene Leslie and southpaw LeRoy Aasland both ready and willing to take the assignment. Lund, too, will take a respite from the catching duties, with Bud Olson being slated to do the backstopping for the Thieves.

Remember, game time is 8:30 p. m.

Workbench Wins Prize at Fair

QUESTIONS answered for VETERANS

THE VETERAN ASKS:

(This service is based on questions asked at Veterans Administration offices in the State. Answers are supplied by VA.)

Q: I have a National Service Life Insurance term policy, and I've decided to leave my dividend money with the VA to pay premiums that I happen to miss. What will VA do if my term insurance expires and I don't take action to renew and pay the premium myself?

A: At the end of the term period, VA will pay the premium required for renewing your term policy out of your dividend credit—unless you write to VA and request otherwise before the present term expires.

Q: I plan to take my medical intern training under the Korean GI Bill. Will I be paid GI allowance as an on-the-job trainee, or will I get the higher rates paid to full-time class-room students?

A: You will receive the rates paid to those taking full-time class-room training. However, your medical internship course must be accredited and approved by the Council on Medical Education and Hospitals of the American Medical Asociation. Its length also must be approved by the Council. No allowance at all may be paid to veterans in non-approved internships.

Q: A few years ago I received an automobile under VA's program of providing up to $1,600 towards the cost of a car for certain disabled veterans. My car is beginning to show signs of wear, and I wonder if I could get another VA grant to buy a new car.

A: Under the law, you are not entitled to another grant to buy a new car.

George Webster, Retired Soo Line President Dies

George W. Webster, 83, former president of the Soo Line railroad, died Thursday after a long illness in Minneapolis.

He was elected president of the railroad in 1937 and in 1938 was appointed co-trustee of the company. He continued in that position until the railroad was reorganized in 1944.

After the reorganization Mr. Webster was a member of the board of directors until poor health forced his retirement last September.

Key Award to Be Given to 4-'ers

First Awards Will Be Presented This Fall

Long-time 4-H club members in Minnesota counties will receive recognition through the new Key Award program just adopted for this state, Leonard Harkness, state 4-H club leader at the University of Minnesota, has announced.

Boys and girls who have been club members for five years or longer will have an opportunity to win the 4-H key award. The awards will be gold keys which girls may wear on neck chains and boys on tie clasps.

In addition to at least five years of membership, a 4-H'er, to be eligible, must have completed three years of active junior leadership and must have passed his 16th birthday by January 1 of the year in which the award is made.

Contributions members have made to their own development and to the improvement of their local 4-H program will also be considered in selecting winners of the awards. Offices held, projects completed, club activities and achievements are other bases of the awards.

Cities Service Oil company, Bartlesville, Oklahoma, is sponsor of the new Key Award program.

The first awards will be presented at county achievement days this fall.

Dim Car Lights for Car Ahead

Dimming of cars' headlights when approaching another vehicle from the rear is required of all vehicles when driving at night in Minnesota, according to a reminder issued today by the Minnesota highway department. The recent legislature put into law what had previously been accepted as an act of courtesy by requiring dimming of lights when within 200 feet of the car ahead. Compliance with this regulation will remove one more irritation from the highways and should make for safer nighttime driving.

Boy Orphaned at Alvarado by Auto Crash Killing Ten

Four from Minneapolis and Six from Manitoba Killed Near Little Falls

"If anything ever happens to me," Mrs. Clenora Starmach of Minneapolis used to tell her youngest sister, Helen, "you take Derry."

Mrs. Starmach's "death" wish will be fulfilled.

Her 13-year-old son, Derry — orphaned when his mother and father were killed in a head-on collision that claimed 10 lives near Little Falls Saturday—will go "home" to Alvarado for the time being with his aunt and uncle.

The decision was made Sunday when relatives gathered in Minneapolis to make funeral arrangements for Mr. and Mrs. Starmach.

Morris Hill and his wife, Helen, said Derry will live with them in Alvarado for the time being. They have not considered formal adoption yet, but Derry will become a member of the Hill family, which already includes three youngsters.

It is what Mrs. Starmach wanted, though she probably did not know that the "anything" she feared would happen would be the tragic accident at Little Falls. Mrs. Starmach had not been well, Hill said, and she and her younger sister were very close.

Derry learned of the accident that took his parents' lives on Saturday morning. A call came through the Hills' home, where Derry was spending the summer because his folks thought the fresh air of the country would be good for him.

Besides the Starmachs and Mrs. Starmach's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gust Olson of Minneapolis, the death toll includes six residents of Manitoba, Canada, en route to Minneapolis.

Minnesota Losing Place as Leading Wheat Producer

Both Acreage and Total Production Have Dropped Sharply in Past 25 Years

Minnesota is gradually losing its place as a leading wheat producing state, a survey by University of Minnesota agricultural economist Harold Pederson has revealed.

Both acreage and total production have fallen sharply in the past 25 years, Pederson points out. Today 60 per cent of Minnesota wheat is produced in the Red River Valley counties of Polk, Marshall, Clay, Kittson, Wilkin and Norman.

In the shift away from wheat, soybeans have been increasingly important. Even with this change wheat remains one of the principal cash crops for Minnesota and is grown in all but two counties.

Wheat acreage has fallen to about half its 1920 figures. During the past four years Minnesota farmers have planted from 925,000 to 1,150,000 acres of wheat compared to nearly 2,000,000 acres 25 to 30 years ago.

Per acre yields have increased markedly. Even with this increased yield total production has fallen from 25,000,000 bushels per year in the twenties to 15-20,000,000 bushels during the past four years.

Minnesota's state wheat acreage allotment, announced by Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Benson last week, will be 936,000 acres in 1954, a cut of 11 per cent from 1,036,000 acres this year.

Ten of the 50 U. S. coal mines with annual production in excess of one million tons each are in Pennsylvania.

62 ADMISSIONS ON ONE DOLLAR STICKER

A $1 sticker on automobile windshield is now the price of admission to any one or all of Minnesota's 62 park areas, covering some 82,000 acres of hills, woods, lakes, and rivers. Oldest listed in Conservation Volunteer is Camp Release "wayside park," Lac qui Parle county, established in 1889; youngest is Ray Berglund "wayside" in Cook county, dating from 1950. Four were established before the turn of the century, but the big park year was 1937 when no less than 37 were established; 1945 and '47 each account for six state parks. Most complete in the ten recognized "characteristics" from botany to wildlife, is Jay Cooke park in Carlton county, lacking only a lake. The most complete in 18 listed "activities and facilities," from amphitheater to shelter building, is Itasca, which has all of them. Eight are listed as "undeveloped."

Exercises Scheduled Aug. 20 in Minneapolis

The University of Minnesota will award degrees to approximately 400 students at its second summer session commencement Thursday, August 20. Exercises will be held in front of Northrop Memorial auditorium at the head of the mall on the Minneapolis campus.

Ralph W. Keller, manager of the Minnesota Editorial association, will deliver the commencement address. Title of his talk is "Limit: Twenty Minutes."

Commencement ceremonies will begin at 8 p. m. with an invocation by the Rev. Edwin C. Johnson, minister of the Congregational-Presbyterian fellowship on the St. Paul campus.

Preceding the main address, University President J. L. Morrill will speak to the candidates for degrees. He will later confer all degrees and also commissions to cadets graduating from the navy ROTC program.

Creamery Man at Lakeville Scores 100 with Butter

The scores for the 1953 June educational butter contest, conducted by the state of Minnesota were recently released by Myron W. Clark, St. Paul, commissioner of agriculture, dairy & food. They reveal that for the fourth time in the history of modern buttermaking in Minnesota, a perfect score of 100 has been won in a statewide contest. The man achieving this phenomenal score was J. Kenneth Conner, manager of the Lakeville Creamery Company, Lakeville, Minnesota.

In addition to winning first place in the recent June contest, Lakeville men won second and third placings, Raymond Smolak had a score of 99.84, and Richard Mahowald had a score of 99.69.

Fourth place went to Clifford Skime of the Farmers Cooperative Creamery Association, Roseau, whose score was 99.68, and fifth place went to Ernest H. Lindahl of the Stockholm Cooperative Creamery Association, Cokato, whose score was 99.67. There were 211 buttermakers from the state entered in the contest.

Inability to See Biggest Handicap to State Children

Failure to see properly is the most significant handicapping characteristic among children who are slow in learning to read, according to Dr. Harold L. Carlson, president of the Minnesota Optometric Association. The statement was made as children all over the state were enjoying their last few weeks of summer vacation before the fall school terms began.

Dr. Carlson, who is from Mankato, based his statement on the results of a study conducted by the St. Louis public school reading clinic, where 924 reading failures were diagnosed to discover the major sources of their difficulties. Of these, it was found that no less than 94 per cent or 864 cases, exhibited a "common helplessness in using word perception techniques."

"Vision's prominent role in learning to read is sharply brought out by this study, where 47 per cent or close to half of the children tested suffered from visual handicaps," said Dr. Carlson.

2,280,000 Cords Pulpwood Cut in State Last Year

1952 Harvest Reported as Second Largest on Record in Minnesota

Minnesota's forests continue to lead in the production of pulpwood in the three lake states of Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota. Forty-one pecent of the total cut of 2,280,500 cords of pulpwood is produced from state owned and private forest lands of Minnesota in 1952.

The Lake States Forest Experiment Station reports that the 1952 harvest is the second largest on record, exceeded only by the all-time high cut of 1951.

About 936,700 cords were cut in Minnesota; 554,400 cords processed in the paper mills and 382,000 cords shipped to other states. In addition about 159,000 cords were imported, mostly from Canadian forests.

The Minnesota cut was largely aspen, spruce and pine although other kinds of trees were used in the pulpwood industry. The pulpwood exported was spruce, balsam fir and pine.

About 195,000 cords of wood were cut [illegible] owned lands, sold on the stump by auction or small sales and cut by logging concerns or individuals by contract.

The bulk of the pulpwood is processed into paper of various grades as fine bookpaper, wallpaper, newsprint, wrapping papers and products such as paper towels. However, paper products such as picnic dishes, florist's vases, insulation and wallboard are made from some kinds of woods and wastes.

According to the Forest Industries Information Committee report for 1952, the value of products processed or used in Minnesota for the year amounted to $112,160,[illegible], which is by far the largest item in the total value of all wood products, amounting to $162,674,718.00.

President Vetoes Bill Designed to Repeal Movie Tax

President Eisenhower Thursday vetoed a bill which would have repealed the 20 percent tax on movie tickets.

It was the first piece of legislation Eisenhower has refused to approve.

In a "memorandum of disapproval," he said he was taking this step because the government cannot afford the loss of revenue and "it is unfair to single out one industry for relief at this time."

The action amounted to a "pocket veto"—that is letting a bill go unsigned while Congress was not in session. This has the effect of killing the legislation.

The bill passed both the Senate and House overwhelmingly, despite objections by the Treasury Department.

Eisenhower has said repeatedly that taxes should not be cut until a balanced budget is in sight. Treasury spokesman argued the movie theater tax brought in a needed 100 million dollars annually and, if repealed, would invite demands for similar relief from other industries.

ACREAGE CONTROL MUST COME

Wheat growers will decide Friday whether the present government support price of approximately $2.21 a bushel will be maintained for another year. Unless two-thirds of them vote in favor of this program in Friday's national referendum the support price will drop from 90% of parity to 60%.

The only question involved is whether the wheat growers are willing to go along with an acreage control schedule that will reduce next year's wheat harvest to 62 million acres. That is the cost to them of the guaranteed higher price.

The need for unlimited food production to feed a hungry world during war years has come to an end. We now have food surpluses. Wheat is just one of several commodities of which we have too much for our immediate or foreseeable future requirements. If we continue to produce more of these products than the market will absorb then either the excess must be destroyed or the entire crop will lose value. The most effective way to get rid of the excess is not to produce it.

The problem of maintaining farm prices and farm income is serious from the standpoint of the national economy as well as for the farmer himself. During the past year gross farm income has dropped an estimated 15%, and with steadily rising costs the net income has dropped still more.

The effect of this reduced farm income is already being felt in the industries that serve agriculture directly. One manufacturer of farm machinery announced last week that 1,000 workers will be laid off by August 14, bringing to a total of 1,750 the number of workers discharged in this one plant alone since July 20. The plant manager stated that curtailed production is due to a drop in sales volume. To permit the prices of farm products to drop still lower would lead inevitably to disastrous consequences.

The referendum Friday applies only to wheat. It is likely however that a program of production control will soon have to be extended to some other crops. Until we find a better way of coping with this problem of surpluses the producers have little choice but to go along with the program.

INVOLUNTARY ADMISSION

If it is fair to assume that our government's offer to give food to the hungry people of Russian controlled Germany was prompted in part by a desire to embarrass the Red masters then to this extent the project evidently is quite successful. A London labor paper thinks the Soviets have bungled an opportunity to make friends, believing they could have strengthened their position with the workers in those areas if they had encouraged the distribution of this gift food among those so clearly in desperate need of it.

To do this would have been in effect an admission that there is a food scarcity behind the iron curtain and this would not be a pleasant admission to make. But perhaps, as the London paper suggests, the Red masters have actually made the admission by their attempts to stop the mass movements of hungry people by force. By their conduct they have helped to advertise their own shortcomings.

WHEN WORDS ARE MEANINGLESS

We quick-tripped to Minneapolis last week to help welcome to Minnesota a group of newspapermen representing European countries forming the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. It was a pleasant gathering and we enjoyed meeting the fellows who try to explain to their readers on the other side of the ocean the many problems nobody understands.

Nothing could be more discouraging however than an attempt to carry on a jolly conversation with dinner guests whose language you do not understand. There is little satisfaction in asking questions with words that have no specific meaning and after a few futile attempts there is nothing to do but settle down to steady eating.

We did gather that some of the visitors were of the impression that they had then invaded a hinterland which is the home of the isolationist and that we who welcomed them were peculiarly provincial in our thinking on world affairs. Being unable to set them right by any system of signs and grunts we could improvise, we came away certain that we had made no contribution to international understanding and good will and could just as well have stayed at home.

As a result of this experience we appreciate more fully the difficulties under which our representatives operate in attempting to reach a meeting of the minds with representatives of other nations. Talking through an interpreter is a very unsatisfactory way of carrying on a conversation.

Under the terms of a measure passed by the recent Congress 214,000 war refugees will be admitted to this country during the next three years. This will ease to some extent the difficult refugee problem of western Europe. Many of these displaced persons are from behind-the-curtain countries, nations that have given us good material for our melting pot in the past. Here, in the north-central section of our country, where vast developments are in the making, we should be able to absorb a fair share of these citizens-to-be in a way that will be advantageous for us as well as for them.

Rain making is a well established business in large areas of the western states. It is estimated that up to 500 million acres of land are now covered by rain-making contracts. Several companies with impressive names provide the services, the land owners paying from three to five cents an acre when it rains. There are a lot of farmers in several southwestern states who would be glad to pay well for a convincing demonstration of the effectiveness of this new dry magic. And in the southern part of our own state there are many this year who would be glad to pay a good price to anyone who will give them a few weeks of dry weather. Rain control is not yet an exact science.

Week's Events in Newfolden

By Edith N. Lindquist, Newfolden

Your reporter has been trying for some time to get hold of the lady with all the facts regarding the Lokken family reunion, held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Farstad, and finally managed to do so at a time when she had time to get them assembled.

First to arrive was Milton Lokken, who arrived on July 2, streamliner from Freewater-Milton, Oregon, to Grand Forks. Then came Mr. Harry Lokken, and Mrs. Jennie Anderson from Minneapolis and St. Paul. (Mrs. Anderson has spent some time there with her sons, James and Walton, and daughter, Mrs. Arnold Nelson (Muriel)). Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Lokken (Mrs. Lokken used to teach school at Newfolden) and their daughter Kathy from Appelton, Wisc. arrived on Saturday morning. Saturday night Bill Lokken better known here as Willie, his wife and son Jimmie came from Wisconsin Rapids, Wisc. Other relatives who were here for the main family gathering were Mrs. Emma Lokken, her daughter Mrs. Dennis Crotty and children of St. Vincent, Minn. and Mrs. John Helerson (nee Ila Lokken) of Eugene, Oregon, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Lokken, LeRoy Lokken and son, and Donald Lokken of Thief River Falls. Harry Lokken, an able photographer, took color photos for slides of all the main events.

On Sunday the whole group enjoyed a picnic supper at the Old Mill. After their return to the Farstad home, Martin, who is a talented violinist, gave a real concert, ably accompanied by Alvin Nelson on the piano. Later they had an old fashioned songfest.

All living brothers and sisters were present at this gathering. And here is something that doesn't happen too often. Gilbert, Harry and Willie Lokken had not seen their brother Martin for 36 years. Martin returned to his home on July 6, the rest left on the 8th. Other visitors there on Sunday night were Mrs. Alvin Nelson and Susy.

Visitors at the home of Mrs. Carl Gustafson on Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Art Olson. Mr. and Mrs. John Negard, Patty and Gary stopped there a moment on their way to visit at the Engstron home.

Mrs. Carl Gustafson was a dinner guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Hanson.

George, Alton and Jerry Lindbeck, who are working near Alvarado, spent the weekend at home. Clifford Olson, who is also working there, came with them to spend the weekend at the home of his mother, Mrs. Mabel Olson. Sunday visitors at the Lindbeck home were Lavonne Simonson, Lila Foss and Dorothy Borsvald of Strandquist.

Visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Nelson on Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Martin Nelson of Viking, and Mrs. Mari Kjemhus of Grand Forks, an aunt of both the Nelson men.

Mrs. Newell Smeby and Mark called on Mrs. Carl Gustafson on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Elseth and family, Mr. and Mrs. Andy Bakke and children, Carl Aune and Kathy Cook attended the Karlstad-Lake Bronson baseball game held at Karlstad on Sunday.

Standard Gasolines, desert tested to assure

NO VAPOR LOCK!

In summer some gasolines actually "boil" . . . your engine chokes, sputters, goes dead. You're a victim of vapor lock. But not if you use Standard Gasolines. On the hot Mojave Desert, Standard scientists tested hundreds of blends of gasolines. They studied the cause—certain extra-light molecules. And they found the cure—remove them from summer gasolines and save them for fast-starting winter gas. From these tests come Standard's great no-vapor-lock summer gasolines.

Standard gasolines have been tested under torrid desert conditions to assure you trouble-free summer performance. Only Standard says, "now—no vapor lock!" No vapor lock . . . on top of octane ratings that match your car's requirements . . . on top of catalytically-cracked gasolines perfectly blended and balanced to give you the best possible combination of pick-up, power and mileage. And wherever you drive in the Midwest, you'll find the same improved and guarded quality. You'll find, too, the famous SERVICE that car owners describe as the finest protection they can get anywhere. Try Standard White Crown Premium or Standard Red Crown Gasoline. Your first hot-day drive will prove that YOU CAN EXPECT MORE FROM STANDARD . . . AND GET IT!

Standard Gasolines can't be beat in summer heat!

Hoffmann Explains Ten-death Car Crash

The recent collision between two cars on T. H. 10, westerly of Little Falls, in which 10 people were killed was the second most destructive traffic accident in the history of Minnesota and has resulted in state-wide reaction and concern as to its causes and how similar crashes can be avoided, according to the Minnesota Highway department.

"About the only definite fact that can be ascertained, said Commissioner M. J. Hoffmann, "is that one or both of the drivers failed to exercise the ordinary caution which was called for under the road and weather conditions which existed at the time of the catastrophe. Because all of the people involved in the accident were killed, we will never know exactly what happened, although it is possible to make some very sound guesses as to what caused this wholesale killing."

In the first place, according to Mr. Hoffmann, an exceptionally heavy rain was falling at the time and proper caution should have dictated driving slowly enough to enable the drivers to see a reasonably safe distance on the road ahead, including any oncoming vehicles. The widespread area over which the smashed vehicles and broken bodies were scattered indicated that the crash occurred at high speeds—much higher than were safe for the existing abnormal conditions.

Secondly, it is very probable that one or both of the vehicles was traveling too close to the newly-painted center line, evidently using it as a guide because of the extremely poor visibility. If either of the vehicles skidded just prior to the impact, it was undoubtedly due to a sudden maneuver in a futile attempt to avoid the other vehicle bearing down upon it.

"Summing it all up," said Commissioner Hoffmann, "this regrettable tragedy should serve to remind every motorist that driving on any highway can be extremely hazardous under adverse weather conditions. It is the duty and responsibility of every driver to operate his vehicle in conformance with existing road and weather conditions. No legislature, police authority or highway engineer can do this for any driver—it is the individual responsibility of each driver to drive with his own safety, and that of his passengers and other motorists, always uppermost in mind. That is the only way to avoid such needless catastrophes."

Canada has the third largest telephone system in the world. Its 22.1 telephones per 100 population on Jan. 1, 1952, was exceeded only by that of the United States and Sweden.

Virginia Man Is Selected as Head of State Legion

Nate Keller Elected at Convention Staged in Minneapolis Last Week

Nate Keller, Virginia, Minn., was elected commander of the Minnesota American Legion last Wednesday as the Legionnaires wound up their five-day convention in Minneapolis.

Carl L. Ludigren, Minneapolis was named national committeeman.

Keller is an insurance and real estate man and a veteran of World War I. He succeeds Milton B. Boock, Lake City.

A native of Eau Claire, Wisc., Keller has lived in Virginia since 1902. He long has been active in local and state Legion affairs and has attended 29 national conventions.

Other officers elected at the closing meeting of the annual convention were Larry J. Willett, Jackson, first vice commander; George Korbel, Breckenridge, second vice commander and Eugene Lindquist, Clarissa, third vice commander.

The Rev. John P. Gengler, of Woodstock was named chaplain.

Among resolutions passed was one chiding the last state legislature for "failing to keep faith with state veterans' organizations."

The resolution charged the house appropriations committee delayed for at least two years, if not indefinitely, erection of a veterans service building as part of the capitol approach plan.

About two-thirds of U. S. households have telephones service.

Tractor Mishaps Cause More State Deaths Than Polio

Extension Farm Safety Specialist Reports 20 Killed up to July 1st

Farm tractor accidents are causing more deaths this year than polio in Minnesota, Glenn Prickett, extension farm specialist at the University of Minnesota, reported today.

On July 1, there had been 20 tractor fatalities compared to 14 polio fatalities in the state. By August deaths from farm tractor accidents still outnumbered polio deaths.

The National Safety Council estimates that there are 50 farm tractor accident injuries to each fatality. On that basis there have been over 1,000 farm persons in Minnesota injured thus far by the farm tractor this year.

We may not be able to check the increase in the polio toll during the next six months, but we can cut the toll of tractor accidents by cautious operation, Prickett says.

A recent study of farm tractor accidents showed that high speed is the major cause of tractor accidents. Giving children rides, allowing children to play around machinery, careless fueling while the tractor is running, and makeshift hitches above the drawbar are the other important causes of tractor accidents.

U. S. Budget Cut Helps Minnesota

The Minnesota Taxpayers Association has estimated that Minnesota taxpayers will save $217,980,000 in federal taxes that they will not have to pay because of the $12.6 billion in appropriations cut by Congress recently adjourned. Calculating that Minnesota taxpayers bear 1.73 per cent of all federal taxes, the Association applied this percentage to the 12.6 billion figure to reach its estimate of $217,980,000 in savings for 1954.

= Actual Car Cost

Smart shoppers know the actual cost of a new car isn't found on the price tag. When you buy a car you're making an investment. When you sell or trade in that car, one, two, or more years later—you get back part of your original purchase price. With some cars, this resale value is disappointingly small. But with Mercury—according to four independent, impartial surveys—you get the highest resale value in the entire Mercury price class.

The reason? Mercury's consistent years-ahead styling, for one thing. Clean, long, low lines that set the style and stay in style. Colorful interiors that keep their smartness for years. And Mercury's proven V-8 performance is another reason. A V-8 engine is the only type ever used in Mercury—and, this latest is the best performer we've ever built.

So—before you buy any car—get the story on Mercury. Find out about Mercury's optional power features—the widest choice in the field—check on Mercury's proven economy. Above all, try a Mercury ride! We feel sure you'll agree no other car will do!

Political Roundup

By Arthur Naftalin

The name of Jarle B. Leirfallom has been added to the growing list of possible Republican contenders for the U. S. Senatorial nomination next year as the G. O. P continues its search for an opponent to Senator Hubert H. Humphrey.

Speculation over the likelihood that Leirfallom was being given consideration for this contest was encouraged by his having accompanied Gov. C. Elmer Anderson to last week's Governors' conference in Seattle. Leirfallom has been mentioned before for high state elective office, and he is known to be interested.

As commissioner of the department of public welfare, Leirfallom has received an unusual amount of public attention during the last year. His supporters believe the far-flung welfare operation would be a great asset in building up his candidacy for elective office.

The Two Most Likely

There have been many conflicting reports concerning what the Republicans are likely to do about a Senatorial nominee in '54, but the list of genuine possibilities seems to be reducing itself as time goes along. The latest word from those who claim to know what's going on is that the two most likely candidates — as of now — are P. State GOP Chairman P. Kenneth Peterson and State Treasurer Val Bjornson.

The situation however, is extremely fluid. Last week one old-time veteran in Republican circles urged a combined effort of DFL'ers and GOP'ers behind a primary opponent to Humphrey in the Democratic column on the grounds that this, in his view, offered the most promising hope of defeating Humphrey.

This proposal is not likely to cause much consternation in DFL ranks nor is it likely to be taken very seriously by the GOP High command which, incidentally, still wants Governor Anderson to make the Senatorial race, but he continues to insist he is not interested.

Wier, Marshall Targets

GOP leaders last week began beating the tom-toms in the Third and Sixth Congressional districts, where they believe they have the best chance to pickup additional seats. In the Third, DFL Roy Wier won over GOP Ed. Willow, by 9,625 votes and in the Sixth, DFL Fred Marshall won by only 7,277 over J. Arthur Benson.

With control of congress hanging on a margin of 11 votes the national GOP is turning its attention to the Congressional races in an early effort to bolster the Party in districts where there may be some chance of winning. Last week a representative of the national committee was in Minnesota to scout the field of prospects.

Meanwhile, DFL'ers were keeping an eager eye on Fifth District Congressman Walter H. Judd. They feel their best chance to pickup another seat would come in the Fifth, if Judd should decide to yield to the pressure that he be the GOP Senatorial candidate against Humphrey.

Lieutenant-Governorship Open

Political leaders are not overlooking the fact that the state Lieutenant-Governorship is currently open, since the resignation of Ancher Nelson. In Republican circles there is much talk that John Hartle of Owatonna, speaker of the state house of representatives, will make the race for the No. 2 spot.

On the DFL side a good bet is former Governor Hjalmar Petersen of Askov. He was elected to the post once before, in 1934, and succeeded to the governorship when Floyd B. Olson died. Since his statewide fight in behalf of larger county sharing in highway funds Petersen has been mentioned with increasing frequency as a possible candidate for one of the state elective offices next year.

Another DFL'er who has indicated he will seek the No. 2 spot is State Representative Leonard A. Johnson of Minneapolis. Last week he asked Attorney General Burnquist if he could file for the office as both a DFL'er and a GOP'er. The answer, of course, is clearly "no", because state law provides that one must swear he is a member of the party whose nomination he seeks and one cannot be a member of more than one party at a time.

[illegible] have been offered top administrative positions in the federal Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, which is presided over by Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby. Walter Finke, formerly director of the state division of social welfare, was offered the position of social security commissioner, and Bernhard LeVander, former GOP state chairman and also formerly state welfare division director, was asked to head the bureau of public assistance. Both men have indicated they are not interested in the federal appointments.

Toll Roads, Sales Tax

Two proposals in the wind that are due for very serious consideration are the building of toll highways in the state and the adoption of a national sales tax. A recent Minnesota Poll indicated that some 60 per cent of the people in the state were opposed to toll roads, but, given the seriousness of the highway fund situation, a proposal of this sort may very likely get serious attention in the '55 legislature. When the second session of the 83rd Congress convenes in January the national sales tax proposal is due for a full-scale airing. It is being advanced to replace various federal excise and sales taxes now in force. Both proposals will produce much wide-ranging controversy.

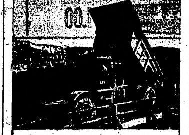
ORE IN THE POCKET



THE BED OF A MINE TRUCK rises against the summer sky as driver Robert Weber of Nashwauk dumps a load of iron ore into a conveyor belt loading pocket. All over Minnesota's iron ranges men are busy mining, processing and shipping the ore which is essential to America's industrial production. These iron mining employees, who today are at or near the top of all the major industrial groups in Minnesota in average weekly earnings, account for the support, directly and indirectly of some 250,000 Minnesotans. If taconite and low-grade ore can meet the competition of ores from other areas the prosperity of the iron ranges can become even greater—with even more benefits for the entire state. A fair deal for Minnesota's iron mining industry means a good deal for you.

Harvesting a Better America

Rubbed my eyes yesterday when I saw Hap Jackson's truck in Biff Morgan's alfalfa field . . . helping Biff get in his cutting.

Since they've been carrying on a friendly argument for years (over how much fertilizer to use per acre of alfalfa), I had to ask Hap what was going on.

"Got my own crop in safely last week," he says. "And since Biff's boy is at the summer encampment of the National Guard, I figured the least I could do was to help him out. After all," Hap went on, "there's no argument over how important the National Guard is to all of us."

From where I sit, a fellow like me, who's too old to get in the Guard, can still vote, do a [illegible] jury duty, and respect others' rights. Even a little thing like respecting a neighbor's right to have, say, beer or buttermilk at dinner is important if we want to keep America strong. We have to be on "guard" in more ways than one these days!

Cadillac

"That Makes 14 New Ones on This Street!"

In one small area in a certain American town, fourteen new Cadillacs were delivered during the early weeks of the recent spring.

One of the new owners gave a party for the other thirteen—presumably to discuss the virtues of their wonderful new cars.

We suspect it was a most congenial gathering—for Cadillac owners have many splendid things in common.

First of all—taking them by and large—they are exceptional people. For the most part, they are men and women who have held to high standards of achievement for many years. They have a common feeling for the finer things in life. And they have a sound sense of values.

But—despite what so many mistakenly believe—they are not necessarily blessed with an abundance of this world's goods. For a Cadillac is a practical car to own—and is a splendid selection for the family of moderate means.

The following established facts must surely prove this to be true:

—there are twenty-two models of other makes of American motor cars which actually cost more than the lowest-priced Cadillac!

—a Cadillac will travel many more miles on a gallon of gasoline than you could ever logically expect from a car of its size and stature!

—a Cadillac is so dependable and long-lived that it is just about as economical to service and maintain as any car you could buy!

—and, finally—according to authentic used car evaluations—a Cadillac may be expected to return a greater percentage of its cost at the time of resale than any other car built in America.

In view of all this, it is no cause for wonder that fourteen wise and practical people, residing in a single neighborhood, should have taken delivery of new Cadillacs during the fleeting weeks of a northern spring.

The wonder is that more people don't buy Cadillacs. For when a car combines so much quality and beauty and comfort and prestige—with such outstanding over-all practicality—it is a very wise choice for a very great many people.

Maybe it's the car for you. If you think it is, you are most cordially invited to come in and see us today.

"Zizi" Kit Ready-To-Sew Dresses for Youngsters Are Here

Here's news for mothers who like to make dresses for their little girls: that job has now been reduced to a simple stitch-it-up-on-the-machine operation.

Make-it-yourself "Zizi" kits, announced a few weeks ago as the product of a new Minnesota company and available at leading Minneapolis stores, are now sold in Thief River Falls by the S & L Store, according to their announcement in this week's issue of the Times.

The "Zizi" kits products is the idea of "Polly" Kronick, formerly a children's wear buyer for a Minneapolis department store. Now the idea has blossomed into production in a factory on Hennepin avenue covering 5,000 feet of floor space.

The fall collection, now on display at S & L, is angled toward back-to-school dresses for little girls from 3 to 12. Famous name fabrics which are pre-shrunk and fast color are used in all the dresses.

Want to be nimble, smooth and quick?

TT Dynaflow* does the trick!

We have just the place for you. If such is your desire.

And we suggest you hold on to your hat and your heart when the action starts—for here's what happens:

You press the pedal and, from a standing start, you're up to a legal 30 mph before you have time to breathe but twice.

Or, you're in the thick of traffic—moving smoothly, easily, quietly. Then, when it's safe to do so, you move instantly into the clear with the greatest of ease—in one progressive build-up of velvet acceleration—without a single gear shifted or a clutch pedal pushed.

That, sir, is the big thrill command you get in any 1953 Buick Special, Super or Roadmaster with new Twin-Turbine Dynaflow.

For this fully automatic drive now has two turbines where one did the trick before. Two turbines for instant getaway response—with whisper quiet—and with infinite smoothness through all ranges.

Of course, a lot of able power goes with this smooth, quick getaway—the highest horsepowers and compression ratios, Series for Series, in all Buick history.

And so does big room. And the supreme comfort of the Buick Million Dollar Ride. And the superb handling ease of finely balanced weight. Even Power Steering* is at hand to make parking and turning still easier.

Why not drop in on us soon and sample one of these great new 1953 Buicks with TT Dynaflow? It's an experience — and a value story — too good to miss.

Town of North and Rocksbury Buy Fire Truck

Bids Accepted Tuesday on Truck and Pumper to Cost Total of $8,000

A new era in rural fire protection was inaugurated here Tuesday night when the Rocksbury and North town boards, meeting in the Auditorium, voted to accept bids for a fire-fighting unit to serve the two townships under contract with the Thief River Falls fire department. Chief Roy Langevin and members of the department served in an advisory capacity at the letting.

The Luverne Fire Equipment Co. Luverne, Minnesota, was awarded the contract to supply the pumper unit and fixed equipment at a cost of $5,575, and also accepted was the bid of C. Gustafson & Son in the amount of $2,425, covering a two-ton International truck.

In addition to the cost of $8,000 to be borne by the two townships, their contract with the city provides that the city shall supply hose, nozzles and other appurtenances to complete the outfit. Bids on these items were opened by the council Tuesday evening, and indicates that the city's share of the cost will be in the neighborhood of $2,500. No action was taken on these bids Tuesday, pending a recommendation from a committee of firemen.

In return for supplying part of the equipment and for manning and housing the truck, the city will be permitted to use the new equipment in answering calls within the city. Delivery of the new unit is expected sometime in October.

Work in Progress on Highway No. 92

Stephen Firm Handling Big Red Lake County Job

Trunk Highway 92 in Red Lake county is getting a major face-lifting this summer, says the Red Lake Falls Gazette. With the stretch between Trail and Brooks completed except for a good black topping job, the 13 miles of highway between Brooks and T. H. 32 is now in the process of being rebuilt.

Roy Benson and Son of Stephen have the contract for rebuilding and grading the road which includes two miles of new construction between Badger Creek and T. H. 32, two miles directly west. The contract will run about $260,000 and a contract for surfacing the road will be let later.

A new bridge over the Poplar river two and a half miles west of Brooks will be built by Swingen Construction Co. of Grand Forks for about $28,000.

At present, the Stephen firm is devoting energy to gouging out a new right of way between Terrebonne and Badger Creek. Heavy equipment is scraping new ditches and hauling the dirt to build the road. Numerous farmers along the route were affected as the state had to condemn land along the highway.

Dinner will be served to the contestants after the battle.

The program for last week's meeting was supplied by Scoutmaster Morris Owen and Boy Scouts Edward Filiatrault and Gene Bratach, who gave an interesting account of their experiences at the International Jamboree held recently near Santa Ana, California.

Wheat Quotas Get Decided OK in Referendum

Pennington Co. Wheat Growers Vote 207 to 2 to Restrict 1954 Crop

Wheat growers in Pennington and other Northwestern Minnesota counties, together with those of the state and nation last Friday in a referendum gave overwhelming endorsement to federal marketing quotas on their 1954 wheat crop.

In Pennington county the unofficial vote was 207 Yes and 2 No, while in Marshall county it was 1,074 Yes and 22 No; Red Lake, 183 Yes and 0 No; Kittson, 1,046 Yes and 8 No; West Polk, 1,322 Yes and 39 No; and East Polk, 341 Yes and 8 No. For the state of Minnesota as a whole, the vote was 10,539 Yes, 211 No and 736 challenged.

The farmer's decision ensures continued high price supports—90 per cent of parity—and stiff penalties for those who go over acreage allotments.

The restrictions will cut production and sales about 20 per cent from this year's crop, a crop 10 per cent above normal.

Preliminary returns for the entire nation showed:

For quotas: 361,392.

Against quotas: 53,252.

The vote ran about 87.2 per cent in favor of quotas—far more than the two-thirds necessary to carry the proposal.

The vote was a signal that farmers do not want to tamper with current prosperity, even if they must submit to federal controls.

There have been no marketing quotas since 1942, but Secretary of Agriculture Benson was forced to call this year's referendum because the 1953 supply of wheat was more than 20 per cent (about 50 per cent more) above the "normal" amount set by law.

In Washington, Benson said the vote was "not a surprise—I anticipated it would go about that way."

"I'm sure they voted for what they believe to be their best interests," Benson said.

Both Benson and President Eisenhower have expressed distaste for "regimentation" of agriculture, but they would have been equally concerned with falling farm prices in the coming election year.

Main issue in the balloting was next year's wheat prices. The difference in price resulting from approval or rejection of quotas could have been close to $1 a bushel, or perhaps one billion dollars, on the whole crop.

Farm law requires the government to support crop prices at 90 per cent of parity—about $2.20 a bushel in the case of wheat—if farmers approve quotas in times of surpluses, and at only 50 per cent of parity—about $1.22 for wheat—if they reject controls.

This year's support rate is $2.21.

$12,000 in State Cigaret & Liquor Taxes Received

Payment to Be Shared by Pennington County and its Subdivisions

More than $12,000, representing the share of state liquor and cigaret taxes due Pennington county and its subdivisions, for the first six months of 1953, was received here last Thursday from State Auditor Stafford King.

The Pennington county revenue fund was enriched to the extent of $2,584.74 from the proceeds of the state cigaret tax, while the city of Thief River Falls received $3,183.98.

The city also received $3,670.78 as its share of the state tax on liquor. A check for $2,978.07 covering liquor taxes was received by County Treasurer A. R. Johnsrud, and this amount will be divided among the townships.

The liquor tax distribution is on the basis of 53 cents per capita, and the cigaret tax is 46 cents per capita, making a total of 99 cents. This figure is 11 cents higher than a year ago.

The apportionment to county and local governments is only a fraction of the state tax—30 per cent of the net liquor tax collections, and 25 per cent of the cigaret take. The state keeps the rest.

155 Babies Born at Hospital Since May 1: 19 Are There Monday

A total of 155 babies have been born at Northwestern Hospital since the start of the fiscal year May 1st, Harold W. Peterson, administrator, stated today. The distribution of communities served by the hospital according to number of births has been as follows:

City of Thief River Falls, 55; Thief River Falls—rural, 20; Goodridge, 15; Grygla, 12; Oklee, 8; Viking, 6; Red Lake Falls, 6; Middle River, 6; St. Hilaire, 5; Plummer, 4; Newfolden, 4.

One baby each was born to parents in the following towns: Strathcona, Gatzke, Karlstad, Winnipeg, Manitoba; Trail, Kennedy, Emerado, North Dakota; Warren; Argyle; Badger and Minneapolis.

Of the above babies, 32 were born at the hospital between August 1st and August 16th. On Monday, August 17th, there were 19 mothers and 19 babies on the maternity floor.

In harmony with the heavy maternity load, the new hospital addition will have two delivery rooms and two labor rooms. These will be in the new section to be built toward the river. The new addition will also provide for two nurseries joined by a work room. Each nursery will have eight bassinets and a modern incubator. There will also be an incubator and a resuscitator in one of the delivery rooms.

The floor plan of the maternity floor provides for 14 private rooms, 6 two-bed rooms, 3 three-bed wards and 1 four-bed ward. In the event of a high surgical census, some of these beds may be used for clean surgical cases. Such cases will be kept in a separate section of the floor.

Three baths and a shower are being provided for maternity patients in the new part of the building. In addition, scrub-up and clean-up rooms are afforded for the delivery area, as well as nurses' and doctors' locker rooms, a new linen room, second floor pantry, a modern nurses' station, and a suspect nursery of two bassinets.

Drive for Fund for Salvation Army Near End

Opportunity Remains for Those Overlooked to Make Contributions

The financial campaign for the new building occupied by The Salvation Army in Thief River Falls continues into this week, reports the campaign supervisor, Rev. E. C. Mead. At the same time he urged all solicitors in the residential and business areas to finish up their districts and turn in the proceeds to the treasurer, Leo Gustafson, at the Northern State Bank.

Rev. Mead advises that some have been unintentionally overlooked in the general canvass, and it is not the purpose of the committee to miss anyone. If this has been done, it has been done inadvertently, and if there are those who wish a member of the committee to call, they should call the office at 1248, and someone will personally contact them.

The general response to the canvass has been good, and evidences that the people of the city appreciate the services of the Army, and want the local post to remain here and continue their work.

The drive will continue this week until all the friends who are giving so generously, have been contacted.

Special FHA Loans for Livestock to Eligible Farmers

Loans Open to Established Producers Who Cannot Get Needed Credit Elsewhere

Emergency livestock loans, authorized by recent legislation, are now available to eligible farmers in Minnesota, Leo P. Brown, Farmers Home Administration state director, announced today.

These loans will be made to established producers and feeders of cattle and sheep, provided they have good records of operations, have a reasonable chance to succeed and are unable to obtain needed credit from other sources to continue their normal operations. Such loans will not be made to carry on commercial feed lot operations, to refinance existing debts except for payment of current incidental bills, or to enable a borrower to start livestock operations.

Special livestock loans will bear 5 percent interest and may be made for periods up to 3 years. Borrowers will be expected to repay the loans as rapidly as they can. Each loan must be secured in the full amount by the personal obligation and available security of the borrower. The government will not require present creditors to subordinate their liens, but borrowers will be expected to obtain standby agreements from their present creditors, so they will have a chance to work out of their difficulties. Also, present creditors must be willing for a portion of the borrower's livestock income to be paid on the Government loan.

Applicants interested in credit for any of the above purposes should contact J. P. Rosengren, county supervisor, whose office is located in the Lieberman building in Thief River Falls, who represents the Farmers Home Administration in Pennington county.

52 Flying Farmers in Air Show Here Sunday

Fifty-two members of the Minnesota Flying Farmers organization, traveling in 31 airplanes, participated Sunday in their August meeting at the Thief River Falls airport.

Arriving at various times during the morning, the visitors held their business meeting at noon in the Rex Cafe, following which they returned to the airport for an afternoon devoted to plane races and stunts of various kinds. Hundreds of residents of this city and neighboring communities were present to witness the activities.

E. M. Saul, 59, of Crookston, flying a Navion, won the prize offered to the oldest Flying Farmer pilot in attendance, while Evan Anderson, 23, of Kennedy, flying a Stinson, was adjudged the youngest. Ben Leihenweber of St. James, flying a Cessna, won the award for coming from the greatest distance. Nine women pilots or co-pilots were among those in attendance.

Featuring the afternoon program was a pylon race from the airport to the water tower in Thief River Falls, then down to St. Hilaire and back to the airport. Winning first honors in the 65-horsepower division was Kenton Brown of Hancock, while in the 125-horsepower or more classification, Charles Schmidt of Morris, president of the Flying Farmers, won first place with a time of six minutes 13 seconds. Kenny Butler of Hutchinson was second with six minutes 15 seconds, and Tom Lethes of Nielsville was third with six minutes 40 seconds.

Charles Schmidt again demonstrated his ability to handle his plane in the balloon bursting contest, in which he burst the target in 35 seconds.

Conducts Hearing on Blacktopping 4th st. W.; Calls for Bids on Coal

The city council, at an adjourned session Tuesday evening, accepted the airport runway blacktopping job done by Oscar Schenkey of Middle River as complete; accepted the low bid on curb and gutter construction; and voted to call for bids on the winter's supply of coal for municipal buildings, the bids to be opened at the September meeting.

The total cost of the runway blacktopping work was reported at $82,267.87, nearly all of which was supplied by state and federal sources.

A hearing was conducted on the petition recently filed requesting the blacktopping of Fourth st. from Main av. west to State av. Renie Werner, who lives farther west on Fourth st., asked that the petition be amended to include the block from State av. west to Kinney av. He stated he had been informed by Leo DuChamp of the street department that it was unlikely in any case that the project could be completed this year. The council voted to continue the hearing until an adjourned session next Tuesday night.

F. J. Kaiser & Sons of Fosston, lowest of four bidders, was awarded the contract to install sidewalks, curb and gutter recently petitioned for at a cost of $3,398.30. Curb and gutter, which will cost $1.60 per foot in addition to engineering charges, will be installed on Merriam av. from First to Murry st. and on Knede av. from Gull to Hughes st.

Building permits calling for a stated expenditure of $539,000 were approved at the session. Heading the list was one for $509,488 covering the addition to Northwestern Hospital, while another was issued to Stanley Solheim for the erection of a $20,000 dwelling at the corner of Riverside av. and Emil st. on the former Zeh property.

Other dwellings will be built by Merle Rolland on Tindolph av. at James st.; Inga Berg, First st. at Spruce av.; and Stanley Efteland, 110 Kinney av. S. A permit also was issued to Dr. O. D. How would you spend an EXTRA $200

Here's a bet for LADIES ONLY. We're wagering that you'd have no trouble at all spending an extra $200 this fall. Just take a look at the possibilities—new refrigerator or freezer; a water system; new furniture; maybe, even a new power mower—we didn't even mention new clothes!

There's no "catch" to it. As a matter of fact, lots of women are just a few weeks away from the payoff.

Here's how they figure it: On the average U. S. farm, the average hen lays 48 eggs during September, October, November and December. Suppose they sell on the higher fall market at 50c a dozen. You wind up with $2 a bird, gross.

Now consider an average pullet that got a reasonably early start plus good growing rations and management. On a Purina Laying Chow she'll get into production early and at a fast clip. Result: During the same four months, she lays 72 eggs, again at 50c a doz. her eggs will bring $3.00. That's a dollar a bird difference. 200 pullets can make the extra $200 we spent a minute ago.

These figures were not just grabbed out of the air, either. At the Purina Research Farm near Gray Summit, Missouri, pullets raised under typical farm conditions have proved this story true beyond a shadow of a doubt. Besides that, thousands of record-keeping poultrymen all over the country can verify the "extra dollar a bird" egg story.

So this egg money bonus comes from a simple, easy-to-follow recipe. Start chicks early; grow them well; then let your Purina dealer help you pick out the Purina Laying Chow best suited to your needs.

And as you feed Purina Laying Chow, remember there are more than 27 years of research and farm experience behind it. In that time Purina researchers have found exact amounts of just which minerals, proteins, and vitamins hens need for heavy egg production. Purina Chows are Micro-Mixed, too, to make sure these important ingredients are mixed thoroughly through every bag.

So stop by the store with the Checkerboard Sign next time you're in town. You'll soon find out why more folks feed Purina than any other kind.

FEED THE PURINA WAY — THE PROFIT WAY

Political Roundup

By Arthur Naftalin

The approach of autumn is the signal for some stepped-up activity on the part of both Republicans and Democrat-Farmer-Laborites in their preparations for the 1954 elections.

The DFL executive committee met at Brainerd last Saturday to begin some early planning of the Party's 1954 ticket, and the Republicans meanwhile are projecting some ambitious organizational plans in an effort to extend their hold on state and congressional offices.

Late summer doldrums seem to have cast their spell over the political scene, but this is due to lift, now that Congress has adjourned and the tempo of fall activity is about to increase.

Tribute to Honor Eugenie

Topping the September political calendar is the gala reception planned for Mrs. Eugenie Anderson of Red Wing, the former ambassador to Denmark. Former President Truman has said he will be in Minneapolis for the event on Saturday, September 12, in the Calhoun Beach Hotel.

DFL'ers are going all out in their preparations for this event. There is continued urging that Mrs. Anderson become the Party's candidate for Governor in 1954, but she has turned a deaf ear to all talk, insisting that she has no plans to run for office in the future.

Hoyer for Governor?

Latest rumor to hit the political grapevine concerns Mayor Eric G. Hoyer of Minneapolis. He's reported as seriously considering entering the DFL primary for the gubernatorial nomination next year. Hoyer was re-elected to a two-year term as Mayor in June, and can, therefore, run for state office without jeopardizing his present position.

Hoyer has been accepting speaking engagements out in the state, and political observers are watching the results of this for some indication of the Mayor's future plans.

Urge Gas Tax End

On his return from the Governors' conference in Seattle, Governor C. Elmer Anderson urged that the federal government abandon the gasoline tax, leaving this source exclusively to the states. The Governor said such a move would greatly increase the amount that the state could appropriate for road improvements.

Nordbye for Circuit Court

Friends of Federal Judge Gunnar H. Nordbye are energetically urging his appointment to a vacancy on the eighth federal circuit court. Many letters have been sent to Senator Edward J. Thye and Attorney General Herbert Brownell in support of Judge Nordbye.

His chances of obtaining the appointment would appear quite good, except for the fact that there is already one Minnesotan—Judge John B. Sanborn of St. Paul— already on the seven man circuit court. There are seven states in the circuit, and each state jealously guard their interests.

Congressmen Abroad

Three Minnesota Congressmen are planning trips abroad this fall. H. Carl Andersen and Fred Marshall, as members of the house agriculture appropriations sub-committee, will make round-the-world trips to study potential new foreign markets for American agriculture. They will leave September 4, visiting some 23 countries.

Congressman Walter H. Judd, as chairman of the house foreign affairs sub-committee on the Far East and the Pacific plans to travel to the Far East, after a vacation trip in the western part of the United States.

Meanwhile, other members of the state's Congressional delegation have returned to the state for a variety of vacation plans. Several of them, including Senator Thye, Congressman August Andresen and Congressman Harold Hagen will be taking part in various congressional hearings in different parts of the country.

New Federal Study

The federal government is creating a new commission on intergovernmental relations, designed to study the various aspects of federal-state relations with an eye to preventing further centralization of authority in Washington. Last Week Vice President Richard Nixon named Senator Hubert Humphrey to the commission, and President Eisenhower will soon name 10 additional members.

Prominently mentioned as a likely Presidential appointee to the group is Professor William Anderson, member of the political science faculty at the University of Minnesota, who is one of the leading authorities in this field.

General Fund Balance Up

Governor Anderson reported last week that the balance in the state's general revenue fund as of June 30 was $7,600,000, an increase of almost two million dollars more than had been anticipated. Commissioner of Administration Earl Berg attributed the size of the fund to "good management, and co-operation in the executive branch of Minnesota's government." He said the major source of the additional funds was from the unexpended departmental balances. The Governor expressed his appreciation to department heads who made the savings possible.

Report to the People

By Governor C. Elmer Anderson

Federal Encroachments

Now that there has been sufficient time to catch up with the accumulation of mail on my desk upon returning from the Governors' Conference in Seattle and to digest the wealth of information obtained there, I believe there are some things of interest coming out of the conclave which should be shared with you.

• • •

Noteworthy in this year's conference was the stress put on a necessary change in federal-state relationships. In nearly every panel this note was struck. The governors are solidly agreed that over a period of years the federal government has taken unto itself far more authority, power, and jurisdiction than is necessary. It has entered into fields of taxation which more reasonably should be restricted to the states. It has duplicated services and assumed responsibilities which, under proper circumstances, belong to the states. This situation has been many years in developing. It will not be reversed overnight.

Although there had been much talk of doing something about it, the first step beyond the talking stage came at the 1952 Governors' Conference. Out of that meeting came a unified effort to get Washington to take cognizance of the states' sentiment. President Eisenhower has worked closely with the governors and has been sympathetic to the move. Congress has provided for a commission of 25 members to go into the matter thoroughly and report to the President its findings and recommendations for congressional action to begin adjustment, clarification, and correction of the situation.

• • •

One of the areas in which the federal and state governments have a common interest is in natural resources. One session of the conference was devoted to that subject. President Eisenhower sat in on it and made some important and impressive remarks. It is significant that half a century ago President Theodore Roosevelt called the first Governors' Conference to go into the same subject.

Duplication in Taxation

One of the areas in which there is direct conflict and duplication at the two governmental levels is that of taxation. In some instances the federal government collects the tax money, takes out the administration expense and then re-allocates the revenues to the states as grant-in-aid. We governors are fully agreed that money could be saved or more services could be secured from the same dollars if the states collected and spent the tax revenue in such cases. Not much of benefit comes out of the large portion which is retained in the nation's capitol for administrative expense.

Out of these discussions on federal-state relationships came some resolutions adopted unanimously by the governors. One urges that the new commission set up study simplification, integration, and modernization of estate taxes; encourage withdrawal of the federal government from gasoline taxation; recommend full participation by states and interstate groups in planning and execution of national programs for development and utilization of natural resources; and safeguard against any movement to destroy operation of the national guard.

Variance in School Aids

Education, of course, came in for a thorough discussion from all angles. From the reports made I discovered what a divergence there is in state aids to education. They range from as low as six per cent in some states to nearly 90 per cent of the total cost of operating school systems in other states. The national average is 43 per cent.

There seems to be quite general acceptance of the theory that more can be done in education by decreasing the number of school units and offering expanded programs through centralized facilities. One of the speakers brought out the fact that the number of school districts has been reduced from 108,379 in 1942 to 67,346 in 1952.

While we are on statistics, here are some others which I found almost amazing. While there were only 75,000 attending the Junior Colleges of the country in 1930, there were over half a million in 1950. That is an indication of how education has progressed. We can't have that sort of growth and increased benefits without additional problems in government, whether it be in problems connected with building more and bigger school buildings, trying to solve the teacher shortage, or attempting to find adequate revenue to operate the systems.

Icebox Caution Is Urged by Local American Legion

A resolution was passed by Eklund-Holmstrom post of the American Legion at its meeting Monday night recommending that the Pennington county safety council take steps to prevent the tragedy of death to a youngster by being locked in an old ice-box as has happened in other communities recently. The post in its resolution offers help to the safety council and suggested that all locks on old ice boxes be knocked off and destroyed. Deep-freeze owners should also exercise caution.

The new stage has now been completed in the Legion club rooms and plans were laid for the installation of an improved ventilating system.

Reports were given on the activities at the recent State convention and at the close of the meeting a film entitled "Turning the Tide" concerning Korea as shown. The film was shown through the courtesy of the National Guard.

Public Opinion

Editor, Times:

The other day it was my pleasure to take a drive north of Gully, up to the Clearwater River, and see the transformation that has taken place the past year. That section just South of the river on the east side of the highway has been transformed into a garden of Eden, formerly flooded by the Clearwater River, and covered with slough grass and cat-tails.

On these very acres as far as the eye can see to the East is the most beautiful stand of flax that I have ever seen. This field of flax covers a distance of about two miles east to Clearwater county.

It is a giant undertaking and historic event, and proves the value of flood control beyond our fondest expectation. This is only one project of the thousands of acres which have become producing acres on the Red Lake and Clearwater Rivers, and will soon be followed on the rich tracts on the Ruffy Brook and Lost River.

Rust Damage to Crops

Now that harvest is well under way and crop reports are beginning to come in it seems that the rust damage is not too serious in most areas. The early grains do not seem to be hurt at all. I believe the extremely hot weather the latter part of July did as much to cut bushel weight as rust. However, there has been a lot of rust damage in some areas and the so called "fly by night" seed peddlers are going to take full advantage of this in selling some of their so called new varieties. I have reports from the southern part of the state saying they are already working down there.

Just keep this in mind: There are no varieties that are resistant to race 15 B stem rust. When buying seed, buy it from local reliable dealers and don't let anyone sell you any rust-immune seed. At the present time the experiment station is working on many new varieties and crosses and soon will, no doubt, have a wheat resistant to 15 B but as yet they haven't developed one resistant to rust that has satisfactory milling qualities.

Feeding Beef Calves

Creep feeding those beef calves dropped this spring from now until weaning time will increase their weight considerably. A good ration would be 50% whole oats and 50% shelled corn. This time of the year it is more important than ever to keep those cattle supplied with salt and minerals and a good supply of water. It is a good idea to place the mineral and salt close to the water supply so the cattle can get to it often.

Off-flavor dairy products have hurt the dairy industry very much. Feed anything that has a strong odor after milking. Watch pastures for weed growth and clip those weedy spots.

EGG PRODUCERS

Now is the time to replace your old type nests with the new automatic rollaway nests

The NEW ROLLAWAY NESTS should be placed in the range house or laying house before the pullets come into full production. The best time for old hens is at moulting time.

ROLLAWAY NESTS cost no more per hen than the old type nests and will repay their cost many times over by reducing egg and grade losses from dirty eggs, egg cleaning labor, breakage, egg eating and quality loss.

See the latest in automatic nests, automatic trough type waterers and other hen house equipment now on display in our hatchery show room.

Thieves Defeat St. Hilaire 8-3 in Exhibition Game

Tilt Friday Evening Wound up Pre-playoff Schedule for Locals

The Thieves concluded their pre-playoff schedule on Friday night when, in an exhibition game played against the St. Hilaire Saints of the Northern Minnesota league under the lights on Red Lake Falls' Riverside park, they scored an 8 to 3 triumph. Bud Olson, with three hits in four trips to the plate, and Gene Leslie and Sid Vraa, each with two singles in four tries, sparked the locals' attack.

Except for catcher Harlan Grubb, who poled out two hits in four attempts, the St. Hilaire batters were held in check by the Thieves' Leslie, who dolled out but five hits.

Artificial Ice Is Being Installed in ND 'U' Building

Work on the artificial ice project in the winter sports building of the University of North Dakota was slated to begin Monday, August 17, following approval of a loan by a Grand Forks bank for the difference between the contributed fund and the total cost of the project.

Completion of the plant is expected by October 10 unless a hitch develops in delivery of material. Steel for the plant is due about September 1.

Cost of the project is $76,000 of which $20,000 came from the development fund raised by alumni contributions and $16,000 from sale of tickets for the opening hockey series this winter. The remaining $40,000 came from the loan made by the First National Bank of Grand Forks, repayable from gate receipts and from a $1 increase voted in activities fees by students of UND.

The state conservation department, on Monday, set the season for upland game bird and migratory waterfowl hunting. The sharptail grouse season will open at sunrise on Sept. 19th and continue through Oct. 12th; the ruffed grouse, or partridge, season will open at sunrise on Sept. 19th and continue through Nov. 1st.

The season on ducks and geese will open at noon on Saturday, Oct. 3rd, and continue through Nov. 26th. After the opening day, the shooting hours on migratory waterfowl will be half an hour before sunrise to sunset.

The department also set the dates for the deer hunting season, which, in the northern zone, will be from Nov. 14th through Nov. 22nd, and shooting hours from sunrise to sunset.

Prospects for the upland game bird hunters appear fair to good, but the duck hunting, according to information from reliable sources, will be about the same as last season, and that was at an all-time low.

Canadian hunters this year will enjoy a slightly longer season on waterfowl than they had last year. Manitoba, this week, announced the dates for duck hunting, and south of the 53rd parallel, except the Delta waterfowl control area, the season will open at noon on Sept. 18th and continue through Nov. 21st.

Bag limits for the entire province are: ducks, daily 10, in possession, 30; geese, daily 5, in possession, 10. There have been some changes made in the Canadian hunting regulations this year, the most important being that auto-loading shotguns may be used to hunt game birds in Manitoba providing that the magazine of the gun is permanently plugged to hold but two shells. Another regulation states that not more than 16 ducks in all mey be exported to the United States from Manitoba by any one hunter. Non-resident license fees, for game bird hunting, are $25.

While the hunters are busily checking over their shell supplies, and engaging in some warm-up trap shooting; the anglers have been scouring the lakes in effort to catch a fish or two. These are the "dog days", and fishing has been slow, except for those fishermen who have been angling at Union and Sarah lakes. They have been having much fun and have been getting many crappies.

Lake of the Woods, usually an all-summer producer, has been a "slow" water the past ten days, too. Mel Bengston and Del Harbott, fishing out of Warroad, trolling along the rushes toward the Swift outlet ditch, have been having excellent fishing until recently. They really thought that they had the walleyed pike fishing problem solved; but the last couple of trips only provided the boys with sunburn.

First Call

Ralph Skjod, Prowler football coach, has issued a call for all prospective team candidates to report for the first practice session on Monday afternoon, August 24th. The boys will check in in the morning for their equipment, and then run thru limbering-up exercises in the afternoon drill. It is probable that if the hot weather continues, and to give an opportunity for the "working boys" to practice, that the drills will be held in the evenings on the Lincoln field.

Incidentally, Ralph Skjod will be a busy man this season, for in addition to being the head coach in football and baseball, he will have charge of the Prowler varsity basketball squad.

Miscellany

The Winnipeg Blue Bombers, before a crowd of more than 15,000, dedicated their new stadium by defeating the Ottawa Rough Riders, 18 to 11. Quite a number from here were in attendance at the game as the local Oriental Band participated in the stadium dedication ceremonies.—What's this we hear about Cotton Langevin developing a weakness? It is reported that Cotton, who is sturdy spear and set-line fisherman, a nifty shoot-on-sit man, an excellent man in hunting down cripples in the bulrushes, an unerring that-way-is-north man in the woods, has developed a weakness. Namely, a sharp left turn. He can manage the gradual left turn, but the sharply angled will send him and his station wagon into the ditch.—And we hear, too, that Kife Olson has new and unique method of washing his station wagon, utilizing the Tindolph Park area. Very simple, leave your car on the incline, with the brake off and out of gear.

The phone that came to the accident

Driving along Route 12 to Waterville, telephone installer Lon Chapple slowed his truck when he saw the group of cars stopped up ahead. Then he recognized the grim scene —an accident. Two twisted vehicles blocked the highway; men were bending over the victims at the roadside.

As Chapple pulled over, a man ran toward him. "Gave 'em all first aid—but the woman and the boy need a doctor fast," he said anxiously. "Will you go . . ."

"Better yet, I'll call," the telephone man interrupted him. Swiftly, he buckled on his safety belt and "climbers", grabbed his lineman's test set and went up a nearby phone pole. Clipping his telephone to the wires, he put through the call. In a surprisingly short time a doctor and an ambulance arrived.

"Just got here in time", the ambulance driver told Chapple later. "They're lucky that you—and your telephone—came to the accident!"

Although the names have been changed, the story above is true. Lon Chapple, the quick-thinking installer, might be working in your neighborhood today—for this incident is a typical example of the value of telephone service and the helpfulness of the men and women behind it.

To provide valuable telephone service, to pay good wages to workers like Lon Chapple, to train and equip them well, your telephone company must charge reasonable rates. With them we can continue to maintain and improve telephone service . . . and continue to make you telephone worth more than it costs.

Discarded Ice Boxes Dangerous

9 Children Lose Lives in Two States Last Week

Stating that the numerous discarded ice boxes in this community are a source of danger to children, Fire Chief Roy Langevin called attention to the following news story appearing in Twin City newspapers:

Abandoned iceboxes have taken a toll of nine children in two communities.

Four Richmond, Va., boys were found dead last week in an icebox near their homes after a two-day search for them by more than 1,000 persons.

Three of the boys, twins Woodrow and Wilson, 7, and George, 5, were the only children of Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Wilson Blackstock. The other boy was Walter Boykin, 7.

At Proctor, Ark., five children from one family were found suffocated in an icebox on the front porch of their home.

Police said the children apparently had been playing when the door of the icebox closed, trapping them inside.

The children were Edwin, 9; Wesley, 7; Odie and Tony, 4, twins, and Barbara Anne Holliman, 2.

All-Time Record Is Set by Automobile Licenses in State

995,708 Motor Vehicle Licenses Issued up to July 31 in Minnesota

The number of Minnesota-owned passenger cars has soared to an all-time high.

So has the number of title transfers—meaning used car purchases.

William E. Howes, director of the state motor vehicle division, said Friday that as of July 31 his office and his deputies had issued 995,708 passenger car licenses. Previous high, in 1951, was 987,325.

The numbers on new license plates now are running in the 1,011,000s, Howes said. But the actual total issued is less because some deputy registrars still have some smaller numbers on hand.

Title transfers, Howes added, are running more than 2,000 a day. June was the record month, with over 60,000 transfers.

All this booming auto business, according to Howes and Mrs. Mike Holm, secretary of state, is putting tough pressure on the motor vehicle division at a time when the division is getting ready for 1954.

The reformatory at St. Cloud, which manufactors auto plates, is behind schedule, Howes said, because the legislative appropriations came late in the session, as usual.

"It will be a very close race," said Howes, "to see whether we can supply our deputy registars on time." Regular applications for 1954 plates will be received starting Oct. 1.

Mining Industry to Have Exhibit at the State Fair

For the fourth consecutive year the iron mining industry of Minnesota will have an exhibit at the state fair, August 29 through September 7. Twenty-one iron mining companies operating in Minnesota are taking part in the exhibit, located at the ramp entrance of the grandstand building.

Telling the complete story of modern iron mining in the state, the exhibit will feature the dramatic progress made in taconite processing. A "schematic panel", with pictures and samples, shows the stages of taconite processing from pit to final product. In diagram form this display illustrates the complexity and costliness of processing taconite into iron-rich concentrate, usable in blast furnaces.

A similar display shows the step-by-step methods of low-grade ore concentration. Open pit and underground mining are also explained in picture-caption form.

Iron Range engineers from the participating mining companies will be on hand at all times to answer visitor's questions about the industry and its operations.

Send in your local news items to the Times, your friends and relatives would appreciate the courtesy.

Driver Licenses Now Protected by Special Stamp

All drivers' licenses now being issued by the Minnesota highway department are being stamped with the license holder's date of birth, using a new numbering device which perforates and inks this data into the card.

This new safeguard was adopted to make the driver's license card tamper-proof in those instances where holders desire to change their licenses for illegal purposes.

The drivers' license division states that valid licenses currently held by motorists should not be sent in to be so stamped. This new marking will be made only on licenses routinely issued by the division, including those issued for changes of address or name, as well as those being renewed.

SURPLUSES NOT PERMANENT

Wheat growers thruout the country were practically unanimous in their views on acreage controls and price supports as expressed in Friday's referendum. It is fortunate that the question was settled by a one-sided vote. This election set the pattern for others that probably will follow and removes any possible doubt as to how farmers themselves feel about the program.

The result of the referendum does not mean that farmers are fond of acreage or any other types of control. It is fair to assume that the vote indicated merely that they preferred the regimentation to the low prices that have come under similar circumstances with uncontrolled production.

This understandable preference for the lesser of two evils will do much to establish a price support program for as long a time as there are surpluses in the basic commodities. Fortunately there is reason to hope that this is not going to be a permanent problem.

On Monday of last week the federal Census Bureau released its estimate of the present population of our country at 160 million people. This represents an increase of about 20 millions during the past eight years. If this rate of increase continues, and it surely is not going to change abruptly, we may reasonably expect our population to be near the 200 million mark by the end of another 16 year period. With 40 million more people to feed with the produce of our present acreage there seems to be little justification for the fear that surpluses will be with us permanently.

Under the circumstances it is conceivable that within another decade we might find ourselves occasionally concerned about a food shortage instead of an embarrassing abundance. There no longer are areas where free land beckons to a shifting population of pioneers. From now on our pioneering will have to be done in our own communities and as there are more people to feed more will have to be produced on the acres that are now available to us.

Because we are moving into a temporary period of acreage controls we can see no reason why land clearing and soil conserving practices in our area should not be continued. There is likely to be a need for all our acres within the lifetime of many who now are farming. And as available land becomes scarcer its value should become relatively greater.

WISCONSIN'S DAIRYLAND

As an excuse for getting out of chores last week, with utter disregard for one Horace Greeley, we went east young man. Ingeniously disguised in tourist garb we slipped undetected over the border of our neighbor state of Wisconsin and penetrated far into the interior of its northern regions to spy upon the natives and to observe whether or not they have devised any secret weapons in their efforts to amass wealth.

Northern Wisconsin has much in common with north eastern and north central Minnesota. There is nothing there however that resembles the Red River Valley or the flat highlands upon which we dwell. Their paper industry is greater than ours; their iron industry not so great. Their big boast is their outdoor playground and their dairyland. They have surpassed us in the development of their more limited playground facilities and do an excellent job of selling what they have to the millions of urbanites in the Milwaukee and Chicago areas.

Our neighbors have a right to talk big about their leadership in dairying, their progress in this field being notable mainly in their more diversified marketing facilities. In recent years there has been a trend toward fewer but larger and more efficient processing plants. This trend reached a peak last year and is continuing at a high rate. There are 200 fewer cheese factories in the state now than there were three years ago and there has been a correspondingly great reduction in the number of plants doing other types of dairy product processing with the exception of ice cream.

At the farm level there is a trend too toward fewer but larger producing units. The small herd seems to be on the way out, developing into a large herd or no herd at all. This probably is the inevitable result of new disease control and sanitary standards.

Wisconsin is proud of its dairyland. Dairy products are the most dependable source of income in large areas of the state and the industry is making every effort to retain its hold on its most profitable markets. What is happening in Wisconsin in the production and marketing of dairy products probably is a pre-vue of what will happen in all areas of the country in which dairying continues to be the producer of a major payroll.

Federal authorities have set Thursday, October 1, as the day the hunting season for migratory waterfowl may open but Minnesota's commissioner of conservation, Chester Wilson, has announced Saturday, October 3, as the opening date. He states that this two day delay is favored by a majority of the hunters. Judging by the expressions of opinion we have heard it does not represent the wishes of the hunters of the northern part of the state where, because of the earlier freeze-up, there is a much shorter season than in the areas farther south.

Nice things are being said about the street rebuilding job the city crew is doing in the residence section. The costs are running low and the results seem to be uniformly good. It can at least be said that progress is being made in securing this much needed improvement.

Another baseball season is drawing to a close with more general recognition than ever of the need for better playing facilities. We have had a lot of baseball in this area during the past summer. Interest in the national sport hereabouts evidently is growing. In Red Lake Falls, and in other communities where a lighted field makes night baseball possible, attendance has been good. Here is a problem that should have serious consideration now by the sports promoters of the community. We can think of no better time to launch a drive for such a project than during the winter months that are ahead of us in the hope that by next season actual construction will be possible.

I was ahead in every way after this demonstration!

I figured on paying about $200 more for a new car . . . until I discovered all that Chevrolet offered me:

You're "sitting pretty" behind the wheel

Take this Bel Air model. First thing you'll notice is the quality of the interior. Rich-looking appointments. Roomy seats with foam rubber cushions. Turn the key to start the engine and you're ready to go.

You can see all around

You look out and down through a wide, curved, one-piece windshield. The panoramic rear window and big side windows provide a clear view in all directions.

You get more power on less gas

That's because Chevrolet's two great valve-in-head engines are high-compression engines. In Powerglide* models, you get the most powerful engine in Chevrolet's field — the new 115-h.p. "Blue-Flame." Gearshift models offer the advanced 108-h.p. "Thrift-King" engine.

Biggest brakes for smoother, easier stops

An easy nudge on the pedal brings smooth, positive response —right now! Chevrolet's, improved brakes are the largest in the low-price field.

It's heavier for better roadability

You're in for a pleasant surprise at the smooth, steady, big-car ride of this new Chevrolet. One reason is that, model for model, Chevrolet will weigh up to 200 pounds more than the other low-priced cars.

You get greater getaway with the new Powerglide*

A lot finer performance on a lot less gas. That's what you get with the new Powerglide automatic transmission. There's no more advanced automatic transmission at any price.

And it's the lowest-priced line

A demonstration will show you that Chevrolet offers just about everything you could want. Yet it's the lowest-priced line in the low-price field.

Combination of Powerglide automatic transmission and 115-h.p. "Blue-Flame" engine optional on "Two-Ten" and Bel Air models at extra cost.*

Let us demonstrate all the advantages of buying a Chevrolet now!

How steel balls Grind Taconite

CRUSHING TACONITE TO FACE-POWDER fineness is the job of these solid steel balls Peder Sorenson is shoveling at a taconite processing plant near Mountain Iron. The balls, tumbling in a revolving ball mill, crush the rock so that the iron specks in it may be removed from the waste by means of magnetic separators. A bright future is ahead on Minnesota's iron ranges as our iron mining industry develops the processing of once-worthless taconites and low-grade ores. There will be more jobs for more mining employees—more prosperity for all—if Minnesota's iron mining industry can meet the competition of ores from other areas. It can do so only if it is treated as fairly as other industries in the state.

Polio Hospitalizes Boy Twice

Thomas Black

A 14-year old Duluth boy, Thomas Black has been hospitalized twice for polio recently. But, thanks to prompt and excellent medical and hospital care, he is now able to play all his favorite sports again, including hunting deer with bow and arrow.

Thomas, who attends West Junior High School in Duluth, and his parents, are happy too about the help received from two non-profit health plans when hospitalization was necessary.

Regarding these plans, Mr. Black says, "Both times the hospital bills were paid in full. The Blue Shield-Blue Cross benefits amounted to almost $1,000," he says. "You'll never know how much my wife and I appreciate the protection Blue Shield and Blue Cross offers us."

Over 2,800 Minnesota Doctors of Medicine actively participate in the non-profit Blue Shield plan for medical-surgical care protection. The Blue Cross hospital care plan is non-profit also, sponsored by 169 Minnesota hospitals. You need both.

Complete free details may be obtained by writing directly to Blue Shield-Blue Cross, Dept. WP-4, 2810 University Ave., St. Paul 14, Minn. A postcard will do.

Harold Knutson Gives Property to Lutheran Church

ELC to Use Summer Home of Former Congressman for Neglected Children

Deprived and neglected children will be given a chance for greater adjustments and opportunities in life as the result of a gift from Minnesota's former Congressman Harold Knutson to the Evangelical Lutheran church.

The former Capitol Hill leader is donating a 70-acre tract of land valued at $45,000 to the ELC in special ceremonies August 23. The gift will be received in behalf of the ELC by Dr. Magnus A. Dahlen, Minneapolis, ELC charities executive.

Located 30 miles north of Brainerd on the "point" near Manhattan Beach between Big Trout and White Fish Lake, the land is a private summer resort — named "Dunworkin"—owned by the former congressman. It is to be used by the ELC board of charities for "neglected, unfortunate, deprived and handicapped children."

Congressman Knutson is donating the land to the ELC in memory of his mother, the late Mrs. Jeannette Holm Knutson, who immigrated to America with her husband in 1886. Later she moved with her family to northern Sherburne county, Minnesota, where she lived, except for a period in Washington, D. C., until in 1929.

Congressman Knutson first went to Washington, D. C., in 1917. He served continuously until his retirement in 1949. He served as Republican Whip of the House during a part of the Coolidge administration and was chairman of the House Ways and Means committee during the 80th congress.

He is the owner and publisher of the Wadena Pioneer Journal.

Motorists Make July Worst Month with 72 Deaths

Record for Month Was Exceeded on Only Three Occasions in Ten Years

Motorists on Minnesota streets and highways made July one of the worst months in the number of traffic fatalities during the past ten years, according to the Minnesota highway department. The 72 deaths recorded during the month have been exceeded in only three previous months, each of which had 74 fatalities charged against it.

Exactly half of the month's toll resulted from collisions between motor vehicles. There were four accidents which claimed two lives each.

Death came to 25 motorists when their cars left the road, hit fixed objects or ran into railroad trains at grade crossings. Failure to exercise ordinary caution, according to the Department's safety experts, was undoubtedly the chief cause for these deaths.

Ten pedestrians were killed by motor vehicles, and as is invariably the case, the victims were either very young or quite aged. Six youngsters 15 years of age or younger were killed, while four other casualties were between 63 and 68 years of age.

Sales of Savings Bonds in State Increase in July

July sales of U. S. Savings Bonds in Minnesota were a million dollars greater than for the same month a year ago, it was announced by Darrell Bandy, state director of the savings bonds division of the Treasury department.

Actual sales of series E and H bonds last month were $6,750,693 as compared to $5,830,530 a year ago. Minnesota's total for 1953 now stands at $43,000,000 as against $32,600,000 last year, a gain of a little more than 32 per cent.

Minnesota's sales goal for 1953 is $84,600,000. As of July 31 the state had attained 50.8 per cent of that objective.

Prepare Youngsters for Start of School

Thousands of Minnesota small fry are now looking forward to the biggest event in their small lifetimes — the first day at school. Whether it will be a happy day rests largely with preparations which should have started long before the great day rolls around, according to a bulletin issued today by the Minnesota State Medical association.

Children who have already learned independence and self-confidence have made a long start toward success in school. If, also, they have been checked by the doctor to make sure they are in god physical condition, their adventure is pretty sure to be a shining success.

If, on the other hand, they have been babied and over-protected up to the last possible moment; or if they enter with some undiscovered defect, like defective eye-sight, as an added strike against them, the outlook is at least doubtful and may be disastrous.

For the sake of this year's beginners and for all the others who are going to reach school age next year and the next, the doctors urge the following program: First, Start preparation for school life long before that first day at school. Give youngsters their part of the responsibility for the work and fun at home long before they leave home to go to school. Second: Help them learn to play and work with others on equal terms and without special indulgences, but with a sure backing, always, of family love and affection. Third: Take them regularly to the doctor for a physical check-up, especially before, — not after — they start to school. Even now, much can be done to see that this year's beginner starts on his big adventure unhandicapped by defects that can be corrected.

Finally, the doctors especially warn over-protective parents that babying their children will not guard them against troubles ahead. Mental hospitals are full of unhappy emotional children who have been forced to live in a world of grown-up men and women.

Chicago Man Is Killed in Mishap East of Warroad

A Chicago fisherman was instantly killed when his car went off the road and rolled over near Swift, six miles east of Warroad Thursday night.

He was Joseph Zinkann, about 50, employed by the city of Chicago. Mr. and Mrs. Zinkann came up to Lake of the Woods on a fishing trip. Zinkann was alone at the time of the accident.

Dr. C. R. Delmore, Roseau County coroner, said the car apparently went out of control at high speed on loose gravel.

Survivors are Mrs. Zinkann and three children.

Poultry Feed Economy

Looking for a simple, economical way to feed your pullets?

Out now is a report from Iowa State College showing that the biggest saving and profit per hen comes to the man who feeds his birds by the cafeteria method, using a high-protein balancer instead of a supplement containing 18 to 20%.

The report is for laying flocks but the same thing applies to range pullets —perhaps with an even greater prospect for economy.

The Iowa Extension Service ran their tests with 39 demonstration flocks, and found that the flocks fed the high-protein balancer returned the highest profit per hen ($1.72) at the lowest total feed cost (3.3c per lb.). This record was achieved with flocks fed by the cafeteria method.

Other profit records were as follows:

. . . Flocks self-fed 18-20% supplement made a profit of $1.67 per bird.

. . . Flocks hand-fed 26% balancer made a profit of $1.52 per bird.

. . . Flocks hand-fed 18-20% supplement made a profit of $1.07 per bird.

None of this is surprising to poultry raisers who have fed Archer 26% Poultry Balancer to their birds. For any farmer with ample grain on hand, we definitely recommend the Archer Poultry Balancer feeding plan as the most economical to follow for both range pullets and laying hens.

What's more, your savings in out-of-pocket cash are even greater than the figures above would indicate. This is because you can get maximum growth out of your pullets by feeding only one part of Archer Poultry Balancer to every three or four parts of grain. It takes only about 25 cents worth of Archer Poultry Balancer to feed one pullet for the entire range season. Can you beat that for economy?

KERN M. OLSON

Long active in sportsmen's affairs who Sunday was elected president of the Minnesota Conservation federation at its first annual assembly in St. Cloud.

Tindolph Park Beach is still the center of attraction for many youngsters, teen - age folk, adults and tourists. With the favorable weather, the water temperature fine and the clearness of the water, plus the variety of activities to take part in at the park, the attendance has been exceptionally high the past month.

A lifeguard will be on duty from 1 until 5 daily until Sept. 1. However, the park will be supervised and the equipment for the various activities can be obtained from 9 a. m. until 8 p. m. daily and will be as long as the weather is favorable.

Quentin Jolie, Red Cross waterfront director, stated that during the past season a total of 527 were enrolled in the American Red Cross Learn-to-Swim program. Of this number 231 have completed the beginners swimming test; 112 the intermediate tests; 35 swimmers award; 15 advanced swimming, 6 junior life saving, and two senior life saving awards.

The average age for the children earning the beginning swimmers award this year was 8 years. Last year the average age was 10. Many of the beginner swimmers were six and even five years of age.

Jones said "We had many more rural youths taking part in the swimming program. The credit for this is to be given to the energetic 4-H leaders and farm parents who were willing to take time off from urgent work to see that their children had an opportunity to learn to swim."

Jones added, "More and more adults have found swimming and playing games, picnicking at the park can be the best of family fun. We hope this group will double in another year.

"Many mothers have taken advantage of the kiddie swimming area. So great has been its demand that in order to accommodate everyone, it will be necessary to enlarge the area another year. The youngsters who have used this area will find it easy to learn to swim. They have learned already to adjust themselves to the water. That is the big job in learning to swim.

"Our out-of-town guests have trebled this past season. The folks enjoyed the park so much last year many returned again this year and brought their friends. This is a compliment to our park board and recreation board for providing such an attractive area, and also to our park maintenance staff. From the reports we are one of the few towns in the state that provide such a park area with so many attractive activities."

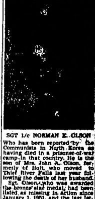
Reported Dead



SGT 1/c NORMAN E. OLSON

Who has been reported by the Communists in North Korea as having died in a prisoner-of-war camp in that country. He is the son of Mrs. John A. Olson, formerly of Holt, who moved to Thief River Falls last year following the death of her husband.

Sgt. Olson, who was awarded the bronze star medal, had been listed as missing in action since January 1, 1951, and the last letter received by his family from him had been written December 24, 1950. He had enlisted in the army July 7, 1948.

A sister, Mrs. Marian Johnson, and a brother, Clayton, also live in Thief River Falls. His mother is still hoping that the report of his death is erroneous, basing her belief on a statement by the secretary of the army that the information from the Communists has not yet been verified.

New Type of Road Construction Is Used on SAR 1

Crushed Gravel, Clay and Rock Salt Utilized by Ness Construction Company

Work on a new type of road construction in Pennington county will be completed this week, if weather is favorable, on a project on State Aid Road 1 extending from a half-mile east of River Valley to a point nine and one-half miles west, Joseph Seidel, county engineer, stated today.

A federal aid secondary road project being executed by the Ness Construction Co. of Mahnomen, the work involves 900 cubic yards of crushed gravel per mile stabilized with 130 cubic yards of clay, which is scarified from the road grade, pulverized and mixed in with the clay to act as a binder for the wearing course.

Rock salt at the rate of four and one-half tons per mile then is added, and the mixure is then thoroughly mixed, watered to the right consistency and compacted with a roller to the desired road crown.

The additional cost of this type of construction, said Seidel, is between $300 and $400 per mile over the old method, which is merely to dump the gravel on the road, spread it or leave it in a loose state for the traffic to pound into the grade.

Seidel estimated that the extra cost of the new method would be saved in about two years due to the reduced loss of gravel, reduced maintenance costs, and savings to motorists resulting from a smoother driving surface.

Seidel also stated that Donaraki Bros. of Crookston, who have the contract for graveling new grades previously constructed and some minor patch gravel jobs, are about half way thru with their projects.

State Radio Tower Material Arrives

To Be Built on Zeh st. at Great Northern Track

Material for the state radio tower to be located in Thief River Falls has arrived, and erection will start as soon as a similar tower is completed in Brainerd.

The local installation will be on Zeh st. adjoining the Great Northern tracks, where footings and a reserve power station already have been prepared.

The new facilities, comprising one of five radio communication centers being set up at various points in the state, will be used by highway patrolmen and game wardens in the area to keep in contact with one another and with headquarters.

Council Buys Equipment for Rural Truck

Receives 4 Petitions for Blacktopping at Session Tuesday Night

Acting favorably on the recommendation of Fire Chief Roy Langevin and a committee of firemen, the city council at an adjourned session Tuesday evening awarded to the Fyr-Fiter Co. the contract to supply hose and other movable equipment for the rural fire truck recently purchased jointly by the towns of North and Rocksbury.

The bid of the Fyr-Fiter Co., which is represented locally by M. R. Levorson, was in the amount of $2,782.85. In return for its contribution, the city will be authorized to use the new equipment in fighting fires in the city, according to the contract with the two townships. The new truck will be kept in the city fire hall and manned by the regular crew of firemen.

Hearings were set for Tuesday evening, September 15, on four petitions for blacktopping city streets. Included are Fourth st. west from State av. to Kinney av.; LaBree av. from Eighth st. to Eleventh st.; Ninth st. from LaBree av. to Main av.; and Tenth st. from Main av. to Horace av. Leo DuChamp, street commissioner, indicated that none of these projects could be completed this year.

Following a recent hearing on complaints of property owners living in the vicinity of the Great Northern right-of-way near Fifth st. relative to the condition of the junk loading station there, the council issued an order calling on the Great Northern Railway to install a fence around the area to screen it from public view.

With Frank Hobbs as its spokesman, a committee requested that in view of the long dry spell the council might grant an emergency reduction of 50 per cent on water bills payable October 1 as a means of encouraging property owners to sprinkle their lawns and gardens. The request was referred to the council water and light committee for a conference with Harold Johnson, chief operator at the water treatment plant.

Dr. O. F. Melby, city health officer called attention to unsanitary conditions existing in the extreme north end of the city along Arnold, Duluth and Knight avs., due to the use of shallow wells in close proximity to outdoor toilets.

Council members said they realized the gravity of the situation, but indicated they were not in a position to proceed this year with the installation of water mains, other than those already contracted for on Main av. N.

Airline to City Is in Jeopardy, Official Says

Traffic from City Below Minimum Requirements, Buttomer Tells C & C

Addressing the Civic and Commerce association last Thursday evening in the Elks club rooms, Frank Buttomer, vice president of North Central Airlines, stated that the temporary certificate authorizing service to Thief River Falls will expire March 1, 1954, and that in order to secure a renewal it will be necessary at that time to convince the Civil Aeronautics board in Washington that there is a real demand for the service.

Mr. Buttomer said that the service, established here January 1 of this year, is now in jeopardy due to the fact that the volume of business received locally is below the minimum requirements to insure profitable operation.

He added that approximately 90 passengers emplaned here in July, and said there should be a minimum of twice that number. He asked the cooperation of local citizens in developing use of the facilities.

Les Schroeder, state commissioner of aeronautics who has played a leading role in the establishment of the Thief River Falls airport and air service to this city, spoke in support of

Seek to Continue Hospital Nurses Training Program

Harold Peterson of This City Named Member of Committee to Make Study

For nine months more, the rural nurse training program in Minnesota may be carried on if participating schools adopt a proposal made Friday.

The program is in danger of being dropped because of lack of funds to pay the salary of the directing co-ordinator, Margery Low, University of Minnesota.

Some 40 hospital administrators and nursing leaders from all parts of the state agreed Friday that some step should be taken to assure continuation of the program.

They met in Murphy hall at the University of Minnesota and recommended that schools and hospitals participating directly in the program chip in $200 each to pay the co-ordinator's salary through next June.

This move would be a temporary measure to meet the immediate emergency. Ways and means of establishing a permanent fund for the future will be studied by a committee of three named at the meeting.

They are Mrs. W. W. Walker, member of the board of trustees of Northwestern hospital, Minneapolis; Dorothy Pretsch, administrator of Northwestern hospital in Worthington, and Harold W. Peterson, administrator of Northwestern Hospital, Thief River Falls.

Dr. L. B. Benson, administrator of Bethesda hospital, St. Paul, argued that the training program was too important to let it drop by the wayside.

LIBRARY NOTES

Referring to our guest book we are reminded of some of the interesting contacts we have had during the summer. Most of these people were visiting their families or renewing old acquaintances.

Mrs. Dreng Bjornaras of Minneapolis called with her friend Mrs. Arthur Sandell. The Indian exhibit recalled Mrs. Bjornaras's own childhood spent on the old Indian reservation. We regretted that time was too short to hear more of her fascinating stories.

Charles Swartz, again a regular customer after a thirty year absence, surprised us by saying he recalled that Governor Hammond had been here for the dedication of the library in 1914. He had helped initiate him into the Order of Moose on that day.

Roberta Griswold of Spokane, whose grandmother, Marie Burgess, graduated from the local high school stopped in long enough to sign her name. She was with the United Nations Odd Fellows Youth Pilgrimage stopping here for lunch. As a guest at the luncheon we were more than pleased by the spirit of friendliness and fun that existed. These were outstanding boys and girls from the United States and Canada getting better acquainted with America and with each other. We learned there were many other buses crossing the country for many months tour of the interesting and important places. It seemed a very worthwhile project for any lodge to sponsor.

Mrs. Perl Mabey and Mrs. L. G. Larson, who were for many years trustees of the library, called to see what improvements had been made and to make a close inspection of the model glass house of Mr. Hoefer's as well as the little white church made by B. Dan Bjorkman. Changes have been made in this too since Easter. It now contains a pipe organ, a new set of pews and a carpet. There is even a gilded bell and an ornament atop the lofty spire.

Legion Promotes Safety in Schools

Plans for Permanent Camp for School Patrol

On the eve of the Governor's Traffic Safety Conference, to open Friday, Aug. 14 in Duluth, Minnesota safety leaders were cheered by plans adopted at last week's state convention of the American Legion for an expanded and greatly intensified state-wide campaign to protect school children from traffic accidents.

The enlarged school safety program announced upon the conclusion of the Legion convention includes provisions for:

Establishment of a permanent school safety patrol camp for the training each summer of hundreds of young school-age safety leaders from communities all over the state.

Creation of a school patrol camp corporation empowered to raise sufficient funds by public subscription to procure the camp site and construct and maintain the necessary housing and training facilities.

Appointment by each district commander, within the 10 districts that comprise the American Legion, Department of Minnesota, of a county chairman in each county of the state to direct and stimulate public interest in school traffic safety patrols and school bus patrols in every county, and ultimately in every community, throughout the state.

Plans, through this organized statewide leadership, to work closely with all county and local Safety Councils, the Minnesota Safety Council, and state and local school authorities, to stimulate safety activities in all elementary grade and high schools.

The latter phase of the Legion program includes: (1) cooperation with community safety leaders and school authorities in the establishment of junior safety councils in grade school and high schools; (2) assistance in the promotion of effective driver training classes in all high schools, and (3) working with local officials in efforts to extend the school bus patrol program to afford protection on every rural and urban school bus in the state.

'U' Man Reports on Grain Rust Status

Wheat and Oats Fields Suffer Worst Damage

Certain varieties have partially withstood the heavy damage caused by stem rust on wheat and oats and leaf rust on oats this summer.

Reviewing the grain disease situation, J. J. Christensen, head of the University of Minnesota department of plant pathology, said stem rust on wheat and oats and leaf rust on oats have been unusually severe. On the other hand, there has been little stem rust on early-sown barley and rye and little leaf rust on wheat and barley. Leaf rust became epidemic later than usual so damage was held down.

Christensen analyzes the disease attacks in this way:

Stem rust of wheat — severe damage in southern Minnesota and the Red River Valley. All common wheats are susceptible although rust is more abundant on varieties such as Mida and Rival than on Lee and Rushmore.

On the University's experimental plots throughout the state, the two new selections — Frontana Thatcher and a Canadian selection, C. T. 180, are only slightly rusted.

Stem rust of oats — susceptible varieties such as Bonda, Clinton and James hard hit by race 7. Such varieties as Andrew, Ajax and Branch which are resistant to race 7 have been relatively free. Race 8 has not damaged oats badly in most areas this year.

Stem rust of barley — little damage. Early-sown fields of Kindred, which makes up more than 90 per cent of Minnesota's acreage, are virtually free of stem rust. Montcalm and Barbless have a moderate amount and some late-sown fields will be damaged severely.

Discussing flax, Christensen said that it had been remarkably free from rust, wilt, pasmo and other diseases this year.

Newfolden School to Open Fall Term Tuesday, Sept. 8

Supt. Wm. Trushenski Says Faculty This Year Includes 3 New Members

The long summer vacation comes to an end for Newfolden school pupils on the morning of Sept. 8 when a fleet of eight school buses starts making their runs at the usual time with the same drivers as last term. Only a few minor changes of the routes are planned. The first day promises to be a short one, according to Supt. Wm. Trushenski, as classes will be dismissed at 11:30 to allow the students time to get home for dinner. There will be faculty meeting at 1:30 in the afternoon when plans for the new term will be made.

Upon arriving at school the first day, the students will note many changes that have taken place during the summer vacation. In the first place the new addition is nearly two-thirds complete, and while it will not be used at first, parts of it will be used during the course of the school year.

Another change the students will note is the renovation of the classrooms and halls. The floors of eleven rooms and two halls were sanded, and several rooms have been redecorated.

For the most part, the faculty is the same as last year. Three new members have been added. Mr. Duane Elertson of Gully will teach social studies and 9th grade English. Miss Elizabeth Masoner of Bemidji, will have grade music and band. Miss Solveig Samuelson of Viking will teach 1st grade. Other members of the faculty are Howard Wargeland, principal and science; Lowell Anderson, mathematics and coach; Ethel Torgerson, commercial; Mrs. Wyn Tvedt, English; Mrs. Elaine Roering and Mrs. Pearl Gray, uppper grades; Mrs. Ariet Strandquist Johnson, Mrs. Lois Johnson, and Miss Valborg Huglen, intermediate grades, and Mrs. Kingsley Dyer, lower grades.

Because the old lunch room has been converted into a boys shower room, and because the new lunch room in the new addition is not completed, lunches will not be served for at least a few weeks.

"We expect an enrollment this year of 360," said Trushenski.

Unseasonably warm weather continued into this week, a high of 85 being registered Sunday, followed by 85 Monday and 91 Tuesday.

With weather conditions for harvest the most favorable in many years, a large number of farmers have completed their harvest operations, except for flax threshing.

Garden Valley Co. Lets Contract for 20 New Buildings

Directors Also Order Rebuilding 164 Miles of Rural Pole Lines

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Garden Valley Telephone company, held at Erskine last Wednesday, contracts were let for the rebuilding of 164 miles of rural pole line in the Mentor, Clearbrook, Gonvick, and Leonard exchanges. This work will completely recondition the rural plant in this area. This work was let to the Mid-Sota Construction company of Wadena, Minneosta.

The board also awarded a contract to Eickhoff Construction company of Crookston for the construction of 20 exchange buildings ranging in size from 16 feet by 20 feet to 21 feet by 38 feet. The buildings will be constructed of hollow tile and will have a completely fireproof roof being of metal construction thruout. Work on both the buildings and the pole line contract will begin shortly and it is expected that the pole line work will be completed this fall as will at least half of the buildings.

At the present time the Zontelli Construction Company of Ironton, Minnesota is at work on the rural plants in Beltrami, Fertile, St. Hilaire, and Gully areas.

The date for cut-over to dial operation at Beltrami, which will be the first exchange cut-over, is still several weeks distant but when that takes place other exchanges should follow at the rate of one or so a month with Gully, St. Hilaire, and Fertile coming after Beltrami. Later will come Clearbrook, Gonvick, and Leonard.

The highest weekly production of bituminous coal on record was 14,583,000 tons which occurred in 1949 during the week ending November 19.

Humphrey Talks at Pine Lake Sunday

Says Economy Depends on Farm Prosperity

"The whole economy is dependent on a prosperous agriculture," Sen. Hubert Humphrey told Red Lake and Clearwater county farmers Sunday at their annual Farmers Union picnic at Pine Lake near Gonvick.

Farmers, Humphrey said, are big consumers as well as big producers.

"Unless they have some cash in their pockets the cash registers can't jingle on Main street," the senator said. "And unless merchants have customers in our agricultural trading centers they can't buy manufactured products."

Any sudden decline in farm purchasing power gradually reflects itself through our entire economy, curtailing business and cutting down jobs in industry, Humphrey said.

"For that reason," he went on, "danger signs now on the horizon—falling farm prices—should be everybody's concern."

Political Roundup

By Arthur Naftalin

Republican political leaders are breathing easier now that the nation's wheat farmers have approved, by an overwhelming majority, rigid controls for their 1954 crops.

Approval of the marketing quotas means that the farmer will be assured of $2.20 a bushel, with continuance of the 90 per cent of parity price support. Rejection of the quotas would have meant a reduction to 50 per cent of parity, providing a guaranteed price of only $1.20 a bushel.

Thus, rejection of quotas would have left the Republican administration in a tough spot with the approach of the 1954 Congressional elections. The whole question of quotas and parity payments is still certain to figure prominently in next year's campaigns, but, for the time at least, the Republican administration does not have to face the prospect of a collapsing wheat market.

Internal GOP Struggle

There will be, however, an eventual showdown on the question of the administration's agricultural policy. There are two clearly distinct opposing views that may give rise to the most serious internal fight the Republican Party has seen in a long time.

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson, although he hailed approval of the quotas as "a wise decision," is opposed to the whole program of controls and has not hesitated to incur the wrath of many farmers by urging that the federal government abandon the policy of regulating agricultural production.

On the other hand, midwestern Republican Congressional leaders, like Clifford R. Hope of Kansas, chairman of the house agricultural committee, favors continuance of controls and is ready to do battle for them. Thus, the fight over long-term agricultural policy is shaping and could seriously divide the Republican party.

'54 Campaign Opens

The vote on acreage allotments pointed up the growing concern with the '54 Congressional elections. It is crucial to the Republicans that they maintain, and, if possible, extend their control of the two houses of Congress. A New York Times reporter observes that the Republicans "are organizing as never before for a mid-term Congressional election — and they hope to gain at least ten seats in the House and two or three in the Senate."

But the Democrats need to gain only five seats in the House of Representatives to take control, and two factors especially worry the Republicans here. One is that, in every mid-term election in modern times, the party in power has suffered a decline in its strength, and, second, that in 1952 Democratic congressional candidates actually polled more votes than the Republicans in terms of a national total.

The Senate is now evenly divided, 47 Republicans, 47 Democrats, 1 Independent (Morse of Oregon) and 1 vacancy (Taft's Ohio seat). Next year's elections will find 22 Democrats and 13 Republicans up for re-election to the Senate (including three special elections for unexpired terms), and the Republicans are hopeful that they can at least maintain a slight one or two-vote majority.

GOP Eyes Minnesota

Among the states where the Republican leadership believes it has a chance to make gains in both the Senate and the House is Minnesota. The Third, Fourth, and Sixth Districts, now held by the DFL, are being carefully scouted for prospective GOP candidates.

As time goes along the Republicans appear less hopeful that they can find a candidate who can take the Senatorial seat away from Hubert H. Humphrey, but this seat is listed along with those in Montana, Illinois, Iowa, Delaware, Wyoming, and New Mexico as offering the GOP's best hopes.

'Ike' as the Issue

It will be interesting to observe the 1954 election campaigns. The Republicans main argument will be that a Republican majority in both houses is essential in order to fulfill President Eisenhower's program. But the Democrats will insist, backing their claim up with the record of the first session of the 83rd Congress, that it was their support that gave the President his margin of victory on a number of crucial issues.

As the Times reporter points out, "There are more than a few signs that not a few Democrats will be running on a record of having given to the President greater support on key national issues than did their Republican colleagues." This is likely to be the case in Humphrey's campaign for re-election, because he has given support to the Eisenhower program on many significant occasions, as have the DFL Congressmen.

Politics at State Fair

The Minnesota State Fair is always an occasion for a good deal of politicking, and this year there should be more than the usual amount. Both major parties will have booths in operation, as will two minor groups. Republicans will feature Governor C. Elmer Anderson and Senator Edward Thye, and the DFL is scheduling daily talks by DFL office-holders, including Senator Humphrey, who will make his principal talk on September 4, which is legislative-editorial day. Minor parties planning booths are the Progressives and the Socialist Workers.

JULY TRAFFIC SHOWS 5% GAIN OVER 1952

Traffic volumes on Minnesota's trunk highways showed a five per cent increase in July over the figures for the comparable month of 1952, according to data released today by the highway planning survey of the Minnesota department of highways. This figure is based on information obtained by the 27 automatic traffic recorders located at strategic points on rural trunk highways. During the first seven months of this year, the recorders revealed a gain of 5.6 per cent over the comparable period of last year.

Fertilizer Materials

Have you ever wondered why fertilizer materials don't contain 100-per cent nutrients? Part of the answer lies in the fact that pure nitrogen is an inactive gas; pure phosphorus is a solid that bursts into flame when exposed to air; and pure potassium is a solid that reacts violently with water. So, for one thing, the pure materials are unusable as fertilizer materials. Another reason is that fertilizer nutrients have been combined in nature with other elements. In manufacturing fertilizer, some of these elements are eliminated or rearranged.

Good Poultry Management

Was out to Ray Parnows about the middle of July and saw his flock of Leghorn spring pullets that were already housed for the coming year. No doubt, by now they have begun producing. That is the way to handle chickens for more profit. The egg price schedule is almost as definite as the seasons of the year.

There is also a temptation to keep those old hens during the period of good egg prices in the fall. If they are kept over don't house them with the young pullets. It is better to move the old hens out to some temporary housing and move the new pullets into your permanent chicken house.

Ladino May Winter Kill

I understand that there is a prospect of rather cheap ladino clover seed for the coming year. However, for this area ladino has its limitations. It ill overwinter but is subject to winter kill. In using ladino for cattle or sheep pasture one has to be very careful because it increases your bloat hazards. It does make excellent hog and poultry pasture.

Much Wheat Rust

There was quite a bit of stem rust on the wheat this year, although I have had several reports of wheat that did weigh 60 pounds or better and made 20 bushels. Seems that Mida and Rival were rusted a little more than Lee and Rushmore. University of Minnesota has two new selections Frontana x Thatcher and a Canadian selection, C. T. 186 are only slightly rusted. However, they are still in the experimental stages and no seed is available as yet.

Hauling on Highways

These days many farmers are hauling crops and equipment on the highways after dark. For your own protection have all tractors and trucks lighted with two white headlights and one or more red tail lights. If pulling equipment, have it similarly lighted or equipped with reflectors visible for 500 feet.

And if you're a motorist, watch for this slow moving equipment to save your own and other's lives.

Thieves Win 1st Tilt in League Playoffs from Nielsville 3-2

The league champion Thieves won their first round game in the Red River Valley loop playoffs at Red Lake Falls on Sunday afternoon when, with one out and runners on second and third in the 8th inning and a 2-all score, Shorty Perkins dumped a squeeze play down the first base line to plate Gene Leslie with the tally that gave the locals a 3 to 2 win over Nielsville.

The Thieves will play their second round game on Thursday night at Red Lake Falls when they meet the Crookston Pirates. The Pirates won their first round game by scoring a lop-sided 13 to 4 triumph over the Alvarado Farmers at Red Lake Falls on Sunday night. On Wednesday night, with game time scheduled for 8:00 P. M., Alvarado ill meet Nielsville, and the loser of this game will be eliminated from the playoffs.

The Thieves, playing an erratic brand of ball, gave up a run in the 2nd inning, and another in the 4th inning to trail by a 2 to 0 score moving into the 6th frame. Big Stan Brekke, on the mound for Nielsville, had limited the locals to but two hits in the first five innings of play, giving up a scratch in the 4th inning. Williamson opened the 6th inning by slashing a double down the right-field foul line. Williamson stole third and came in with a run when catcher Will McDonald's throw went into left field.

With two men out in the 7th inning, Jack Hoppe drew a walk; Cal Vraa sent a ground single just inside first base; Sid Vraa got a "pebble" hit past the third baseman, loading the bases. Williamson drove a single between short and third, scoring Hoppe with the tying run. Joey Poole sent a ground ball to the mound, and the side was retired on a force play at home, Brekke to McDonald.

Lund's blow drove right-hander Brekke off the mound and brought righthander Archie Mjelde in from the outfield to take over the hurling duties for Nielsville. Phil LeGault dropped a sacrifice bunt in front of the plate and was out, catcher to first. On the second pitch, Perkins flipped a bunt down the first base line and Leslie, who broke for the plate on the pitch, scored easily with the game-winning run.

While Nielsville's batters were credited with thirteen hits, six of those safeties were of the scratch variety, being dribblers down the baselines or slow infield rollers. Leslie was miserly in the pinches, leaving eleven Nielsville runners stranded on the bases.

Jung Defeats Dr. Disse and Larson Eliminates Bennes in Semi-finals

Defending champion Vic Jung and Stan Larson have reached the finals in the championship flight of the city golf tournament now in progress at the local course. Larson defeated Lloyd Bennes in a semi-finals encounter to gain the finals; while Jung eliminated Dr. Jim Disse, who was an extra-hole winner over Phil LeGault in a first round match.

In the first flight competition, Dr. A. E. Jacobson and Frank Tunberg are the finalists. Dr. Jacobson defeated Dr. M. G. Johnson in a semi-finals match, while Tunberg edged out Bob Bredeson. Earl Hackert, winner over Stan Dahlen in a semi-finals match, will play Jack Madsen for the second flight championship.

Bob Struck, defeating Wally DuChamp in an extra-hole contest, won the third flight honors. In fourth flight play, Ed Kiland and Milt Kelerson are the finalists. Dr. Ed Gilbert won the fifth flight championship by defeating Dave Vaaler.

The sixth flight finals will be contested by Bob DuChamp and Orvis Olen. Bud Kelly, by defeating Dr. Ralph Helm in the finals, won the seventh flight championship. And Otis Wold, in a match that went several extra holes, defeated Arnold Trost for the eighth flight honors.

Lions Defeat (?) Rotarians at Golf

Nearly 60 Take Part in Inter-club Tournament

With the Lions club as host, nearly 60 Lions and Rotarians took part in the convivial annual inter-club golf tourney and dinner at the Thief River Golf club last Wednesday evening.

Bill LaFave, past president of the Lions club, officiated at an informal after-dinner program, in the course of which he announced that the scorekeepers, all Lions, had ruled that the Lions had won the tournament by a decided but undisclosed margin.

The tin-can trophy, which has been held by the Rotarians, alleged winners of last year's tourney, could not be produced at the meeting, and fears were expressed that the irreplaceable relic had permanently disappeared.

Hockey to Be Topic in C & C Room Friday

President LaFave Says Question Is League or Independent Hockey

Bill LaFave, president of the Thieves senior hockey organization, announced that a general meeting will be held in the Auditorium's Civic & Commerce room on Friday night, August 28th, at 8:00 p. m.

President LaFave stated that the meeting is being called for the purpose of determining the sentiments of the fans toward the approaching hockey season. Said Mr. LaFave, "We want to know if the fans want independent or league hockey this year. We want to learn if the fans want us to concentrate on local players. Or if we should hire players, and if these "imports" should be limited to three, or four, or five, or, as last year, six. The outcome of the meeting Friday night will determine the action that will be taken by our representative at the Northwest Hockey league meeting that will be called shortly."

Everyone interested in hockey is invited to be in attendance, and an especial invitation is extended to the city's younger hockey players. If any hockey enthusiast has any criticism on the manner in which the hockey organization was managed and conducted last year, the officers will welcome such criticism and accept any suggestions that may be offered.

St. Hilaire Winner in Loop Playoffs

Will Represent North Minny League in Tourney

Northern Minnesota League (Playoff finals)

	Won	Lost	Pct.
St. Hilaire	2	0	1.000
Erskine	0	2	.000

Results of Sunday's game:
St. Hilaire, 11, at Erskine, 0.

The St. Hilaire Saints, for the second successive year, will represent the Northern Minnesota baseball league in the regional Class B tournament that will be played at Ada next week. The Saints won the championship of the Northern Minny loop and gained a berth in the regional, by defeating the Erskine Merchants, 11 to 0, to close out the best-of-three series by a two games to zero margin.

The highlight of Sunday's encounter was the pitching of St. Hilaire's veteran righthander Woody Almquist. Almquist had a no-hitter on the book for seven innings, and allowed the heavy-hitting Erskine nine two hits in fashioning the shutout.

Gamma Globulin Supply Increased

Patients up to Age 30 Eligible to Receive It

With assurance that additional supplies of gamma globulin, the temporary polio preventive, will be available, the Minnesota department of health announces today that age limits for household contacts of polio patients eligible to receive globulin are being raised.

Such contacts who are 30 years old or under will be able to receive globulin from their family physicians. Previously the upper age limit for such contacts was 15 years. Pregnant women of any age, who are living in the household of a polio case, continue to be eligible for this blood material felt to be helpful in preventing polio for a short period of time.

The polio peak session is at hand. With more cases in the young adult group, the age limits are raised to provide every available safeguard against the disease, Department of Health spokesmen concluded.

Local Man Fined after Collision with Parked Car

While driving north on Crocker av. in a pickup truck Saturday afternoon at 3:30, Arthur C. Larson hit a parked car owned by Frank Burton of Bemidji, then went thru the stop sign on Third st. and ended up against a tree. Police arrested Larson on a charge of driving a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating liquor, and, brought into court early this week, he paid a fine of $100 and $5 costs. Damage to the Burton car was estimated at $58.

A car driven by Oscar Vigness, proceeding west on Second st., was hit as it crossed Main av. by a car driven by Quentin Lockrem of Seattle, Wash., and owned by Rueben Lockrem of this city. Damage to the two cars was appraised by police at $90.

Judge H. O. Chommie conducted a trial August 18 of the case of Carlie Johnson, who had pleaded not guilty in July 1952 to a charge of driving a car while under the influence. He was found guilty and fined $100 and $6.50 costs.

Standing Room Only

Indications are that Red Lake Falls' Riverside Park will be crammed to capacity on Thursday night when the Crookston Pirates and Thieves meet in an important second round Red River Valley league playoff game.

The Thieves, playing a jittery brand of ball, edged out Nielsville, 3 to 2, in a first round game on Sunday afternoon; while the Crookston Pirates, exhibiting a strong attack, clubbed out a 13 to 4 decision over Orv Bergman and the Alvarado Farmers. The Pirates' win proved costly for Crookston as the Pirates lost the services of Kenny Dupuis. Dupuis, who was pitching for the Pirates, was a baserunner, having reached second, and on an attempted pick-off play, Dupuis and the Alvarado second sacker collided, with Kenny coming out of the melee with a broken right leg. Dupuis' loss will put quite a burden on the Crookston pitching staff, with righthander Dom Palmincino and Toddy Johnson being slated to handle the hurling duties in the remaining tourney games. The Thieves will make their bid against the Pirates by sending lefty Phil LeGault to the mound. And if stout-hearted Phil has his control, and if his curve-ball has its customary break, the Pirates are due for a rough evening.

By the way, the Thieves have played a rallying brand of ball on the Red Lake Falls diamond. Sunday's 3 to 2 win over Nielsville was the fourth straight game that the Thieves had won on the Red Lake Falls diamond by coming up with a late-inning rally. Playing against the Crookston Pirates a couple of weeks ago, the locals trailed by a 5 to 0 score into the 7th inning, and then they rallied to win that game, 6 to 5. Against the Warren-Argyle Twins, the Thieves trailed by a 1 to 0 score in the 7th inning, and the locals won that contest, 4 to 1. Playing the Red Lake Falls Lakers, the Thieves were behind, 7 to 5, entering the 9th inning, and then pulled that game out of the loss column, winning by an 8 to 7 score. On Sunday afternoon, Nielsville gained a 2 to 0 lead going into the 6th frame, only to have the Thieves pick up runs in the 6th, 7th and 8th innings to win the game.

Oh yes, we picked the Alvarado Farmers to win the league playoffs.

Sizzling Sue

Sue Prichard, who will be teaching girl's physical education at Bagley this year, played a record-breaking round of golf over the local course last week. Sue, playing with Iva and Fred Kavanaugh, shot a spectacular 37, just two strokes above men's par figures, and was one stroke under ladies' par.

Sue, using her new set of McGregor irons, marked her card like this: 454 354 444 — 37. She carded five pars, getting fours on the 1st, 3rd, 6th, and 7th holes, and trey on the 4th. Sue scored bogies on the 2nd, 5th, and 8th holes, and score a birdie four on the long 9th hole.

Miscellany

Having the lead role in the "mystery of the week" is Stan Larson. Stan played in the shortstop golf tournament at Mahnomen on Sunday, and reached the finals in the championship flight, losing in a match that was concluded by car-light. Stan left for home via Fosston, but somewhere in the hills he lost his "homing pigeon" instinct, and became lost. It was not until 2:00 a. m that Stan reached his destination at 820 N. Arnold. The Larson household was in plenty of excitement until Stan made his belated appearance. A committee is being formed to provide Stan with a true-north compass—Vic Jung, who qualified for the state amateur golf tournament, played his first round match on Monday, meeting the state public links champion Don Hollick, and lost a 4 to 3 decision.

Former Rep. Knutson Succumbs in Wadena

Services for former Rep. Harold Knutson, who died Friday at Wesley hospital at Wadena, were held Tuesday in Wadena Congregational church. Burial was in St. Cloud.

Born in Norway, Mr. Knutson rose from a printer's apprentice to a position which made him one of the most controversial figures in Washington.

A Republican, he served in congress 32 years—from 1916 to 1948—as a representative of Minnesota's sixth district and at large. In his bid for a 17th term in 1949 he was upset by Democratic-Farmer-Laborite Fred Marshall, Grove City, present sixth district congressman.

When Republicans gained control of the 80th congress in 1946, Mr. Knutson became chairman of the house ways and means committee, considered the most powerful of all congressional committees because it originates tax bills.

Mr. Knutson's long political career began with a job as a page boy in the Minnesota senate. He later worked as a "printer's devil" with the Clear Lake Times and the Foley Independent.

Then he became editor of the Royalton Banner, and later he purchased the Foley newspaper.

Until a few days before being hospitalized, Mr. Knutson, a bachelor, had appeared regularly at the Wadena Pioneer-Journal, a weekly paper which he published. He had returned to Wadena in June from his winter home in Venice, Fla.

SOURCE AND AMOUNT OF STATE'S TAX REVENUE

Income tax at $67,456,733 accounts for 29.3% of Minnesota's total tax revenues. Gasoline's $38,556,427 is second at 16.75%. Occupation and royalty taxes on iron mines yield $29,029,175 for 12.6% third place, motor vehicles rank fourth at $26,662,599 for 11.6% of the total. In fifth place are utilities earnings taxes, $17,809,669, 7.7% of the total; sixth, alcoholic beverage taxes total $12,994,798 for 5.6%, then general property tax yielding $12,376,254, 5.4%. In eighth place is unemployment insurance tax, ninth cigarette tax, each around $11½ million, while insurance tax in 10th place drops to about $5½ million, followed by inheritance tax $3 million, oleo tax not quite half a million, then gift, mortgage registry, corporate fees, aircraft taxes, each less than $200,000, with vessel tonnage tax of $8,879 the least of all seventeen.

TIME FOR SOUND PLANNING

Hearings are now being held in Calgary before the Alberta petroleum and natural gas conservation board on several applications for permission to export natural gas to points in Canada and the United States. Minnesota's Twin Cities and the head-of-the-lakes markets figure in the plans of the companies that would bring the gas to our country. Smaller communities along the way probably would be served as they are in other areas through which natural gas is piped.

In the course of the next few years Thief River Falls may have an opportunity to secure not only natural gas from either the Canadian or Dakota fields but also electric power from the Missouri River developments. The possibilities are sufficiently probable to justify serious consideration in our planning for future utility expansion.

It has been suggested that with these prospective new sources of heat and power, along with the usual problems of providing adequate utility facilities for a growing community, there should be created a citizens committee to study the possibilities. We like the idea.

There is need for a thorough study of our present operations. Our public business has become big business. Our utilities have grown big with little guidance or long-term planning, under the direction of a governmental administration that changes frequently and in which there is little stability.

During the years that are immediately ahead of us we probably will have to make more than the usual number of important decisions as a city. Our answers to some of these questions will have far-reaching consequences. A committee of representative citizens, approaching these problems free from the concern of ordinary political considerations and with no other responsibility than the power to recommend, probably would come up with some sound ideas.

The work of such a committee would stimulate public interest in these problems and encourage general discussion of the issues. This result alone would justify the appointment of such a committee.

THE PORNOGRAPHIC PRESS

Many responsible individuals and organizations advocate some form of censorship as a curb on the manufacture and sale of lewd matter that classifies generally as pornography. They are opposed by other responsible individuals and organizations and this opposition is based on an understandable fear that legal censorship could become an unreasonable restraint on freedom of expression and do more harm than good. As they see it, to give to any individual or group of individuals the authority to select for us the things that are proper and to withhold from us that which is thought to be improper would be a dangerous encroachment on our rights and a threat to some of the basic principles of freedom upon which our government is founded.

Such opposition to censorship however is not in any sense an opposition to restraint. In any well ordered society there must be restraint. In questions of morals generally, and on the question as to what is pornographic particularly, the most effective restraint is the force of public opinion. The moral standards of a nation are not determined by its statutes as much as by the influences of religious training and the traditions of family organization.

There is much public resentment now over the manner in which a recent report on a scientific study of some of the problems of sex has been pulicized. Whether or not the Dr. Kinsey study has resulted in some real and worthwhile contribution to the sum total of human knowledge is not the question. The resentment is based on the manner in which this report has been handled by some newspapers and magazines, placing obvious emphasis on that which is sordid.

Here is an example of a scientific study being reported in the style of the pornographer. It is introduced with all the professions of scientific interest of a barker selling tickets at a carnival sideshow. It is the sort of thing that a legal censor would have no power to curb. The only possible curb is the force of public resentment. And it is resented because it debases the family, striking at the foundation of our standards of decency, a traditional respect for motherhood.

Selling sex, it seems, has always been a cash register success. Whether the sale is for cash or for circulation, it is a panderer's profession. Selling sex may make a publisher rich. But selling sex is not the sort of thing that makes any newspaper really great.

BEEF IS PLENTIFUL—EAT HEARTY

Business Week devoted considerable space in its last week's issue to the ups and downs of the cattle market. The article included a chart on the number of beef cattle on the farms and ranges each year over a period of the past eighty years. According to their figures the beef population of the country is now at an all-time high and better prices for the growers are not in sight for several years.

Since 1918 there has been a steady increase in this population. That year the number went up 600,000. In 1949 the total increased another million. In 1950 it jumped by four millions, increased six millions in 1951 and another five millions in 1952. Then the market started backing up and since then has continued to drop. And unless something unexpected happens we are due for several years of low prices before a normal relationship between supply and demand is restored, the magazine states.

To the consumers its advice is "Eat hearty. It'll be a long time before you have it so good again."

It is estimated that the elementary and secondary school enrollment in our country will be greater than a year ago by 1,800,000 and in order to provide for this greatly increased number of pupils many schools will adopt a two-shift schedule. This year's increase is merely a part of a trend. Births are running higher than ever before and the need for expanded facilities will be a continuing problem for years to come. Under the circumstances any talk of tax relief is based on wishful thinking.

HOW DOES YOUR CAR STACK UP?

One of every four motor vehicles on Minnesota highways needs service attention to make it safe. Faulty brakes are most general, followed by defective headlights; rear lights and steering apparatus tie for third place on the "below par" list. Other neglected auto features are exhaust, windshield wipers, tires, glass, horn, and rearview mirror. With schools starting all over the state, this is an ideal time of year to bring every feature of every automobile up to safety par.

You can tell in an instant it's a Very great 8

At idling speed, the engine of this 1953 Buick is deceptively docile.

All you hear is a silken whisper, a kitten purr, a smooth flow of air channeling quietly through metal passageways.

Then—you want to go. You nudge the pedal. You go.

That's when you discover that you're sitting behind an engine of electrifying response.

That's when you begin to know how the power of the first Fireball V8 can handle getaway, cruising, hill-climbing.

That's when you learn what Buick's highest-compression engine in fifty great years can mean in spirited and soul-satisfying road command.

It's an experience too wonderful to miss—the bossing of this brilliant new V8 Engine that powers every 1953 Buick SUPER and ROADMASTER.

So we cordially invite you to come in and try it.

We cordially invite you to hold rein on this truly advanced V8—the world's first V8 with vertical valves, with "T" type intake manifold, with zero-power-loss muffler—and the first standard-production American passenger-car engine to reach 8.5 to 1 compression ratio.

Why not come in for a sampling?

That way you can also try the other Buick gems—like Twin-Turbine Dynaflow*—and the Million Dollar Ride—and the room and visibility and handling ease of the greatest Buicks yet. Can you make it this week?

State Fair Ore Dock

FAIR TIME IS ALMOST HERE, and display builder Richard McCarthy is busy putting last minute touches on this scale model of a Minnesota iron ore dock—part of the iron mining industry's exhibit at the Ramp entrance of the Grandstand Building. An electric ore train will bring loads of "iron ore" to the dock from a miniature open-pit mine. This year's exhibit will place great emphasis on the latest developments in taconite and low-grade ore processing. By means of schematic panels you will see the progress of these once-worthless ores from mine to finished product—and you will see how tremendously complicated and costly iron mining has become. It's a fascinating exhibit, devoted to one of our state's great industries. Don't miss it!

An estimated crowd of about 2500 people attended the Farmers Union picnic at Pine Lake Sunday which was held on the grounds with the weather cooperating to the fullest. Senator Hubert Humphrey gave a very interesting speech on a platform decorated with blue and orange colored crepe paper streamers and a huge bouquet of gladioli.

Mrs. Coya Knutson introduced the Senator and a tremendous applause arose from the crowd. William Nystrom, vice president of the State Farmers Union also Farmers Union Legislative representative spoke to the people. Representative of Clearwater Co. Walter Day also spoke as did the Red Lake county president of the Farmers Union Alvin Fore.

Senator Humphrey says Farm prosperity is economy base.

The whole economy is dependent on a prosperous agriculture Sen. Humphrey told Red Lake and Clearwater county Farmers at their annual picnic.

Farmers, Humphrey said, are big consumers as well as big producers. Unless they have some cash in their pockets the cash register can't jingle on Main street. And unless merchants have customers in our agriculture trading centers they can't buy manufactured goods.

Any sudden decline in farm purchasing power gradually reflects itself through our entire economy, curtailing business and cutting down jobs in industry, Humphrey said. For that reason danger signs now on the horizon falling farm prices, should be everybody's concern.

Mrs. Tom Melby and boys spent a few days last week at Detroit Lakes where Mr. Melby joined them for the weekend.

TEMPORARY CROP STORAGE PLUS PERMANENT MACHINERY PROTECTION

Until you get a building of this kind up and functioning you cannot fully realize its tremendous worth. We do not have to tell you what machinery costs . . . but I guess we do have to remind you to protect that investment. Space for a big machine shop . . . space for temporary crop storage . . . and space for machinery. This Central Lumber designed building is rock bottom in price . . . yet sturdy in construction. We'll build to any size you specify. This one is laid out 28 by 42. Plans are here in the office. Monthly payments can be conveniently low.

This Climate Invites the Overhead Garage Door

We like the Fairway because it offers a little extra space for a tool bench and storage. This is 14 by 21 feet. That gives comfort in parking the car and a lot of "edge" room. You can have a garage of any dimension desired . . . complete . . . on low monthly payments.

Conservation Dept. Plans Exhibit at Fair

Visitors at the Minnesota state fair during the 10-day period August 29 through September 7 will have the opportunity to see a complete exhibit of conservation in Minnesota.

The huge log conservation building on the south side of the grounds attracts about one-half of all the people entering the grounds. The exhibits of the five divisions and the conservation moving pictures shown by the bureau of information of the conservation department provide a picture of the state's natural resources.

In the division of forestry the work of growing trees in the two state nurseries and reforestation of public and private lands will be shown. Pictures and miniature displays of nursery production will be set up. Tools and machines for planting, including a light-weight two man planting machine will be in the exhibit.

About 30 kinds of common fishes of Minnesota will be exhibited in the fish tanks inside the building. With the cages of common Minnesota birds and animals, the game and fish division exhibits are without doubt the most popular at the fair. Not only are trout, pike and pan-fish shown, but rough fish such as carp, buffalo, and garfish will occupy a tank or two.

The division of lands and minerals will show the iron ore industry, samples of minerals found in the state and various uses of land owned by the state. Information relative to the sale and leasing of state lands will be available.

The recreational use of the outdoors is shown in the division of parks exhibit, special emphasis will be made this year to explain the new automobile windshield permit plan which has been set up to help finance the repair, rebuilding and improvement of park facilities.

2,500 Lose Driver Permits Monthly

5,077 Licenses Revoked in Seven Months of 1953

An average of more than 2,500 Minnesota motorists have had their drivers licenses either revoked or suspended during each of the seven months of this year according to a report issued today by the drivers license division of the state highway department. It shows that a total of 5,077 licenses had been revoked through July 31, while another 12,849 had been suspended for varying periods of time.

Being deprived of their licenses evidently did not deter some drivers, because 1,728 were found to be driving following revocation or suspension during the seven-month period, with 222 of them apprehended during July.

Likewise, 775 motorists who had sustained earlier convictions for drunken driving assumed that "lightning doesn't strike twice in the same place" but found that the old adage isn't true and felt the full weight of the law for their repeated transgressions.

While the police and courts were busy curtailing the driving activities of motorists, the state's driver examiners were just as busy qualifying applicants to receive their driving permits. A total of 72,881 "inside" tests were given during the seven-month period, while 65,553 applicants took driving tests.

Sales of 100,000 Park Stickers in Prospect for '53

Nearly 50,000 Sold to Date, Division of State Parks Reports This Week

State park officials are pleased over the fact that letters and messages of approval for the $1.00 windshield park sticker are being received.

"We feel that the public acceptance of the annual permit plan to finance repair and extension of park facilities is increasing," John H. Martin, deputy director of the division, said today.

Sale of the park sticker permit is approaching the 50,000 mark and may reach 100,000 when all the returns are made by the county auditors and agents at the end of the year.

Martin said that the number of visitors in the state parks to July 1 was about 900,000 which is greater than last year. The attendance for July has not been totaled, but park officials believe that it will drop from last year because of the rain and adverse weather conditions which have prevailed every weekend.

Old-age Insurance Payments Now Go to Over 3,000,000

Almost 1,000,000 Added to Rolls in Past 2 Years, Says Grand Forks Manager

Over three million retired workers are now getting old-age insurance payments. The three million mark was reached during July, Walter D. Kistler manager of the Grand Forks social security office, said today.

The number of retired workers on the benefit rolls increased by almost one million during the last two years. In contrast, more than eleven years had passed after the beginning of monthly social security insurance payments before the two million figure was reached in April 1951.

The more than three million persons now getting old-age insurance benefits based on their employment or self-employment in work covered by the law are not the total of persons aged 65 or over getting payments, Mr. Kistler pointed out. In addition, more than a million and a quarter people are getting monthly benefits as the aged wives or dependent husbands of retired workers; or as aged widows, dependent widowers, or dependent parents of deceased insured workers, he said.

For all of the three million retired-worker beneficiaries the average old-age benefit being paid at the end of June was a little over $50 monthly. Of these, about 550,000 were receiving benefit payments based on employment or self-employment after 1950. Their average was about 65. This higher average is due to two main factors. First, earnings in general are much higher and more regular in the period since 1950 than they were in the period from 1937 through 1950. Also, before 1951, the highest annual earnings that could be counted toward social security benefits was $3,000, while monthly wages or self-employment net income up to 3,600 a year can be counted after 1950.

State's Citizens Collect More Life Insurance Money

Minnesota families received $15,830,000 in life insurance death benefits in the first half of this year, compared with $15,045,000 in the corresponding period of last year, it is reported by the Institute of Life Insurance. This years' payments were 34 percent greater than those in the corresponding period eight years ago, when the six-month total was $11,853,000.

The number of policies paid off because of death in the first six months of 1953 was 8,602, which compared with 8,798 in the first half of 1952 and 7,852 in the first half of 1945.

"The rise in death benefit payments in the years since World War II directly reflects the greatly increased role of life insurance in meeting the family protection needs of the American people," Holgar J. Johnson, president of the Institute said in announcing the figures.

"Never Sick a Day in My Life"
Mrs. Drury

Resting comfortably in her home, Mrs. Loella Drury, of Excelsior would say "Amen" to the fact that a person just never knows when sickness will strike. Mrs. Drury had never been sick a day in her life until a stroke forced her to become hospitalized for 70 days.

After her prolonged hospital stay, she was extremely grateful she hadn't let her hospitalization protection drop. A subscriber to two non-profit Minnesota health plans, Mrs. Drury says, "Would you believe that after 70 days in the hospital, all I had to pay of my hospital bill of $1,[illegible] was the $25 deductible and $[illegible] for a special service."

The non-profit health plans which provided Mrs. Drury with the vital hospital, medical and surgical care protection she needed were Blue Cross and Blue Shield. "I'm certainly thankful to have Blue Cross and Blue Shield," Mrs. Drury says, "and to know that I can keep this protection just as long as I wish."

Complete free details on the Blue Cross $25 Deductible hospital care plan, which protected Mrs. Drury so well, and the Blue Shield medical-surgical care plan may be obtained by writing directly to Blue Cross-Blue Shield, Dept. WP-7, 2610 University Ave., St. Paul 14, Minn. A postcard will do.

Marriage vows were exchanged on Sunday, August 23 at 3 o'clock in the Faaberg Lutheran church at Rindal, when June Krogstad, daughter of Albert Krogstad of Fertile became the bride of Harry Young, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Young of Middle River.

Rev. H. E. Engh performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride given in marriage by her father, was attired in a chapel length gown of white net and lace over satin. Her finger-tip veil was held in place by a colonial cap made of pearls. Her only jewelry was a gold cross necklace, a gift from the groom. She carried a fan bouquet made of Chantilly lace with white cyps and pink rapture roses.

The bride's attendants were her sisters, Miss Myrtle Krogstad, maid of honor, and Miss Frances Krogstad, bridesmaid. They wore ballerina length gowns of net over taffeta in forest green and mint green respectively. They wore gold cross necklaces and carried fan bouquets of white carnations. The flower girl was Susan Sollie, who wore a gown of pink organdy and carried a basket of sweet peas. She also wore a gold cross necklace, a gift of the bride. The ring bearer was Jimmie Huseth of Thief River Fall, cousin of the groom. He wore a white suit and carried the rings on a white satin pillow.

Attending the groom were Thomas Hughes of Middle River as best man, and Howard Hanestad of Badger, a cousin of the groom. The groom and his attendants wore gray flannel suits with green ties and boutonnieres of white carnations. Russel and Jimmie Krogstad, brothers of the bride, were the ushers.

The groom's mother wore a green dress with black accessories. Her corsage was of white cyps and pink rapture roses.

The groom's grandmothers were both in attendance and wore corsages of gladioli and baby mums.

Miss Olga Harstad, organist, played pre-nuptial music and the traditional wedding marches. She also accompanied Miss Doris Krogstad who sang "O Perfect Love" and "Crown With Thy Benediction".

A reception was held in the church parlors for approximately three hundred guests. Mrs. Roy Erickson, sister of the bride, and Mrs. Clifford Krogstad acted as hostesses. Mrs. Oliver Davidson, aunt of the groom and Mrs. Richard Krogstad, aunt of the bride, poured. The five-tiered wedding cake was cut and served by Mrs. Harlan Huseth, aunt of the groom, and Miss Maxine Hjelle.

Assisting at the buffet table were the Misses Janice and Audry Haugen; Hazel Ann Hanestad, Janice Ofstedal; Marlys and Angeline Refling, Pearl Pederson and Elaine Harstad. In charge of the kitchen were Mrs. Clifford Messelt, Mrs. Fritz Wahlin, Mrs. Palmer Uiland and Mrs. William Harstad.

Roseau Man Wins Top Butter Award at Minnesota Fair

Clifford Skime First Among 165 Entries with Score of 99.66

Dairymen from Roseau, Pine Island and Faribault were named winners in the 1953 Minnesota State fair butter and cheese competition Saturday.

Clifford Skime, Farmers Cooperative creamery, Roseau, topped buttermakers with a score of 99.66.

Cheddar cheese winner was Malcolm Kollasch, Minnesota Cheese Producers association, Pine Island. His 36-pound wheel of cheese scored 99 points, outclassing a field of 20 entrants.

Three men from Treasure Cave, Faribault, led in the miscellaneous cheese classification. They were A. T. Melgaard, first; Dan Miellier, second, and Aaron Paquette, third.

Robert Geiger, superintendent of the state fair dairy department, said entries this year were heaviest in history.

Geiger said 165 samples of butter were submitted for the contest. They will be exhibited during the fair which opens Saturday and concludes Labor day, Sept. 7.

Albin Gustafson, Palisade, Minn., Co-op. Creamery, was second in butter competition with a score of 99.17 points. Oscar J. Nelson, also of Roseau was third with 99.16.

Abundance of Food in U. S. This Fall

'U' M. Market Specialist Reports on Prospects

Americans can expect to eat well during the rest of 1953.

Near-record supplies of food at prices averaging a little lower than a year ago are in prospect for consumers during the coming months of 1953, Mrs. Eleanor Lomis, extension consumer marketing agent at the University of Minnesota, reported today.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture expects the largest increases in beef, fresh vegetables, potatoes and swet potatoes. Supplies of dairy products, eggs and chicken are also expected to be at or above last year's levels.

There will be more beef and less pork this fall and winter than was the case a year ago. The large numbers of cattle on farms have resulted in the heavy marketings for beef slaughter. The smaller pig crop this spring accounts for the fact that pork and lard supplies in the last half of 1953 will be below those of a year ago.

An increase in eggs is anticipated for this fall because poultry farmers bought more baby chicks during the spring and early summer and those birds will start laying eggs this fall.

There are more cows than a year ago, and on the average they are producing a little more milk per cow. Consequently there will be plenty of fresh milk, butter, cheese, powdered skim milk and other dairy products.

Fats and oils of all kinds will continue to be abundant for table use and cooking.

Notable improvement in the supplies of potatoes is indicated for this fall compared with a year ago. Prospects are for plenty of most vegetables and fruits.

Although consumer demand is likely to continue strong, retail prices in general probably will continue to average a little below a year ago.

Lower prices for fish, dairy products, vegetables and potatoes will be mainly responsible for the slight decline. Prices of processed fruits, sugar and cereal products probably will be higher than they were during the last half of 1952.

Lutheran Welfare Society to Meet

Area Session Scheduled at Fisher September 15

This year the Lutheran Welfare Society of Minnesota will bring to this community an explanation of new services available through the county welfare board.

The Minnesota department of public welfare and the Lutheran Welfare Society are cooperating to bring the local field representative of the state department to speak on the subject, "New Welfare Programs and Your County." This discussion will climax the morning session of the Lutheran Welfare workshop in this area to be held at Fisher, September 15.

The 1953 legislature has established two new services which affect this county. These services are a program for aid to the permanently and totally disabled, and case work service for persons committed to a state mental institution and those returning to their home communities from a state mental hospital. Such services will be available through the local county welfare board.

Groups Endorse Brandt Memorial

Support Campaign for $250,000 Research Fund

Several dairy and industrial groups have pledged support to establishment of the John Brandt foundation to promote research in the field of dairying, it was announced Wednesday.

Among groups which have endorsed the foundation are the Minnesota Bankers association, Minnesota Creamery Operators and Managers association, Minnesota Milk council, Northwest Association of Ice Cream Manufacturers, Minnesota Poultry and Hatchery Industry, Association of Public Utilities and the Minnesota Dairy Industry Committee.

The foundation has been set up as a memorial to the late John Brandt, president of Land O'Lakes Creameries, Inc., and a National dairy industry leader.

Goal of the foundation is $250,000 for grants to aid in the production, improvement, marketing and utilization of milk and its products.

Less Butterfat, More Milk Is Used

U. S. Demand for Dairy Products Is Shifting

The United States is in the midst of a revolution in its use of milk and milk products, according to W. H. Dankers, extension economist in marketing at the University of Minnesota.

Shifts in the way Americans are making use of their milk supply is one of the reasons for our present surplus of dairy products. Other reasons are the competition from substitutes and the loss of foreign outlets for dried milk.

Americans are consuming less butter, Dr. Dankers explains, but more milk and other manufactured dairy products. During 1935-39 we were using on the average about 17 pounds of butter per person a year; since then per capita consumption has dropped to a little below nine pounds a year. On the other hand, consumption of whole milk, dried milk, canned milks, cheese and ice cream has increased, and the use of nonfat dry milk, various skimmed milk drinks, cottage cheese and other products containing nonfat milk solids is steadily expanding.

Altogether there has been a decrease of four pounds per capita in butterfat consumption but there has been a seven-pounds increase in the consumption of non-fat solids since the period of 1935-39, Dr. Dankers says.

The economist looks for further increases in the domestic use of milk products other than butter. Dried skim milk is at present in surplus supply because of the loss of foreign outlets, but the use of this product domestically has increased rapidly, and further increases can be expected.

Meanwhile, milk production this year is expected to reach record levels and may be near 118 billion pounds. In 1952 it was 114 billion pounds.

Radio Stars Are Hired to Promote Dairy Products

The American Dairy Association has scheduled Bob Hope and Bob Crosby, two of the nation's top entertainers, to launch their new radio and television advertising campaign, it was announced by Lester J. Will, general manager.

"With the establishment of this radio and television schedule" said Will, "we will have in action a firm foundation toward our goal of a daily 'open line of communications' between the industry and the consumers; so important if we hope to have an increasing share of the food dollar. The radio-TV campaign, which will be in addition to the regular national advertising program, will enable us to deliver nearly 50-million messages for dairy foods every week."

On Tuesday, September 22, over 50 key stations of the coast-to-coast Coluumbia Broadcasting System television network, Bob Crosby will start the first of his Tuesday and Thursday afternoon telecasts for the association. The telecasts will be seen from 2:45 to 3:00 p. m., Central Standard Time.

Beginning Friday, September 25, Bob Hope will be heard over the 204 stations of the National Broadcasting Company's nationwide network from 7:30 to 8:00 p. m., Central Standard Time.

Hope, long-time one of radio's top comedians and salesmen, will present a weekly comedy similar to his very popular series of the past seasons. Crosby, famed band leader, vocalist and showman, will telecast a new afternoon variety-type show.

4-H Boys and Girls to Vie for Health Title at the Fair

"Just born healthy" is not enough.

The boy and girl who are named Minnesota's 1953 health achievement winners must be more than glowing health specimens, according to Leonard Harkness, state 4-H club leader.

Physical well-being is, of course, important, he said, and the 91 health winners from counties throughout the state will converge on state Christmas Seal headquarters, St. Paul, on Sept. 2 to receive complete medical and dental examinations.

These check-ups by doctors and dentists are made possible by the Minnesota Tuberculosis and Health association, the Minnesota State Medical association, and the Minnesota Dental association. Results count 40 percent toward the final score in the annual health achievement competition.

Of major importance in selecting the boy and girl to receive top-health honors at the Minnesota state fair will be their activities in improving their own health and the health conditions in their home and community. The county entrants submit written reports, and those rating high are interviewed and asked to tell about their health work.

Every county sends one boy or girl health winner to the state fair to compete for state honors.

Poultry Feed Economy

Looking for a simple, economical way to feed your pullets?

Out now is a report from Iowa State College showing that the biggest saving and profit per hen comes to the man who feeds his birds by the cafeteria method, using a high-protein balancer instead of a supplement containing 18 to 20%.

The report is for laying flocks but the same thing applies to range pullets—perhaps with an even greater prospect for economy.

The Iowa Extension Service ran their tests with 33 demonstration flocks, and found that the flocks fed the high-protein balancer returned the highest profit per hen ($1.72) at the lowest total feed cost (3.3c per lb.). This record was achieved with flocks fed by the cafeteria method.

Other profit records were as follows:

. . . Flocks self-fed 18-20% supplement made a profit of $1.67 per bird.

. . . Flocks hand-fed 20% balancer made a profit of $1.52 per bird.

. . . Flocks hand-fed 18-20% supplement made a profit of $1.07 per bird.

None of this is surprising to poultry raisers who have fed Archer 20% Poultry Balancer to their birds. For any farmer with ample grain on hand, we definitely recommend the Archer Poultry Balancer feeding plan as the most economical to follow for both range pullets and laying hens.

What's more, your savings in out-of-pocket cash are even greater than the figures above would indicate. This is because you can get maximum growth out of your pullets by feeding only one part of Archer Poultry Balancer to every three or four parts of grain. It takes only about 25 cents worth of Archer Poultry Balancer to feed one pullet for the entire range season. Can you beat that for economy?

Last year he unraveled and wound up a 10-pound ball of twine, to which he expects to add a good many more pounds this fall—thinks he'll have enough to go round a ball diamond 75 or 100 times.—Mrs. Lawrence Symanietz, Avon, and her sister, Mrs. Richard Yourczek, Minneapolis, collect unusual salt and pepper shakers—of which they're getting up close to 1,000 from all over the world.

Northwest Concert Association Ticket Sale to Start Friday

Since Tuesday noon volunteer workers for the Northwest Concert Association's annual membership drive have been busy preparing for their part in the campaign, which gets under way Friday. The workers have been reporting to the Civic and Commerce office, temporary headquarters of the association, to select names of prospective members on whom they will call during campaign week.

Each worker assumes responsibility for approximately ten calls. He is authorized to accept subscriptions for the concert series and has full information on the attractions available this year.

Volunteers who have not yet made their selections are asked to stop in at the office before 6:00 p. m. Thursday, so that they may have their assignments before attending the campaign kick-off dinner. The dinner, scheduled for 6:30 p. m. Thursday in Trinity Lutheran Church, is for the purpose of acquainting workers with one another and with campaign procedures.

The workers are divided into teams headed by chairmen who helped organize the drive. There are five chairmen from Thief River Falls, and several others who conduct the campaigns in nearby communities. Local chairmen are Dr. Forrest A. Rowell, Dr. Leo Travnicek, Mrs. Norman Holen, Mrs. Milton Starekow and association president David Vaaler.

After the Thursday dinner, workers will begin calling on Thief River Falls residents to tell them about the association and offer them the opportunity of attending its programs. They will have with them ballots on which those who join the association may vote on the talent available. Votes will be used to determine the choice of programs.

Talent is made available to the association by the Concert, Theatre and Lecture Service of the University of Minnesota. Vaaler announced that unusually fine selections are on this year's list. The U. of M. Touring Theatre, which has been very favorably received here in previous years, is available for performances of either "Our Town," Pulitzer prize winning play by Thornton Wilder, or "Cinderella Cottage," a new comedy comparable to "You Can't Take it With You."

One of the biggest attractions on the list in terms of both size and popularity is the Northwest Sinfonietta, a twenty-member orchestra which is making its seventh tour of this area in response to popular request. Soloists available include a young soprano who is considered a possible successor to Kirsten Flagstad; a piano prodigy; and a winner of the Metropolitan Opera Auditions of the Air. Vocal and instrumental ensembles are other possible choices.

All workers are urged by President Vaaler to select their calls and attend the dinner in order that they may be fully prepared to inform others about the association's offerings. Any interested person who is not contacted by one of the volunteers may obtain his membership by calling association headquarters. As the number of memberships is limited, Vaaler suggests phoning 471 within the next few days.

Man Fighting Fire Succumbs to Heart Spell

Halbert Halverson, 65, Had Lived in Rocksbury Township Past 45 Years

Halbert Halvorson, 65, for 61 years a resident of this community and a veteran of World War I, succumbed to a heart attack last Wednesday afternoon while seeking to confine a brush fire on the farm in Rocksbury township where he lived with his brother Carl and his sister, Mrs. Ida Lee.

When he collapsed, he fell into the fire, which burned his garments and attacked the flesh. The burning brush was some distance from the Halvorson home, and his plight was first noticed by Ray Oen, who was combining grain in a nearby field.

Oen hurried to the scene and pulled Halvorson's body out of the flames, but life was extinct.

Halvorson was born in Marshall county December 20, 1887, and came to Thief River Falls with his parents in 1892. Sixteen years later he moved to Rocksbury where he has since made his home. He served in the army from 1918 until 1919 and during the time he spent overseas was wounded in the Somme and Meuse battle.

He is survived by a sister, Mrs. Ida Lee and a brother, Carl Halvorson of Thief River Falls; also a nephew, Harold Langseth of this city; as well as several cousins.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. Arthur Grorud at the Gulbranson chapel Saturday afternoon and burial was made in Bethlehem cemetery. Pallbearers were Emil and Oscar Gustafson, Raymond, Bennie, Albert, and Morris Halvorson.

Drouth Here Ends as Rainfall Past Week Hits 3.33 In.

Two Inches Arrives Early Today; Damage Caused at Middle River by Storm

Continued showers during the past week, climaxed by a two-inch rainfall early this morning (Wednesday) brought to an end the prolonged dry spell that had prevailed in this locality the past two months. Total precipitation since last Thursday was 3.33 inches.

Rainfall was recorded as follows: Thursday, .18 inch; Friday, .08; Saturday, .87; Monday, .20; and today, 2 inches. Accompanying the showers were unseasonably high temperatures for this season, a maximum of 91 being recorded Monday afternoon, the hottest day of the summer. By Tuesday temperature had moderated to a maximum of 75.

This morning's rain was accompanied by a brilliant electrical display, as was the case with Saturday morning's storm, when lightning struck and destroyed all the hay on the Mosbeck farm near St. Hilaire.

Hail and a high wind did considerable damage in the Middle River area Monday evening. Sig Bredeson, cashier of the Middle River bank told a Times reporter that some heavy damage to flax and corn resulted from hail mainly southwest of the village with scattered damage in other directions. Robert Toren's barn, southwest of the city, was destroyed by wind. Another barn in the Gatzke community was reported to be damaged.

A lightning bolt early today knocked off the chimney at the court house, but fortunately no fire developed.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer G. Booth of Wheaton, Minnesota, visited Monday and Tuesday at the Neil McElwee home.

Block 38 Park Ruled out as Armory Site

Gen. J. E. Nelson, State Commission Head, Favors Either of 2 Other Sites

Brigadier General Joseph Nelson, adjutant general of the state of Minnesota and chairman of the state armory commission, met with city, county and National Guard officials Saturday inspecting available sites for the construction of an armory.

In reporting on the progress that is being made in the armory building program he stated there is a possibility that construction will get under way in Thief River Falls next spring.

Two possible sites that have come in for considerable controversy were ruled out by the general. The present location of the court house is not adequate, he stated, falling far short of the recommended minimum area requirements. Because of the opposition within the community to use of Block 38 for other than park purposes, he would not favor locating the armory in that area against the wishes of many local citizens.

He did state that either the block now occupied by the state highway department garage or the site that had been selected in the south part of the city for the location of a new Mercy hospital, would be acceptable. A further check is being made on the relative desirability and availability of these locations both by the state and by the local armory commission, Stephen Austin, chairman of the commission, said a recommendation would be made shortly.

Public Schools in T. R. Falls and Pennington Co. to Open Tuesday

City Faculty Numbers 82, with 15 New Teachers; 24 Rural Schools to Open

Public schools in Thief River Falls and elsewhere in Pennington, and other Northwestern Minnesota counties will open their fall terms next Tuesday morning, September 8. Pennington county will have 24 rural schools in operation this fall, one less than a year ago.

Out-of-town members of the Thief River Falls faculty, which numbers 82, are now converging on this city, the group including eight new high school teachers and seven new grade teachers. Bringing the total number of employes of School District 18 near the 100 mark are the staff of 11 maintenance men in addition to Supt. W. C. Claffy, his secretary, Winifred Wengeler; office secretary, Lillian Kristiansen; and the school nurse, Mrs. Margaret Race.

Mr. Claffy forecast an enrollment in the local schools about equal to that of last year, when a total of 2,030 students were in attendance in the grades and high school. He stated that new students who did not register last May for high school classes should do so not later than Saturday noon, September 5, and should be prepared to pay their $3 general fees at that time.

Claffy stated that the entire school faculty will meet at Lincoln high school Friday morning, September 4, while in the afternoon the high school teachers will meet in the Lincoln building and the grade teachers will assemble in their various schools.

All pupils who will be attending the seventh grade are requested to attend an orientation meeting to be conducted by Robert Nick, junior high school principal, Saturday morning, September 5, at 9 o'clock in Room 107 of the Lincoln building.

Parents of children who will attend kindergarten classes in the Northrop school are asked to bring their children to school in two groups Tuesday to avoid congestion. Those whose last names begin with the letters A to L are asked to come Tuesday morning, while those beginning with letters M to Z should come Tuesday afternoon.

All school buildings have been cleaned and renovated by the maintenance staff during the summer months, in addition to which the rooms in the old portion of the Northrop building all have been redecorated.

Water Treatment Plant Handles Big Volume in August

Long Dry Spell Results in Pumping Record Total of 21,337,400 Gallons

The Thief River Falls municipal water treatment plant set an all-time record in August when it pumped a total of 21,337,400 gallons, or an average of two-thirds of a million gallons per day, Harold M. Johnson, chief operator at the plant, stated yesterday.

The total compares with 17,038,000 gallons pumped in July and 14,377,100 gallons in June, and is nearly 4,000,000 gallons higher than the 17,674,800 gallons pumped in August 1952.

The heavy increase in August was due primarily to the prolonged dry spell which began in July, and which resulted in continued sprinkling of lawns and gardens.

The volume handled in August, while large, is well below the pumping capacity of the plant, which went into operation in the fall of 1950.

Joyce Stadum, Wm. J. Larson Wed at Trinity

Baskets of white gladioli and greenery before a background of palms graced the candle-lighted altar for the wedding of Joyce Marie Stadum, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Stadum of Thief River Falls, and William J. Larson, son of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Larson of St. Cloud. The ceremony took place in Trinity Lutheran church at eight o'clock Saturday evening, August 22. Rev. G. S. Thompson prompted the exchange of vows in a double ring service, with 150 wedding guests in attendance.

Mrs. Walter Ekeren was at the organ for a half-hour program of nuptial music as the guests assembled. Preceding the ceremony, Walter Ekeren sang "O Love That Casts Out Fear" and "Crown With Thy Benediction". The organist then played an arrangement of "Lord Jesus Christ Be Present Now" and this song was then sung from the balcony by Miss Corrine Johnson of Hoffman immediately preceding the processional. "O Perfect Love" was sung by Mr. Ekeren as the couple knelt at the altar, and "Now Thank We All Our God" was used as the recessional.

Given in marriage by her brother, Loren Stadum of Coleraine, the bride wore a ballerina length gown of white Chantilly lace and nylon tulle over net and satin, fashioned in a redingote effect with an accordian pleated tulle insert in the skirt. The fitted lace bodice featured a nylon tulle yoke, high jewel neckline, and long Mary Stuart sleeves. Her fingertip veil of silk imported illusion was caught by a bonnet of tulle and lace trimmed with seed pearls. The bride carried a white prayer book topped with feathered carnations centered with a detachable corsage of cymbidium orchids. Her only jewelry was a pair of pearl earrings, a gift of the groom.

Attending the bride were Mrs. Glenn Peterson, matron of honor, Mrs. Vernon Carlson, bridesmaid, and Caryl Adelman, junior bridesmaid. Mrs. Walter Ekeren was at the organ for a half-hour program of nuptial music as the guests assembled. Preceding the ceremony, Walter Ekeren sang "O Love That Casts Out Fear" and "Crown With Thy Benediction". The organist then played an arrangement of "Lord Jesus Christ Be Present Now" and this song was then sung from the balcony by Miss Corrine Johnson of Hoffman immediately preceding the processional. Careful Driving Urged as Schools Resume Sessions

State Auto Association Cooperating with Police and Legion in Campaign

"School's open—drive carefully."

That is the warning which will be sounded this week as thousands of Minnesota boys and girls prepared to return to their classes after the summer vacation.

Local police departments and American Legion posts throughout the state are joining hands with the Minnesota State Automobile association (AAA) in a special appeal to motorists to use extra caution while driving in school zones.

E. Ray Corey, Austin, president of the association, explained the purpose of the campaign. Said he:

"This campaign is designed to serve as a reminder to all drivers of the need for extra caution at this time of year. With the opening of school, thousands of Minnesota youngsters will be returning to their classrooms."

"Many of them will be in traffic for the first time," he added "and they are unaware of the traffic hazards they face. Motorists should regard every child as a danger signal, and always drive at a speed which will permit a sudden stop. No driver wants to be responsible for a tragedy involving an enthusiastic, playful child who didn't think about traffic hazards. It's up to the motorist to think for him, too."

State highway patrolman Sgt. George J. Kaisersatt, who is department chairman for the American Legion's safety activities, listed four driving rules which he said every driver should memorize at this time of the year:

1. Don't try to pass other cars on crowded streets;
2. Obey all stop signs;
3. Watch out for youngsters playing in the streets or in the vicinity of playgrounds;
4. Avoid speeding.

"School safety patrols and police will be on the job at many bad traffic corners," Kaisersatt said, "but all crossings cannot be protected in this way. Many children will face traffic at unprotected places . . . so be on the lookout."

OUR LAND

Prepared by the Minnesota Soil Conservation Service in cooperation with University Farm, St. Paul

Land Appreciation Contest

Minnesota's first state-wide 4-H land appreciation contest will be held in connection with "Plowville, '53" between Maple Lake and Buffalo September 26. County contests are now under way to select three-man teams, according to Roger Harris, extension soil conservationist at University Farm, who is in charge of the contests. In land appreciation or judging contests, contestants judge the land to determine the best way to use it. Some of the things the 4-H'ers look for in judging the features of the soil are these: color of topsoil, depth of soil and subsoils favorable to root growth, ease of air and water movement through subsoil, texture of topsoil, slope of land, degree of wind or water erosion.

Flood Damage

June flood damage to crops in eight of the northern townships in Martin county will run to about $275,000 according to I. H. Burnison, SCS Soil Conservationist at Fairmont. The high water was caused by the rampaging Elm Creek and Cedar Creek.

Hog Pasture

Why emphasize hog pastures? Here's an answere from L. E. Hanson, professor of animal husbandry at the University of Minnesota, to that question: In addition to being good for the soil, good pastures improve nutrition of the pig, save feed and labor, make parasite control easier. "There is no practical way of raising pigs efficiently without pasture," says Hanson. Good pastures supply protein. Lush alfalfa may contain better than 25 per cent protein on a dry basis; red clover, 23 per cent; brome, 20 per cent; rape, 17.8 per cent; rye, 25 per cent. Good pastures also supplies large amounts of carotene (vitamin A value) and riboflavin. It supplies other vitamins of the B complex and calcium.

Political Roundup

By Arthur Naftalin

Minnesota's 1954 election campaign promises to be an extended affair, running at least from next March through November.

The 8-month duration is assured by the recent action of the Democratic - Farmer - Labor Party executive committee in setting the 1954 state convention for sometime next March. This early date was deliberately selected as a means of offering a long "build-up" period for the Party's candidates who will oppose GOP incumbents.

Republicans, too, are planning to be on the job early. In fact, there have already been conferences of GOP leaders aimed at developing a strong ticket and at heading off any internal squabbles that could harm the Party's chances in the crucial mid-term elections.

Value of Early Action

In setting their state convention next March the DFL'ers are returning to the practice followed by the old Farmer-Labor Association, which customarily met the last week in the month. One advantage the date is felt to have is that it comes ahead of the planting season but after the more rigorous part of the winter, thus permitting wider participation by farmers.

It does, however, impose a 5-month period before the September primary, which sometimes is a burden to the candidates and allows just enough time for intra-party squabbling to develop. Also, the inevitable slump in interest during the summer months can have a disadvantageous effect upon the campaign.

For many years now the Republicans have avoided this problem by having their major state convention after the primary and before the general election. The GOP, however, might deviate from this pattern next year, if the leadership decided that the value of early action in selecting and endorsing a candidate for United States Senator would outweigh the disadvantages.

To Endorse or Not?

At the recent meeting of the DFL executive committee there was almost no talk of prospective candidates, and another meeting was projected for this purpose. Whether the dearth of interest in seeking office is just a momentary condition or whether this suggests something basic about the political drift, it is difficult to say, but both DFL and GOP leaders are finding the pickings somewhat scarce for first-rate aspirants who want to take a crack at the top incumbents of the opposing parties.

In this context the age-old question confronts the DFL in particular: Should the Party plan to endorse a full slate of candidates at its March meeting? If a lively contest should develop for the gubernatorial endorsement, the convention could find itself in the same situation that confronted the delegates in the 1950 convention when three candidates competed for the endorsement and the competition left some scars on the Party that it had to carry with it into the general election.

Lt.-Gov. Interest Grows

Interest in the Lieutenant-Governorship race continues to increase. Editors Carl E. (Buck) Davidson of New York Mills and Mark D. Isherwood of Sebeka have advanced the name of State Representative J. A. (Turp) Anderson of Otter Tail county for the Republication nomination for the post. Anderson has served three sessions in the legislature.

The grapevine reports, too, that State Chairman P. Kenneth Peterson of the Republican Party, frequently mentioned as a likely opponent to Senator Hubert H. Humphrey, also has his eye on the Lieutenant-Governor spot. The position is currently open following Ancher Nelson's resignation to become rural electrification administrator.

Drive on Legislature

The DFL came out recently with a tabloid newspaper summary of the 1953 legislative session, listing 18 issues which divided liberals and conservatives and which, in the DFL view, pointed to the need of defeating the conservatives in their bid for control of the 1955 session.

State Chairman Karl F. Rolvaag said the summary was to be given widespread distribution as part of a continuing campaign to emphasize the importance of a liberal legislative victory in '54. Republicans are reported to be preparing a similar analysis, giving the Republican slant which is favorable to the conservative position.

Four Lawmakers Quit

There will be at least four new faces in the 1955 legislative session. Resignations from their posts have been announced by State Senator A. L. Almen of Balaton, chairman of the 1953 senate committee on education, who has been appointed director of public relations for the Minnesota Education Association; State Senator Philip Duff, who has moved from Kasson to Red Wing; State Representative Leonard A. Johnson, who has left the 31st district and plans to run for Lieutenant - Governor on the DFL ticket, and State Representative Alfred Otto, who has moved from his St. Paul district and who has also been mentioned for statewide office on the Republican ticket.

Another vacancy was created by the death of State Representative Will Newton Nelson of Lyon County. A farm and cooperative leader, he had served from the 13th district since the 1939 session.

Shelter-belt Planning

Now is the time to prepare the ground for any shelter-belt planning you may want to do. The ground where next years trees will be planted should be cultivated very thoroughly from now until freeze-up.

This will conserve any moisture we may get and will also kill any grass or weeds in the soil. It's better yet, if it were summer fallowed since last spring. A good shelter belt not only improves the appearance of your farm, but increases its value and will also cut down the fuel bill and save feed costs in livestock outside. Trees will be available this winter from State Nurseries and the Conservation Department. These may be obtained for only a fraction of a cent per tree. Plan now to improve your farm for the coming year.

Dry Harvest Weather

This year we are fortunate in having such dry weather during harvest. Practically all the grain is plenty dry to store well. However, if it should turn wet and the late flax and corn has a high moisture contact, you might think about preservatives to keep grain from heating or molding in storage. At present there are none available recommended by the University.

The University has tested over 100 organic compounds used as preservatives. Relatively, few stopped molding, and those of those that did were poisonous, making it impossible to use for feed. Other experiment stations have reached the same conclusion.

Sheep Diseases

Donald Knutson was in last week, picked up a bulletin, on livestock pest control. He said some of his lambs weren't doing as well as they should, and he was going to worm them. If your sheep aren't making satisfactory gains it may be that they are infected with stomach worms, or tape worm. It only costs a few cents a sheep to treat them. A phenothiazine mixture or a copper sulphate nicotine drench may be used. Recommendations are in Extension Folder Number 147. It is available at your Extension Office.

Clean Up Dairy Barn Now

If we get another rainy day, this fall, it would be a good idea to clean up your dairy barn for the winter. Today it seems a long ways away, but it won't be long before you'll be brining the cows back in. This job is much easier if done while the barn is empty.

You might consider applying some of your fertilizer this fall, rather than wait until next spring. According to experiment stations and experiments of farmers throughout the state, yields of grain and hay were about the same on fall fertilized fields, as on those fertilized in the spring.

Pruning Raspberries

Raspberries should be pruned this fall for best results. If left unpruned, the rows soon become overcrowded and competition between the plants will result in short stems of poor vigor.

• • • • •

As everyone learns who grows raspberries, the stem above ground lives only two years. The first year the sprouts grow vegetatively and may reach a height of six or more feet. Usually this first-year is unbranched, but occasionally a few side branches may develop. The second year the cane fruits, and after fruiting slowly dies. Lateral fruiting branches develop during the second year.

• • • • •

Pruning should start as soon as the last berries have been picked. Cut out all the canes that bore fruits and thin out the new canes that came up this year. Cut out the weakest of these, leaving not more than three or four canes per foot of row if you are using the hedgerow system. Leave six to eight canes per hill if you are using the hill system.

• • • • •

In pruning, use a raspberry hook or a good pair of pruning shears. The advantage of the raspberry hook is that the pruning can be done in an upright position.

• • • • •

Remove all old canes from the raspberry patch and burn. Burning the old canes will destroy certain insect and disease pests that might overwinter in the old canes.

• • • • •

Pruning out the old and surplus canes now will make the job of winter protection easier. In areas where plants are not protected, pruning might be delayed until early spring. The old canes will help hold the snow and thus give some winter protection.

Electric utilities ordinarily maintain coal stockpiles that will last more than 100 days.

A Chain Letter Pays Off in Friendship, Not Money

About 16 or more years ago, Mrs. Louis Larson sent off a handkerchief in answer to a chain letter, to a young lady in Indiana. After all these years in corresponding by letters, exchanging gifts and pictures, Mrs. Larson had the pleasure of seeing this penpal in person.

On Monday forenoon, August 24th she was happily surprised by these people driving into her farm yard. They were Mr. and Mrs. Earl Rissler and daughter, Carolyn Kay, Mr. Keller, a stepfather of Mr. Rissler, and a lady friend passenger. Mrs. Larson treated her company to dinner at Marvin's cafe after which they left for Winnipeg, Canada. They planned to go into North Dakota, where Mr. Keller will vacation at the home of his son the remainder of the summer. The rest of the party plan to go to the Black Hills in So. Dakota and back home again to New Albany, Indiana. Even though they had never met before, Mrs. Larson said it was like meeting an old friend. One very interesting part about this pen pal was her yearly exchange of Christmas cards. They were always stamped and postmarked from Santa Claus, Ind., with a stamped mark of Santa and his reindeer.

Thieves Downed by Pirates in Playoffs

The Red River Valley loop playoffs proved a heart-breaker for the Thieves, as they became the victims of the Crookston Pirates and the elements. On Friday night, in a game against the Pirates, lefty Phil LeGault had a two-hit shutout and a 5 to 0 lead when a rain-shower halted play at the end of the 6th inning. Gene Leslie's blast over the left field barrier, with a pair of runners on base in the 1st inning, had given the locals an early lead.

After a wait of forty-five minutes, play was resumed, and Crookston, opening the 7th inning with a pair of singles, took advantage of a pair of walks and a triple by Bud Schraeder to score four runs. LeGault experiencing difficulty in pitching off of a "heavy" mound, issued a pair of walks to open the 8th inning.

An error and a sacrifice scored the tying and go-ahead run for the Pirates. Singles by Toddy Johnson, a double by Bunny Holz, a walk to Schraeder, and a double by Joe Rerick, boosted the Crookston scoring total to 11 runs.

The Thieves rallied for three runs in the bottom half of the 8th inning, and, in the 9th, had a runner on third base and the tying run on second base with two out, but Jack Hoppe lofted a pop fly to Glen Gumila to end the game.

On Sunday afternoon, in an elimination game played against the Alvarado Farmers, the Thieves, on a five-run "explosion" in the 5th inning, and a three-run cluster in the 8th inning, edged out Charley Pickens' team, 8 to 5. Alvarado's righthander, Orv Bergman, had a no-hit and no-run game until the 5th when LeGault, Swede Lund, and Leslie poled out doubles.

The Thieves, showing the effects of their gruelling game against Alvarado in the afternoon, were sluggish and erratic in their Sunday night's game against Crookston, committing thirteen errors. The Crookston Pirates, after scoring three runs in the 1st inning and a pair of tallies in the 2nd frame, "insured" the game with a ten-run outburst in the 3rd inning.

The always-trying locals came up with four runs in the 6th inning, and added four runs, driving Crookston's Toddy Johnson off the mound, in the 8th inning.

Crookston to Enter Class B Region Event

To Represent Red River Valley Loop in Playoffs Opening Thursday at Ada

Andy Carey's Crookston Pirates won the Red River Valley league playoffs by defeating a heat-drained Thieves team, 23 to 11, at Red Lake Falls on Sunday night. By virtue of their playoffs triumph, the Pirates earned a berth in the Class B regional baseball tournament that opens at Ada on Thursday night.

Crookston, as the representative of the Red River Valley loop, will meet the St. Hilaire Saints, champions of the Northern Minnesota league in a first round game on Friday night. The regional tournament, which will be determined on a double-elimination basis, will be opened on Thursday night when Ada, the winner of the Norman-Polk playoffs, meets Grygla, the representatives of the North Six circuit.

On Saturday night, at 8:00 p. m., the winners of the tournament's first round games will play. On Sunday afternoon, with game-time at 2:00 p. m., the losers of the two first round games will meet, with the loser being eliminated from the tourney and the winner of the game playing the loser of Saturday night's tilt. On Monday afternoon, at 2:00 p. m., the winner of Saturday night's game will play the winner of Sunday night's game in a finals game. If a sixth game is necessary, that contest will be played at 8:00 p. m. on Monday night.

Admission costs to the games will be 60c for adults and 35c for students. Officials for the regional tournament games will be Roy Lindell, Lloyd Fexler, and Ed Claussen.

Phil LeGault Is Victor in Soo Line Tourney Monday

Phil LeGault, defending champion Emil Larson in a tournament finals match on Monday afternoon, by a 1-up margin, won the Soo Line golf tournament that was played over the local course on Sunday and Monday. Larson won the tourney's low medal honors by scoring a 41 during Sunday's play.

Twenty players participated in the tourney, and the flight winners, runners-up, and consolation winners were as follows: Championship flight: Phil LeGault; Emil Larson; and Mel LeFeber. First flight: Ted Nolan; Elmer Sherman; and George Garver. Second flight: Maurice Hoffos; Andy Clausen; and Wm. Lavoie.

Vic Jung Takes City Golf Title 9th Time

Vic Jung, scoring a 2-up win in an eighteen-hole finals match against Stan Larson on Saturday afternoon, won his ninth city golf title, and his fifth consecutive championship. Jung, who won a couple of city golf championships before entering World War II service, has had a near-monopoly on the city title since 1946. Jung won the championship in 1946, '47, '49, '50, '51, '52, and '53, having had his string of victories broken by Orv Robertson in 1948.

Rudy Mehlhoff won the championship flight consolation honors by scoring a 3 and 2 win over southpaw Kenny Nelson.

Jung and Larson put on a ding-dong finals match on Saturday afternoon, with the results being in doubt until the 17th hole. With the match all even on the 17th tee, both golfers put their tee shots on the 17th green. Their approach putts stopped about four feet from the pin, with Jung being away by a couple of inches. Vic dropped his putt, while Stan's try curled away from the cup and he lost the hole and was one-down.

On the 18th, Larson had a fine drive, while Jung was off to the left and in the number one fairway. Stan "pressed" his next two shots, and the results were disastrous, getting off a couple of "rollers." Jung reached the green in three and was down in two putts for a par five, winning the hole and gaining a 2-up margin.

The cards:

Par	444	344	435—35
Jung	444	354	445—37
Larson	444	363	635—39
Jung	444	354	435—37
Larson	543	363	446—38

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

Trail's End

The Thieves came to the end of the 1953 baseball trail on Sunday night, losing a "shaggy" finals game to the Crookston Pirates by a 23 to 11 score. The score is reminiscent of football, and from the manner in which the players of the two teams were booting the ball it appeared that they were playing ball with a football.

We have a couple of gripes to express about the conduct of the Red River Valley league playoffs, and while they won't change the outcome of the tourney, they'll act as a soothing ointment for our wounded pride. First, with Red Lake Falls and Crookston both having lighted fields, it should not have been necessary to play a double-header on Sunday.

The Thieves vs. Alvarado game, played on Sunday afternoon, was a weakening affair on both teams, and the winner of that game was at a handicap against a "fresh" Crookston club that night. Second, the Friday night game, in which the Thieves gained a 5 to 0 lead in six innings of play, was halted by a heavy rain-shower. The officials decided to call the game for thirty minutes, and at the end of that time the Thieves should have been declared the winners.

The two clubs waited another fifteen minutes and then resumed play on a "heavy" diamond. The playing field, of course, was the same for Crookston as it was for the Thieves, but it so happened that a number of plays required pitcher Phil LeGault to come off the mound to field slow rollers. Phil had difficulty in making those plays, committing one error and choosing the wrong option on a pair of fielder's choice attempts.

We'll stubbornly insist that Friday night's game, if the weather had remained favorable, would have been listed as a victory for the Thieves. With that win the locals would have been able to send righthander Gene Leslie against the finalists on Sunday night, with the odds in favor of the Thieves.

The Thieves turned in a creditable year anyway, and we'll agree with Frank LaFleur when he says, "They're still nice people."

Of course, we picked Alvarado to win the tournament, and the Farmers cooperated by coming in in third place. That third place finish is about par for us, though.

A Fighting Champion

While Phil LeGault was making a "fade out" in one sport—baseball—on Sunday, he was beginning to "bloom" in another—golf. Lefty Phil, participating in the annual Soo Line golf tourney, won the championship flight, defeating Plummer's Emil Larson in the finals, by a 1-up margin.

Phil stated this year marked his final as an active baseball player, and that from now on he is going to concentrate on golf. As the champion of the Soo Line's Winnipeg Division, Phil intends to be a "fighting" champion, and will accept all challenges. Phil is particularly interested in arranging a challenge match with Boomer Reed.

An Invitation

Prowler football coach Ralph Skjod has issued an invitation to all fans that they will be welcome to the high school football practice session on Friday night at Lincoln field. Coach Skjod stated that he intended to send the Prowler squad through some scrimmage drills and perhaps play a quarter or a half of a game.

Coach Skjod, and his assistants Dick Edlund and Swede Lund, have been sending the boys through two-a-day drills, holding morning and evening practice sessions.

Indications are that the Prowlers will have an adequate and versatile backfield, with Sid Vraa playing at quarterback, Lyle Guttu at left half, Bobby Helgeland at right half, and Dick Kruse and Ronnie Reese at fullback. Those boys have speed, shiftiness, drive, and toughness, and a love for football.

Losing such stand-out high school linemen as Rog Dorn and Billy Maruska, last season's co-captains, by graduation, the Prowler football mentors will have a task in getting capable replacements for those two redoubtable forwards.

Clay Birds

With the Minnesota upland game bird season scheduled to open on Saturday, Sept. 19th, it's not too early for the nimrods to get their shotguns and shooting eyes in condition. And the place for this conditioning process is at the trap shooting lay-out north of town.

Ole, Bill, Erling, and Frank have a goodly supply of fattened clay birds, guaranteed to shatter when hit with a charge of 7½'s and they'll arrange to have the trap set to send these birds out so that they look like dinner plates.

Don't forget that there will be a big trap shoot on Sept. 12th and 13th, and which will attract some of the northwest's top-ranking trap shots. The event, which is being billed as the local club's first annual International Trap Shoot, will be a "money" shoot, with $200 in added money to be awarded.

On Saturday night, Sept. 12th, a Sportsmen's banquet will be held at the Eagles Hall, sponsored by the Pennington County Sportsmen's Club, and which will feature a speech by Roger Dell, chief justice of the Minnesota supreme court.

Mrs. Robert Oden and daughters left Sunday evening for their home in Minneapolis after a visit with the Einar Barstad family, and with other relatives here.

State Civil Defense Maps Inquiry Bureau

Colonel E. B. Miller, state director of civil defense, announced today that arrangements have been completed with James E. Kidd, president of Federated Mutual Implement and Hardware Insurance Company in Owatonna, for the activation of a state inquiry bureau for civil defense.

In the event of an enemy attack occurring within the state, it will be necessary that factual information be furnished concerning the whereabouts of individuals. Civil defense anticipates thousands of inquiries originating from friends and relatives of people residing in the disaster area.

Immediately following any post-evacuation of any disaster area, the injured and evacuees will be registered and a copy of the registration forwarded to the state inquiry bureau in Owatonna. The entire staff of the "Federated Mutual" will convert from their normal business to a civil defense emergency operation. Here inquiries will be received from all parts of the state and checked against the registration cards. Information regarding persons listed will be promptly returned to the inquirer.

New School Bus Law Takes Effect

Cars Must Stop Behind Buses While Unloading

With another school year opening for thousands of Minnesota youngsters, Earl M. Larimer, chief of the state highway patrol, today reminded motorists of several changes in the law pertaining to school buses made by the recent legislature and which go into effect today.

Motorists are now required to stop whenever a school bus has stopped, extended the signal arm and displayed red flashing signals on any street or highway, regardless if within a municipality or not. The previous law did not require stops by motorists for buses halted to load or discharge pupils within built-up areas.

The new regulation, however, does not require school bus drivers to extend the signal arm or display the flashing signals when stopping on streets having a curb or sidewalk in special loading areas. Motorists, nonetheless, must exercise added caution when meeting or overtaking a school bus in these locations because there is an ever-present danger of a child dashing across the street to or from the bus.

R. L. Falls Group Sells 2 Elevators to Farmers Union

Stockholders of the Red Lake Falls Co-operative Elevator association at a special meeting held recently voted to sell their properties in Red Lake Falls and at Dorothy to the Grain Terminal Association of St. Paul, a Farmers Union co-operative operating a line of grain elevators throughout the Northwest.

The purchase price is understood to be $20,000.

The association was started in 1938 with a capital of $30,000. Later this was raised to $200,000. Jos. Baril was the first manager and was succeeded by C. F. McDonald who retired in 1950. Since that time Jos. Pastir has been manager. Archie Marcott is manager of the Dorothy elevator.

J. JEFFERSON MILLER of Pikesville, Md., a suburb of Baltimore, caught a ten and one-half pound rainbow trout in Jasper National Park in August; the largest rainbow caught in the waters of North America's largest national park since 1941. Trolling, it took Miller forty-two minutes to land the twenty-eight and one-half inch fish. Miller used a glass casting rod with a ten-pound leader.

Yule Seal Meeting Set at Crookston

Workers from 4 Counties to Meet September 16th

How many Pennington county people are infected with tuberculosis germs?

The number of persons who are potential TB cases is one problem which will be discussed when Christmas Seal workers from four counties meet Wednesday evening, Sept. 16 at Sidney's Cafe in Crookston.

Christmas Seal volunteers and others actively interested in TB and health programs are being invited to the 6 o'clock dinner meeting, according to Dr. Baldwin Borreson, superintendent of Oakland Park sanatorium and president of the Pennington County Tuberculosis and Health association. Counties included are Polk, Norman, Pennington and Red Lake.

Mrs. M. O. Oppegaard of Crookston, secretary of the Polk County TB association, is making arrangements.

Representatives from the state Christmas Seal organization will discribe county-wide tuberculin testing programs conducted in two Minnesota counties to find out how many persons have germs of tuberculosis in their bodies. Those found to be infected were chest x-rayed to make sure the germs are not causing any trouble, it is explained.

Also up for discussion will be plans for the 1953 Christmas Seal sale to raise funds for fighting tuberculosis.

Child Evangelist at Local Church

Miss Genevieve Erickson, who will return soon to direct child evangelism fellowship work at Faribault, will speak in next Sunday evening's service at 7:45 in the Mission Covenant church. Miss Erickson returned here late last week from Pacific Palisades, Calif., where she graduated from a special course in child evangelism work. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Erickson of this city.

WATER COSTS MORE TOO

City water is costing consumers more than it did a year ago but not enough more to make the city's water dispensary a paying operation. Not sufficient experience has been obtained under the new rates to justify more than a guess as to what the results will be at the end of the year but city clerk Pederson thinks the receipts from this source will go from a 1951 total of about $36,000 to a 1953 figure of $50,000 which, he states, may still be short of meeting actual operating costs.

In addition therefore to what we are paying for water as consumers we will have to pay such items as debt service and depreciation from other sources of revenue. Based on our half million dollar investment in the new filtration plant alone that item of debt service is a big figure, and we still have several costly improvements ahead of us before we can say our water system is in good condition.

The cost of providing good water and delivering it to the consumer is up, as all other costs are up. Compared to the price rise on other necessities however we still are buying water at bargain rates. But we have good water, and that is the important thing.

POLICE BACK-TO-SCHOOL

Next week it's back-to-school for the school kids. This week, at the auditorium, it's back-to-school for the police and other peace officers of the area.

These schools and "fresher" courses for our law enforcement officials have been held throut the state over a period of many years. This year, for the first time, they are being conducted as an extension course offered by the University of Minnesota and officers completing the course will receive University credits as well as the certificates issued by the federal bureau of investigation under whose direction the schools are conducted.

This is a significant development in the general concept of peace-officer training. It recognizes the need for a more scientific approach to the problems of law enforcement, placing greater emphasis on crime prevention along with an understanding of new methods of criminal apprehension.

Modern methods of communication are bringing about important changes in the field of apprehension. In a few weeks Minnesota will have a state-wide radio communication system that will make it possible to alert our state law enforcement officials in a matter of minutes. Similar communication facilities are being provided for police and public safety officials at the local level. With these improved facilities it will be possible to direct the activities of all police as a coordinated unit in any emergency.

These changes increase the need for better training of individual officers as well as some reorganization of present units and general administration. And so the back-to-school for our coppers becomes increasingly important.

And so we are glad to welcome back to our community the man who has conducted these schools over a period of many years. This year for the first time we can welcome him as professor Sam Hardy of the University of Minnesota as well as Special Agent Hardy of the FBI. As the agent of the federal bureau of investigation in charge of police training in Minnesota and the two Dakotas, and with a long record of distinguished police service to his credit, Sam Hardy conducts a good school. He speaks as an authority in his chosen profession.

THE END IS NOT IN SIGHT

In the mail this week was our copy of the Conservation Volunteer, the official bulletin of the Minnesota department of conservation. Along with other interesting information was the official record of the number of licenses issued over a period of many years for hunting and trapping, along with estimates on the number of birds and animals taken by the hunters and trappers each year.

These figures are staggering. Last year was not good compared to other recent hunting years, but in that off year the number of deer killed was estimated at 57,837, ducks at 1,874,720, and ruffed grouse at 1,246,563. The guess on pheasants was 1,071,849.

With the exception of 1950 there was an open season on deer each of the ten years preceding 1952, and during these years the largest number of hunters on record brought in the largest number of deer ever killed in our state. By old standards the results seem to have been uniformly good during these years and in terms of the year-in-and-year-out take it doesn't seem to have made much difference whether the seasons lasted five days or eleven.

Whether it's birds or animals, hunting seems to be a relatively unimportant factor in the problem of preserving species of game. Some of the species that have been protected for years appear to have more difficulty in surviving than others that are killed off in large numbers season after season.

Because of the steadily increasing number of hunters there is no justification for the hope that we will ever get back to the good old days of no limits. But, on the encouraging side, there seems to be little reason to fear that we are approaching a time when there will be no hunting in Minnesota. We are doing a better job of regulating and propagating and protecting and in spite of the increased hunting the overall condition is not worsening. The records showing the ups and downs and the cycles of several decades are encouraging.

FARMING THE BOG

East of the Gully road and south of the improved channel of the Clearwater river is a field of flax that is of more than passing interest. It is interesting because it is an unusually large field for this area all in one crop. It is important because the crop is growing on a peat bog that has been under water for years, on land that was drained by the deepening and straightening of the Clearwater river channel.

This crop of flax is especially important because it serves as an experiment that may prove valuable as a guide to the conversion of other peat bogs in this area to crop uses. A one year record of this kind will be of little value as an experiment. This year's results may be good or bad. But this one year of experience, if it is the first of many years of experiment in which records are kept on procedure, weather and production, could be of immeasurable value to the area and to the state. The experiment, on this basis, should be encouraged.

QUESTIONS answered for VETERANS

THE VETERAN ASKS:

(This service is based on questions asked at Veterans Administration offices in the State. Answers are supplied by VA.)

Q: I'm a Korean veteran with a service connected disability and I'm thinking of taking out a term GI insurance policy. May I convert this policy later to a permanent plan of GI insurance?

A: There are two types of term policies available to post-Korea veterans. One is primarily for the non-disabled and is not convertible. The other is only for the disabled and is convertable. If you get the latter, you may convert it to a permanent plan later.

Q: I am still in the Army and covered by the free $10,000 protection against death. If I should die under this protection, I'm told the money would have to be paid to my brother who is my sole living kin. What I want to know is if I take out GI insurance after my discharge, will I have to name my brother as beneficiary?

A: No. Under your post-service GI insurance policy, you may name any person or persons, firm, corporation, or your estate as the beneficiary or beneficiaries.

Q: I have a GI insurance policy and I have named my wife as beneficiary to receive the money in a lump sum upon my death. Will she be bound by that condition or may she choose to receive the money in monthly installments?

A: She will have the choice of accepting the money in a lump sum or of receiving it on a monthly installment basis under any one of three different installment options.

Q: I used to be a bookkeeper before I entered service. I've just been released, and I want to take a course in bookkeeping under the Korean GI Bill, to brush up on the subject. Will I be allowed to do so?

A: No. The law prohibits veterans from studying for objectives for which they already are qualified. And you are qualified for the objective of bookkeeper, because of your past experience. But you would be permitted to train for an advanced objective you haven't already reached, such as that of accountant.

Q: I had a permanent National Service Life Insurance policy which I surrendered for cash when I went back on active duty. Now that I've been separated, would it be possible for me to reinstate that same policy as of the original date?

A: Yes. It may be reinstated at the original age and effective date, and without medical examination, upon payment of the required reserve and the current premium. But you must apply in writing within 120 days after your separation from service.

Q: I'm a disabled World War II veteran and I've delayed entering training under Public Law 16 until now. How much training will I be allowed to get?

A: You may train for as long as is necessary to restore your ability to earn a living at the objective you've selected. However, the course you take must be completed by July 25, 1956, the legal ending date of the Public Law 16 program.

Q: What papers will I need, in order to apply for a certificate of eligibility for a GI home loan? And where do I apply?

A: You'll need your original discharge or separation papers. The place to apply is your nearest VA regional office.

Approach Taking Shape

Minnesota's Capitol Approach plan is beginning to take shape. Several sections, where the improvement program is complete have been turned over to the Capitol custodians, and work is advancing on other parts of the program. First contracts on the Veterans Service Building have been let, and construction work is proceeding. Altogether 25 acres will have been added to the present Capitol grounds of 15 acres when work on the improvement is completed late next year or early in 1955. The other day, as I looked out of my office window, I could see men engaged in construction, others working on grounds improvement and one group cutting grass like a crew of haymakers in the country.

Clearing and improving of the area approaching the Capitol is going to do a lot, it is apparent, to enhance the appearance of our beautiful Capitol building. The plan follows somewhat that proposed many years ago by Cass Gilbert, the architect of the Capitol, though on a smaller scale. If you are coming to St. Paul, I suggest that you drive past the Capitol and see how the new program is developing.

Note to Parents

I have something which ought to be brought to the attention of parents.

Men and women come from many parts of the country to visit our beautiful Capitol building. Adults and school children alike come to see the pictures and statues and the beautiful rooms and assembly halls in which our government carries on its work. In few cities can one see such statues as Daniel Chester French carved to represent the six virtues that support the progress of the state and, above, that gilded group of the quadriga, symbolizing the triumph of government and prosperity, which stands there in magnificence just below the dome. French, one of the world's great sculptures, and Edward C. Potter, a noted sculptor of animals, did the work.

We can see here, if we but lift our eyes, sculpture from the hands of men who have been widely acclaimed. It was Daniel Chester French who chiseled from stone the seated figure of Abraham Lincoln for the Lincoln Memorial in Washington.

Shortcoming

But, while many come to marvel at the beautiful statues in Minnesota's Capitol, not all visitors are moved to reverence. Fred Denfield, our custodian of public properties, gave me a distressing report:

> "We used to allow small groups of boys and girls to go to the roof to get a closer view of the beautiful figures there. We found soon that some of the youngsters were cutting their initials in the metal figures of the horses. We modified the plan so that boys and girls could go to the roof only when accompanied by their parents. Even this has not stopped the vandalism. I guess that we will have to stop all access to the area. Some of the marks scratched into the metal surfaces cannot be removed."

I want to appeal to parents to take pains to build up respect for the buildings which the people have provided. I am pleased to see that many parents bring their children to the Capitol and show them the pictures and other objects of interest. It is always a great thrill for me to see the big throngs of school children which visit the Capitol. You can see a respect for the Capitol and the beautiful pictures and statues developing in them. Only a small number fail to acquire a proper respect for our public buildings and the treasures they shelter. I think that parents can do a lot to correct this shortcoming.

Going Shopping

Mrs. Smith had a lot of shopping to do. Three year old Ann at her side made it harder, but certain things simply had to get done that morning. In the dime store, Ann kept seeing things she wanted, and when her mother pulled her past them, Ann started to cry.

Mrs. Smith, her thoughts intent on the list of things to be done, said hastily, "If you'll stop crying, I'll get you an ice cream cone." Ann stopped crying, with the ice cream cone to look forward to, and her mother became absorbed in the shopping list again and forgot all about the cone. When they started rushing home, Ann was ready to throw a real scene—the disappointment of the broken promise, the no-ice-cream cone, plus fatigue, plus being truly hungry, plus the frustation of having been rushed around all morning.

"But," says Mrs. Smith, "I can't put her needs first all the time; I can't get a baby sitter every time I need to go down town." True enough—but there are many way to compromise, if a little time is spent in planning.

For a long shopping tour, the ideal solution would be for Ann to stay home. Trading off with neighbors is a good solution for many parents, by means of which each mother can have a peaceful and satisfactory trip downtown. If, however, mother must go, and Ann must go, at the very least, mother can plan to centralize the shopping as much as possible so that the three-year-old legs won't be subjected to the shopping marathon that leaves even the adult weary.

A second possibility is to make two trips instead of one, again centralizing the stops. Two shorter trips that are fun are a better policy than one long one that leaves everyone out of sorts. Another possibility is to break the shopping, turning it into two shorter periods instead of one longer one. An hour of shopping, and then a "rest" for lunch, and another forty minutes in the stores will work out better than trying to get everything done and then have lunch.

Perhaps, if Ann is adaptable on rest periods, a rest before lunch at home would put her in better shape for an afternoon at shopping. Taking a few minutes during the trip to devote to Ann's interests will help, too; it might be a visit to the toy department, or choosing something she needs to wear. The main point is to plan around the child, rather than expecting the impossible of her.

Three out of four traffic accidents happen in clear weather on dry roads.

Poultry Feed Economy

Looking for a simple, economical way to feed your pullets?

Out now is a report from Iowa State College showing that the biggest saving and profit per hen comes to the man who feeds his birds by the cafeteria method, using a high-protein balancer instead of a supplement containing 18 to 20%.

The report is for laying flocks but the same thing applies to range pullets—perhaps with an even greater prospect for economy.

The Iowa Extension Service ran their tests with 39 demonstration flocks, and found that the flocks fed the high-protein balancer returned the highest profit per hen ($1.72) at the lowest total feed cost (3.3c per lb.). This record was achieved with flocks fed by the cafeteria method.

Other profit records were as follows:

. . . Flocks self-fed 18-20% supplement made a profit of $1.67 per bird.

. . . Flocks hand-fed 26% balancer made a profit of $1.52 per bird.

. . . Flocks hand-fed 18-20% supplement made a profit of $1.07 per bird.

None of this is surprising to poultry raisers who have fed Archer 26% Poultry Balancer to their birds. For any farmer with ample grain on hand, we definitely recommend the Archer Poultry Balancer feeding plan as the most economical to follow for both range pullets and laying hens.

What's more, your savings in out-of-pocket cash are even greater than the figures above would indicate. This is because you can get maximum growth out of your pullets by feeding only one part of Archer Poultry Balancer to every three or four parts of grain. It takes only about 25 cents worth of Archer Poultry Balancer to feed one pullet for the entire range season. Can you beat that for economy?

State Radio Network for Highway Patrol Now Being Installed

First link in the Minnesota highway patrol's long-planned statewide radio network goes on the air this week, Earl M. Larimer, chief patrol officer, said Wednesday.

Construction crews are winding up work this week on a 300-foot tower and transmitter station five miles east of Rochester. Installation of radio equipment will be completed within a few days.

Sixteen more towers will be put up around the state this summer as quickly as crews can do the job, Larimer said. Construction time is about 10 days. Steel, which delayed the installations for several years, has been delivered now.

Larimer said main users of the network will be the highway patrol and wardens of the game and fish division. The state bureau of criminal apprehension wants to tie in, too, when it can get money for equipment.

Two airplanes of the state aeronautics department also get emergency service on the patrol frequency. In exchange for that service, the planes may be used as air spotters in highway chases.

Total cost of the network, complete with mobile units, towers and radio equipment, was about $700,000. The money came from earmarked funds of the highway department and game and fish division.

For the first time, Larimer said, patrolmen will have statewide two-way radio communications.

Patrol cars in outlying districts never have had radio contact because only two stations have been on the air—the central station on highway 100 in St. Paul and another one operated by the crime bureau with highway equipment at Redwood Falls. The latter will go off the air when a control tower is built at nearby Marshall.

The Rochester and Marshall stations are two of six control points which will have two functions—picking up and relaying the signal from St. Paul and picking up the weaker signals of the mobile units in patrol and warden cars and relaying them to St. Paul.

The other four control points will be at Brainerd, Thief River Falls, Virginia and St. Paul — the central station. Work of setting up the tower in Thief River Falls started last Wednesday.

Eleven relay towers will pick up and send along the mobile unit signals, whose maximum range is from 50 to 60 miles. Range of the control point installations is from 100 to 110 miles.

One of the 11—which, because of low land traversed by highway 61 from Red Wing to Winona, will be located on "foreign" soil at Alma, Wis.—also will pick up and relay the central station signal.

The other 10 towers will be located near Janesville, Windom, Kimball, Hoffman, Woodland, Walker, Hawley, Roosevelt, Littlefork and, on the north shore of Lake Superior, Palisade Head.

Each of the towers will go into operation as it is completed.

Larimer said he has been working toward a statewide patrol network since 1951. Legislative approval for expenditure of the funds came in 1945.

Thirty-two technical workers are being hired to work at the six control points.

Lawyers to Study Estate Planning in Minneapolis

More than 1,000 lawyers from all parts of the state will "go back to school" October 16 and 17 when they attend an institute on estate planning to be sponsored by the Minnesota State Bar Association.

The two-day session will be held at the Radisson Hotel, Minneapolis. It will be the fourth annual autumn institute to be given by the State Bar Association on topics currently important to practicing lawyers.

Experts on estate planning are being secured as speakers for the institute, the State Bar Association said today.

Minnesota Ranks Second in Take of Fur Animals

Minnesota ranks second in the United States in the taking of fur bearing animals during the 1950-51 season, according to a report issued by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service. Minnesota had a total of 1,125,146 furs taken compared with top-place Louisiana's 1,299,482. Michigan was third with 920,080, and Illinois fourth with 732,792. The figures were based on annual reports of fur dealers only and do not include furs shipped out of state.

Regional meetings of the welfare conference are held each fall in the ten regions throughout the state. Region III is composed of Becker, Clay, Kittson, Mahnomen, Marshall, Norman, Pennington, Polk, Red Lake and Roseau counties.

The major purpose of the meetings is to give the general public an opportunity to become better acquainted with welfare problems and welfare legislation as it affects the community. Meetings are open to the public.

Confiscated Gun Sale Scheduled in St. Paul Sept. 12

Confiscated sporting equipment consisting of hunting guns and fishing tackle will be sold at public auction Saturday, September 12, 1953, at the American House, 444 Rice Street, St. Paul.

Starting at 10:00 a. m., the conservation department will place on sale approximately 250 repeating, automatic, over and under, double barreled and single-barreled shotguns; large and small calibre rifles and about 50 fishing rods, reels and other equipment.

The tackle and firearms seized by game wardens from law violators the past season will be auctioned by David Levine, St. Paul auctioneer, on a strictly cash basis. No personal checks will be accepted and all sales will be final. A rigid policy of "no favoritism" will prevail as every item will be sold to the highest bidder. Former owners will have the same opportunity as others in bidding on the equipment, Lois Sternaman, in charge of the sale, said.

IRON MAN and WOODEN PIPE

A NEW USE FOR AN OLD IDEA is this pipeline made of redwood. The tar-coated pipe, here being examined by Arthur Barto, is used at an experimental taconite plant near Mountain Iron to carry off the sandy waste after the iron particles have been removed. The wood actually stands up better than other types of pipe under the constant abrasion of sharp sand particles. Taconite processing, the newest of major Minnesota industries, is bringing great changes to the iron ranges—and creating an ore supply for the future. But taconite and low-grade ore processing is costly, and these once-worthless ores must compete with ores from other areas. They can do so only if our iron mining industry is treated as fairly as other Minnesota industries.

Has your engine lost its new car pep? Re-power with...

The Greatest Gasoline Development in 31 Years

TCP, a Shell discovered additive now blended into Shell Premium Gasoline, actually re-powers your engine—by stopping short-circuiting of spark plugs and controlling pre-ignition. Gives up to 15% more power . . . increases spark plug life up to 150% . . . gives extra mileage, too*

The reason the majority of engines lose their new car power—often in a few thousand miles—is now known.

Today's driving—often at low speeds in traffic and around town—increases the amount of engine deposits on spark plugs and in combustion chambers. These engine deposits do two kinds of harm. First, they short-circuit spark plugs—causing misfiring. Second, because they get red hot in the combustion chambers, they often cause the fuel-air mixture to ignite prematurely—this is called pre-ignition or "wild ping." The effect of short-circuited spark plugs plus pre-ignition is lost power and wasted gasoline. This loss of power is especially noticeable when accelerating, hill climbing, or on the open highway.

But now there's a way to get rid of this power and fuel waste—quickly!

It's TCP additive, discovered by Shell Research. Now blended into Shell Premium Gasoline, it actually stops the short-circuiting effects of the deposits on the spark plugs. And, because it also keeps engine deposits in the combustion chamber from getting too hot—"fireproofs" them—TCP additive stops the pre-ignition "wild ping" caused by engine deposits.

And, the result for the average motorist is a net gain of up to 15% more power, up to 150% longer spark plug life as well as increased gasoline mileage!

Not since the introduction of tetraethyl lead in 1922 has there been such an important development in gasoline.

All engines are helped!

Because these engine deposits accumulate in all engines—both old and new—you need Shell Premium Gasoline with TCP additive to keep your engine delivering the full power built into it by the manufacturer. Even if your car has gone 30,000 miles or more, your engine can get back much of its original power if you use Shell Premium with TCP additive.

Shell Premium with TCP quick to act

So rapidly does Shell Premium increase your power you'll feel your engine's had a tune-up before you've finished the second tankful. Of course, these engine deposits are constantly accumulating, and continued use of Shell Premium with TCP additive is essential to retain its benefits.

Available only at your Shell Dealer's

TCP is Shell's trademark for the remarkable additive now available in Shell Premium Gasoline. Originally developed by Shell Research for aviation fuels, until now it has been largely restricted to military aircraft.

Now at all Shell Dealer Stations.

Not All Vacations 'Happy'

The time is rolling around when 75 million Americans pack up the wife, kids and sunburn lotion and head for "distant scenes," according to a national trade magazine. But, the happy, carefree vacation most people envision may be marred suddenly by illness or accident.

Recent figures show that approximately 1 out of 7 Minnesotans are hospitalized each year, many of them while traveling. Drive safely, play safely, make your vacation a "happy" trip, not a "hospital" trip.

Last year, 7,280 Minnesotans who needed medical and hospital care when traveling out-of-state, received over one-half million dollars in benefits through Blue Cross-Blue Shield.

Minnesota Blue Cross has a national agreement with over 5,800 Blue Cross hospitals in the United States. If you require doctor's care while away from home, you are entitled to full Blue Shield contract benefits. Blue Cross and Blue Shield protection is extended to you and your family the year 'round, at home or away.

Complete, free information on the Blue Cross $25 Deductible plan and the Blue Shield medical care plan may be obtained by writing directly to Blue Cross-Blue Shield, Dept. WP-4, 2610 University Ave., St. Paul 14, Minnesota. A postcard will do.

STANDARD SCIENTISTS BEAT VAPOR LOCK ON BLISTERING MOJAVE DESERT

NO VAPOR LOCK!

In summer some gasolines actually "boil." Your engine chokes, sputters, goes dead. You're a victim of vapor lock. But not if you use Standard Gasolines. On the hot Mojave Desert, Standard scientists tested hundreds of blends of gasolines. They studied the cause—certain extra-light molecules. And they found the cure—remove them from summer gasoline and save them for fast-starting winter gas. From these tests come Standard's great no-vapor-lock summer gasolines.

Standard gasolines have been tested under torrid desert conditions to assure you trouble-free summer performance. Only Standard says, "NOW—no vapor lock!" No vapor lock . . . on top of octane ratings that match your car's requirements...on top of catalytically-cracked gasolines perfectly blended and balanced to give you the best possible combination of pick-up, power and mileage. And wherever you drive in the Midwest, you'll find the same improved and guarded quality. You'll find, too, the famous SERVICE that car owners describe as the finest treatment they get anywhere. Try STANDARD WHITE CROWN Premium or STANDARD RED CROWN Gasoline. Your first hot-day drive will prove that YOU CAN EXPECT MORE FROM STANDARD . . . AND GET IT!

ORE SHIPPING RECORDS FALL

Up to July 1 all known lake ore-shipping records had succumbed to the 1953 total of 36,058,371 tons. June was fourth highest month in history. Coal and grain shipments were rubbing records so close that the over-all total of 63,874,143 lake tons broke by more than 4 million the 1949 all-time-high record. By the same token, the Sault St. Marie lock tonnage is the highest it has ever been. About 85% of all ore shipped on the lakes goes through these locks.

In the eastern half of the U. S. Illinois leads the states with the highest reserves of bituminous coal—more than 168 billion tons.

All-out Support Asked for Child Safety Month

Designation of September as "Child Safety Month" calls for action by every Minnesota citizen to prevent accident or injury to our children, according to Arthur V. Rohweder, president of the Minnesota Safety Council.

"If every organization in the state," he said, "would devote as little as 15 minutes during one of its meetings this month to a discussion of child safety, I am certain that it would pay big dividends in helping to reduce the tragic accidents which involve our youngsters."

The opening of school exposes children to new dangers, both on their way to classes and after school hours during periods of recreation. A study of local hazards by civic, church and other groups, followed by a program to reduce or minimize them, will pay lasting dididends in preventing accidents to the children of the community, according to Roweder.

Fertilization of Fields in Fall Has Favorable Effect

Improves Crop Yields as Much as Doing Work in Spring, Says Mitteness

Crop yields from fall fertilization compare well with spring fertilization, County Agent Ray Mitteness reports.

He bases his statement on the successful experience of farmers throughout the state and upon a series of experiments conducted by soil scientists at the University of Minnesota.

In these experiments, the fertilizer treatments included phosphate alone, phosphate and potash, and a complete fertilizer of nitrogen, phosphate and potash. Similar applications were made both in the spring and the fall. Most of the experiments were conducted in southeastern Minnesota.

Yields of corn, oats and hay were almost the same for all the different fertilizers whether they were applied in spring or fall, according to J. M. MacGregor and Clifton Halsey, soil scientists who conducted the experiment.

Their findings have been substantiated by series of experiments conducted by the Iowa Agricultural Experiment Station.

Hill or band placement of the fertilizer is more efficient than broadcast applications for corn. Consequently, fall fertilizer applications for succeeding corn crop should be considered only when a farmer wishes to apply fertilizer more heavily than the capacity of the planter attachment, approximately 200 pounds per acre.

"DO IT YOURSELF" DECADE

America is rapidly becoming a nation of spare-time and week-end experts, to the extent that this is being labeled the "Do it yourself" decade. High labor costs, short work-weeks, improvement in tools and gadgets, and universal employment account for sales of tools, equipment, and supplies to week-end handymen and hobbyists in excess of $4 billion a year. 75% of the painting is done by amateurs using rollers almost exclusively. 60% of wallpapering is now in the hands of the proverbial one-armed amateurs, more than 50% of all tool sales are to amateurs, small power tool sales have zoomed in six years from 6 million to $80 million — there are more than 11,000,000 home workshops in America.

"Victory is sweeter when competition's tough..."
That's a lesson which farm boys and girls are learning in the judging rings of county and state fairs.
Any member of the Future Farmers of America or 4-H Clubs will tell you that a Blue Ribbon means work when the judging is close.
Competition teaches another lesson . . . you've got to work harder, do better than anyone else, if you're going to come out on top.
That's the nature of competition in business, too. Cooperatives are an important part of this competition between businesses which results in better service, and improved quality of goods and services, benefiting all of us.

Hamm's the beer from the land of sky blue waters

In just the past two years Hamm's Beer has won over a million brand new friends. What attracted all these folks? They tell us it was Hamm's special kind of crisp, clean-cut taste, with smoothness "aged-In." It's an unusually refreshing flavor which we have captured here in the land of sky blue waters. Won't you be curious? Just once, try Hamm's Beer.
P. S. Thank you! Your calls for Hamm's have made it the favorite of them all in the Upper Midwest.
